ORDER 25% GAS RATION CUT TO BEGIN MONDAY

OPA Trims Coupon Value to 3 Gallons.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—The slash from four to three gallons in A, B, and C gasoline coupons in 21 middle and southwestern states, effective at midnight Sunday, was officially announced tonight by the office of price administration, acting on orders from Petroleum Administrator for War Harold L. Ickes.

At the same time, Acting OPA Administrator Chester Bowles announced that no immediate increase in rations will be made for motorists along the eastern seaboard and that the eastern pleasure driving ban will remain in force for the present. Bowles said, however, that OPA hopes to lift the ban by Sept. 1 and to boost eastern rations, which are still lower than the new ones in the middle west.

Cut Blamed on Ickes' Action.

Bowles said the cut in gasoline allotments in the central states was made necessary by a reduction by Ickes of 15 per cent in the allocations of gasoline in the area. Ickes asserted the reduction was made because of increasing military demands for gasoline and because it is now possible to transport more gasoline to the eastern seaboard.

States affected by the curtailment are:

Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and North Dakota, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, New Mexico, and that part of West Virginia outside the east coast shortage area.

The new ration order for middle western motorists was disclosed by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE yesterday. Details of the plan, as announced today, in addition to the 25 per cent cut in coupon values, include:

1. The maximum allotment of gasoline for course-of-work driving is reduced from 720 to 480 miles a month, except for preferred motorists, such as doctors and ministers, who are still entitled to C cards. The reduction affects chiefly salesmen and others who use their cars in their work. It does not reduce the permitted mileage needed by war workers for driving from home to work.

Cyclists Affected.

2. Motorcyclists will have their D rations cut in proportion to the slash in passenger car rations. This will be done by requiring that present rations, originally issued for one year, be used thru Nov. 11, 1944, instead of July 21, 1944.

3. The amount of nonoccupational driving permitted A card holders is raised from 1½ to 2 gallons for each A coupon. For those who use A rations for occupational driving this means 120 miles a month of family driving instead of the previous 90 miles.

OPA officials said B and C card holders who cannot meet their necessary driving needs under the 25 per cent slash may apply for supplemental allotments.

Motorman's Collapse Lets Car Run Wild

Two persons were killed and 14 others were injured last night when a street car, running wild with its motorman collapsed over the control box from a heart attack, smashed at fast speed into the rear end of a standing street car.

The accident occurred at the busy triple intersection of Lincoln and Fullerton avenues and Halsted street. More than 100 persons saw the crash.

The dead were Clyde V. Malbone, 40 years old, 2035 Burling street, a motorman off duty, and Charles A. Franden, 64, of 5725 North Talman avenue, a broommaker. Both were on the front platform of the rear car. The injured were taken to St. Joseph's, Augustana, and Illinois Masonic hospitals.

Passenger Tells Story.

A victim of the collision and the unwitting cause of the accident was Fred J. Wischweh, 52, of 952 Montana street, the motorman who collapsed at the controls. He suffered a double fracture of the left leg. His car was operating southeastward in Lincoln avenue, just behind another car.

George Weig, 19, of 4729 North Maplewood avenue, a passenger, who stood at Wischweh's side until a second before the crash, gave police an account of the accident.

"We had picked up several street car men, including Malbone, at the Lincoln-Wrightwood car barns," said Weig. "As we reached Diversey boulevard, Wischweh, the motorman, complained of being sick. He called his conductor—Wyle Koontz, 63, of 920 Schubert street—and told him he was sick. But after a minute, he said he was feeling all right, and went on.

Fail Releases Brakes.

"As we neared Fullerton, the car ahead of us had stopped, and our motorman started to apply his brakes. We were going maybe 20 miles an hour. Just as he touched the brakes—maybe a half block from Fullerton—the motorman got sick again.

"He tried hard to keep the brakes on, but he fell over the control box, and released the brakes.

The front platform of the second car and the rear platform of the first were crushed. The second car carried 25 passengers. It was on this car that the two deaths and dozen injuries occurred. Alertness of passengers waiting for street cars saved Joseph Swartz Jr., 26, of 2650 South Trumbull avenue, conductor, and an unidentified passenger, from probable injury on the first car. They called to Swartz as the second car bore down, and he leaped just in time, also pushing a passenger off the platform with him.

Girl, 7, Among Injured.

Following is a list of the injured, all of whom were on the rear streetcar and most of whom suffered only bruises: Mrs. Helen Lohmann and her daughter, Betty, 11, of 1144 Schubert street; oseph Pantano and his daughter, Elsie, 7, of 2250 Wayne avenue; Mrs. A. Mundstock, 2049 Lincoln avenue; Giuseppe Mineo, 2346 Clifton avenue; Peter Scardino, 1006 Cleveland avenue; Alex Smith, 2052 North Whipple street; Mrs. Christian Henderson, Negress, 3058 Michigan avenue; Mrs. Mary Allen, 1515 Jackson boulevard, young Weig, the witness, and Koontz, the conductor of Wischweh's car.

Carol McArdle, 1555 North La Salle street, a pedestrian, was cut by flying glass.

BOMBS RAZE JAP SALAMAUA BASE

Allies Pound Airdrome with 177 Tons.

ALLIED HDQ. IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 14 [Saturday]—(AP).—Japan's menaced air base at Salamaua, New Guinea, has been laid in ruins and its key portion, built on an isthmus, "has virtually ceased to exist" as the result of a 177 ton bombardment by allied planes, Gen. MacArthur announced today.

Among the targets was the Salamaua airdrome, possession of which would put the allies within easy fighter plane range of New Britain Island, site of numerous Japanese air bases.

Announcement of the aerial thrust was coupled with a new advance of a mile on Friday at the other end of the 750 mile battle arc in the Pacific against the last Jap foothold on New Georgia Island at Bairoko harbor.

This advance occurred near Zieta village, which is roughly four miles from Bairoko harbor and about half way between the harbor's encircled enemy garrison and the Munda air base, which the Yanks won Aug. 5.

Heavy allied bombers destroyed or severely damaged 32 out of 42 Japanese bombers and fighters caught on the enemy's big airdrome at Kahili on Bougainville Island in the Solomons. In addition, the American fighter planes shot down 11 of 30 intercepting enemy fighters. Two allied fighters were lost.

Japanese planes struck back at the allies, attacking Darwin, Australia, and the allied held island of Kiriwina off northeast New Guinea. Both raids were called unsuccessful.

Italian Throngs Cry to Pope for Peace After Raid on Rome

AT THE SWISS-ITALIAN FRONTIER, Aug. 13 (AP).—Thousands of Italians clustered around Pope Pius XII. today and shouted to him for peace when the pontiff visited the bombed areas of Rome after the second American air attack, it was learned here tonight.

Other reports said residents of Milan—the target of an R. A. F. attack early this morning—had demonstrated later against the government of Marshal Pietro Badoglio and its failure to get out of the war. Turin also was bombed.

[A Reuters news agency report from Zurich said early today an alert had been sounded in western Switzerland, usually an indication that northern Italy is being bombed. A London radio report said "details have been completed by the prefect of Milan for the evacuation" of the city following yesterday's raid.]

Yanks Drop Leaflets with Bombs.

The American air fleets which today made their second heavy raid on Rome showered leaflets along with explosives, reminding the Italians that the war continues even tho ex-Premier Benito Mussolini is gone, said the Swiss Telegraphic agency. It added that the leaflets called on the Italian people to help overthrow the Nazi tyranny.

Stefani, the Italian news agency, said in a Rome dispatch that the pope was the object of tumultuous manifestations both at Piazza Lodi and St. John Lateran church, where he knelt amidst great crowds for prayers.

When the alarm sounded in Rome the pontiff, who also is the bishop of Rome, was in conference with Cardinal Luigi Maglione, papal secretary of state. He prayed during the raid and then left the Vatican by automobile to visit the sections of the Italian capital that had been hit.

The Swiss agency said the attack was more important than the July 19 raid. It reported the central part of the city and the quarters of Tuscalano and Tiburtino were hard hit, and that the church of Our Lady of Loretto was reported badly damaged.

Great clouds of smoke rolled over the San Lorenzo quarter, four miles from Vatican City, a Rome dispatch said.

Offer Vatican as Raid Shelter.

LONDON, Aug. 14 [Saturday]—(AP).—The Vatican radio said today in a broadcast heard by the Daily Telegraph that residents of Rome had the permission of Pope Pius XII. to seek refuge in Vatican City during future night air raid alerts.

Reports Peace Bid

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 14 [Saturday]—(AP).—The Milan correspondent of the Zurich newspaper Die Tat, in a dispatch passed by the Italian censor, today said Rome is "seeking the possibility of an agreement for a separate peace thru the Vatican and Spain." This peace, he added, "should leave the door open to Germany." There was no explanation of this phrase. The situation in Italy, he added, is "most tragic."

Tours U. S. on Bootleg Gas

International Falls, Minn., Aug. 13 (AP).—Mark Miller of the Brownsville, Tex., Herald, who is working on a special assignment for a national magazine, arrived here this week after a 2,000 mile automobile trip during which, he said, he traveled entirely on "black market" gasoline.

On his border-to-border trip, Miller said he never bought a gallon of legal gasoline. In some states, he said, gasoline rationing was regarded with open contempt.

Coupons Nickel a Gallon.

Besides buying all the gasoline he needed for the trip without ever surrendering a single ration coupon, Miller said he acquired enough B, C, T, and E stamps to purchase 190 gallons. His car carried only an A sticker.

On the average, he said, sellers charged him 5 cents per gallon for coupons they sold him out of their stocks plus the cost of the gasoline but, he added, five out of six stations would refuse to do business with him.

Speeds at Will.

He made the Brownsville-International Falls trip in seven days and said that altho he, his wife, and daughter drove constantly at 40 miles an hour, 5 miles over the speed limit, they were never stopped.

Miller acquired enough gasoline coupons from his rationing board to make the trip. He said these would be returned.

REDS RIP THRU NAZI LINES ON CENTRAL FRONT

LONDON, Aug. 14 [Saturday]—(AP).—Russian troops smashed thru a 31 mile section of the central front yesterday to open a new offensive against Smolensk with gains up to 13 miles, while other soviet forces stormed to within a mile of tottering Kharkov and closed in on the middle key base of Bryansk, Moscow announced early today.

The new offensive, Russia's third major drive of the summer, was a two armed push from north and south of Spas Demenskoe, 85 miles southeast of Smolensk on an important rail line. In three days' fighting the soviet legions shattered the German lines in two gaps of 22 and nine miles and captured Spas Demenskoe and another town 73 miles from Smolensk.

More than 100 villages were captured in the breakthru. Other Russian troops are 60 miles from Smolensk on the north in the Velliki Luki area which they reached last winter.

Suburb Near Kharkov Falls.

In the south, Kharkov appeared to be a doomed city as plunging Russian columns captured Bolshaya-Danilovka, a mile to the northeast and the first suburb out of the great Ukraine industrial center on the Kharkov river.

In one sector of the seething Kharkov front 4,000 Germans were killed in three days, a soviet war bulletin said.

In addition to their advances from the northeast and southeast, Russian troops on the semi-circle strangling Kharkov were eight miles away on the north, 20 miles on the east, and less than 30 on the west. In yesterday's fighting the Reds advanced up to seven miles in the Kharkov area and captured more than 30 villages.

Close in on Bryansk.

Around Karachev, 28 miles east of Bryansk, the Russians seized more than 60 hamlets, including one only four miles east of Karachev.

Poltava, second only to Kharkov in importance as a Nazi base in the Ukraine, was menaced by Russians who captured Kolontaev, 30 miles north of Poltava. Here the Red army was 240 miles deep in the Ukraine from its eastermost limits.

Russian capture of Dmitrovsk-Orlovsky, 55 miles southwest of Orel, posed a threat to Sevsk, a German base which the Russians captured and lost last winter.

19 YEAR OLD GIRL IS REPORTED WED TO ERROL FLYNN

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 13 [Special].—A former cigar stand girl, Nora Eddington, pretty, red haired, and 19, was believed tonight to be the bride of Errol Flynn, film actor and sportsman, whose sensational trial for rape she attended last winter along with thousands of other feminine admirers.

The two were reported married early this week in Acapulco, Mexico. Flynn has been there for several days, reportedly resting. Miss Eddington flew to Mexico City last Saturday night with tickets provided by Flynn's agent.

"I have yet to meet the girl I'm going to marry," Flynn told questioners at Acapulco.

Friends said Miss Eddington, who worked at the cigar counter in the Los Angeles courthouse, met Flynn during his trial there but her mother said they met "before that awful trial." Mrs. Becky Eddington, a bakery manager, said she gave her daughter permission to go to Mexico.

Britain's Double Summer Time Will End Sunday

LONDON, Aug. 14 [Saturday]—(AP).—British double summer time will end on Sunday and, effective at 12:30 a. m. tomorrow, all clocks will be turned back one hour. Britain thus will be six hours ahead of Chicago war time, instead of seven. Since April British timepieces have been two hours in advance of Greenwich mean time. After Sunday they will be one hour ahead.

Hint Canada Pulls Troops Out of Sicily

BY ALAN RANDAL.

[Canadian Press Staff Writer.]
[Distributed by the Associated Press.]

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Canadians apparently are no longer fighting in Sicily and it is believed in London they are the subject of Canadian-British discussion now on how they should be used—as a complete Canadian army or broken up and integrated into British armies in future actions.

Col. J. L. Ralston.

Want Army Intact.

From what I have heard, Canadian authorities are desirous that their troops be used as a complete army.

In any event this is a tremendous question for the dominion which all along has believed it would be represented in the field by the Canadian army as a whole.

It is considered here that the raising of this question may have been the reason why Col. J. L. Ralston, Canadian defense minister, raced home after only a few days in Britain.

Not Mentioned in Reports.

While it has not been announced just what disposition has been made of the Canadian 1st division which made such a fine showing in the first few weeks of the Sicilian campaign, it is obvious it has not been in recent action as it has not been mentioned in official war reports for the last few days.

From Algiers, Louis V. Hunter, Canadian press war correspondent, has written that the Canadians are believed to be resting.

There is a feeling among Canadian army men who have recently participated in one exercise after another in Britain—many of them secret—that they will be used in an assault against Hitler's European fortress.

AUGUST HAS 6TH 90 DEGREE DAY; RELIEF ON WAY

Relief today from the hot spell that gripped Chicago last Sunday was promised last night by Forecaster H. L. Jacobson. The temperature reached 91 degrees at 5:50 p. m. It was the sixth day this month the temperature has exceeded 90. Jacobson said both heat and humidity would decrease during the night. He said this is the second hottest summer in 70 years, and that the average number of 90 degree days in August is only two.

STORM SICILY STRONG POINT FROM TWO SIDES

Cape Orlando Taken in Coastal Drive.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA., Aug. 13—Randazzo, the historic city of the kings of Lombardy and a pivotal road junction in what is considered the enemy's last important lateral road network in northeastern Sicily, fell today. Its capture collapsed the center of the shrinking axis line.

A special official headquarters announcement tonight disclosed that the Americans driving from the north and west had entered the mountain town 10 miles north of Mount Etna at 9:35 o'clock this morning [2:35 a. m. Chicago war time]. In the face of severe opposition by hard fighting German troops it had been a race between the Americans and the left flank of the British 8th Army which had pushed up from the south and entered Randazzo shortly after the Yanks.

Heavy Fighting in Offing.

The capture of Randazzo is of great strategic importance to the allied forces, but does not yet mean the island campaign is ended. Altho the Germans are now confined virtually to two roads running along the northern and eastern coasts to Messina, the nature of the terrain is such that a fierce and determined rear guard action is still possible.

But the enemy has lost the last important highway between the two coasts. The Yanks in two seaborne "leapfrog" attacks severed the northern end of the road at Cape Orlando, which also was captured this morning. They are now several miles beyond that point. Approximately 10 miles east of Randazzo is the last north and south road, a poor highway which allied artillery can bring under fire at any time. The German forces were retreating toward this road, which may be their next position.

Nazis Face Capture.

British troops advancing along the east coast, on the other side of Mount Etna, already were menacing the Taormina area and it appeared that large numbers of enemy troops were facing capture in the area. More than 130,000 axis troops already have been seized in the five weeks' old campaign.

The advancing American and British forces now have shortened the length of the fighting front to less than 30 miles. It swings down from the north to Mount Etna's slopes then starts again on the eastern side of the volcano and runs to the sea near Giarre.

German remnants falling back before the American coastal drive, which overwhelmed Cape Orlando and the nearby towns of Naso and Brolo, had no natural defense lines before Marina di Patti, 28 miles west of Messina. Roads, highways,

Quebec Parley Takes Shape

5 U. S. Chiefs There.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

QUEBEC, Aug. 13.—Five heads of the American army and navy arrived here this afternoon for the forthcoming conference that will be dominated by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill. They are:

Adm. William D. Leahy, chief of staff to President Roosevelt;

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States army;

Adm. Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet;

Lt. Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the United States army air force, and Lt. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of the United States army service forces.

The first four are joint chiefs of staff of the United States.

The Americans arrived as all Quebec was speculating on whether the Roosevelt-Churchill parley will be really a military conference or a political conference to take cognizance of Russia's failure to collaborate in the Anglo-American war and post-war program.

Expect Eden Soon.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 [Special].—Anthony Eden, the British foreign secretary, is now definitely expected in informed circles to come to Quebec or this country for conferences before proceeding to Moscow for conversations with soviet leaders.

According to information received here, Eden probably will arrive in time to take part at Quebec in the conversations of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill after they have disposed of military problems.

The aim of his following mission to Moscow, it is considered obvious, is to attempt to bring about a closer understanding on war strategy and peace aims. It is assumed it will help bridge the gap caused by the absence of Premier Josef Stalin from the parley.

Secretary of State Hull would say concerning the position of Premier Stalin toward the Quebec conference only that he assumed President Roosevelt and the heads of other united nations were keeping each other informed on all phases.

3 SICILY TOWNS TASTE U. S. WAY OF LIFE; LIKE IT

Pinch Hitter for AMGOT Sets Press Free.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 13.—Even should it be months or years before they attain constitutional freedom, the citizens of three small Sicilian towns will always remember one young American officer and the hope he brought into their lives.

It is customary for AMGOT [the allied military government of occupied territories] men to set up first the local government functions in any occupied village. But often, so fast is the movement of our troops, AMGOT is several days behind and combat soldiers must fill in as a stopgap.

Colonel Pinch Hits.

Such was the case when paratroopers, led by Lt. Col. William P. Yarborough, entered Castellammare, Alcamo, and a neighboring village during the advance thru the western half of the island upon Trapani. For several days Yarborough was the beneficent boss of these three towns.

In one town he heard a rumbling in the basement of the building he occupied. An investigation disclosed a small hand press being operated by three anti-Fascists.

"All during the reign of Mussolini," their spokesman told the colonel, "we have been turning out anti-Fascist literature and keeping the underground resistance alive. Is it possible for us to continue?"

"In my country we have a free press and free speech," replied Yarborough. "That is the heritage of free men. You have it, too. Say whatever you like." A few hours later the streets were flooded with a snowstorm of leaflets shouting the new freedom and carrying a masthead: "Viva Americanos."

In a short time the entire populace gathered to cheer in the town square.

Woman, Children Jailed.

At Castellammare he learned of a woman imprisoned for 20 years without a trial. In another village prison were 25 children, none over 12 years of age. They had been jailed five months without trial for alleged petty crimes. He promised AMGOT would look into the cases.

In still another village an ancient jailer showed Yarborough the records of the inmates, the majority of whom were political prisoners and none of whom ever had been brought to trial. The jailer explained how he had been unable to do anything for the unfortunates who lived in squalor within the bastille's fetid walls and begged Yarborough to speak to them.

"I stepped into the courtyard and thru an interpreter addressed the prisoners, their faces pressed against the bars and their arms dangling thru them," said the colonel. "I told them American justice had come to Sicily. That each man's case would be examined by our officials, that those jailed for political offenses against fascism would be freed, and that any jailed for violations of criminal law would be given a fair trial.

Cheered as Messiah.

"You'd thought I was the Messiah the way they cheered. They were in tears but this time the tears were of joy and hope."

In other ways, too, Yarborough brought the American way into the lives of these towns. There had been considerable looting in some places by hungry citizens who had ripped open warehouses and entered stores and homes.

The colonel immediately installed patrols in each district. Within a few days there were neither civil nor military disorders of any type.

"It was an amazing experience," Yarborough said later. "But it was a chance as I saw it to show these victims of fascism that America meant business. I told them we'd see to their welfare and see that they were fed. I only hope I wasn't too precipitous and that we can make good on these promises."

Britain Hears Italy Sends Its Prisoners to Germany

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP).—Switzerland, as the protecting power of British interests in axis and occupied countries, has been asked by Britain to investigate reports that Italy is transferring British war prisoners to Germany. The Daily Express reported 2,500 prisoners had been moved recently and said, if true, this might have an adverse effect on conditions imposed on Italy if she surrenders.

Axis Strong Point in Sicily Falls to American Forces and bridges on their routes of retreat were shelled by United States warships in one of a series of allied attacks from the sea.

Attacks were made yesterday from Piraino to Marina di Patti, during which a highway tunnel was believed put out of commission. Along the east coast, British naval units battered roads at Taormina, Cape Ali, and Riposto.

Evacuation Quickening.

The German evacuation across Messina straits to southern Italy was reported quickening, but no full scale evacuation has yet started. It is possible that some combat detachments now are being shipped across the two or three miles of water to Italy, dodging allied planes and naval patrols. Various types of small craft, even rowboats, were sighted and attacked yesterday in the straits. Scores of gun batteries were reported established along the strait to guard the area from both air and sea raids.

R. A. F. Halifax and Liberator bombers from the middle east bombed railway sidings at San Giovanni on the toe of Italy just across the straits. Medium Marauders and Lightnings rained fragmentation bombs on dispersal areas at the Grazzianisi air field, a fighter base north of Naples.

At Grazzianisi seven out of 25 challenging enemy fighters were shot down, Pvt. Juntin F. Foss of 4242 Wentworth avenue, Chicago, bagging one of them, and Robert E. Sewell of Wauwatosa, Wis., another.

In all of yesterday's operations 17 enemy planes were reported shot down with 10 allied planes missing.

Buying of African Wheat Laid to Shipping Shortage

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—The state department, replying today to charges that the government is buying French wheat in North Africa at $2.10 a bushel, said there are not enough ships available to carry sufficient American wheat overseas to meet the army's needs.

Sen. Ralph O. Brewster [R., Me.] asserted yesterday in Algiers that he was "startled" to learn that the North American economic board—one of the American civilian agencies under state department supervision—was contracting for large amounts of African wheat at prices 50 to 60 cents a bushel higher than in the United States.

Called "Exploratory Deals."

The state department stressed that its latest advices were that the wheat deals were still "in the exploratory and negotiating stage," and that "no report has been received that any purchase of wheat by the North African economic board has yet been made."

The statement asserted, however, that large supplies of wheat will be needed in North Africa "to make ready for the essential needs of the army and of the countries to be liberated."

Port Channels Clogged.

"Altho surplus stocks of American wheat are available, ocean shipping is still critically short and rail transportation to ports is clogged with military and essential civilian supplies, the statement said.

Concerning Brewster's assertion that civilians in North Africa were getting more gasoline than civilians in Maine, the department said allied military authorities had control over petroleum distribution for both military and civilian uses there.

OFFICER TELLS OF PLAN TO CUT ARMY RATIONS

Rations of all American soldiers are to be reduced under a conservation program the army will make effective within the next three months in an effort to reduce costs and make more food available to civilians, Col. R. F. Carter, executive officer of the subsistence branch of the quartermaster general's office, told a service forces conference in Chicago yesterday.

The program consists of placing all army men on a uniform feeding basis under the so-called field ration plan which now is in operation on most army posts.

Spokesmen said one of the purposes of the program was the elimination of waste by attempting to encourage men to consume all the food prepared for them.

Anti-Fascists Sforza and Salvemini Reach London

SICILY INVASION SCENE TOLD BY CHICAGO ENSIGN

Describes Four Days of Bombing Attacks.

BY ROY GIBBONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 13.—For four sleepless days and nights, Ensign Vernon D. Ogren, 29 years old, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albin W. Ogren of 7803 Constance avenue, Chicago, directed the fire of a naval gun crew that sent German dive bombers crashing into the sea during the invasion of Sicily last month.

Ogren who was graduated from Hyde Park High school in 1929 and from the University of Minnesota in 1931 was employed as a teller by the Harris Trust and Savings bank in Chicago before he joined the navy last September.

Commanded Armed Guard.

He is among the first naval officers to return to this country since the invasion of Sicily.

He was commander of an armed naval guard aboard an American freighter. Ogren's vessel was part of a convoy that carried British assault forces out of Alexandria to storm the Sicily coast.

In addition to specialized troops, his ship, he reports, was loaded with munitions, high test gasoline, and landing barges that were lashed to the decks.

Under Attack Four Days.

"On July 10," he says, "we anchored within 200 yards of the eastern shore of the island. The Commandos had gotten there about three hours before us and the air was filled with enemy planes.

"We had more than 30 raids on our ship alone and more than 50 alerts. Our guns got so hot you couldn't touch them. I never took my clothes off, but slept on the deck with my iron hat for a pillow for four days and nights while we were being unloaded."

Ogren's crew is credited by British naval officers with knocking three German planes out of the air and unofficially credited with three more, for a total bag of six.

Bombs Close to Ship.

Bombs came so close to his ship, he says, that he could almost read the name of the factory where they were made as they thundered past to blow up in the sea with such force that the explosions covered the decks of his ship with stones and gravel cascaded from the ocean's bottom.

At an interview arranged by navy public relations officers here, Ogren was accompanied by Harold L. Richardson, 33, boatswain's mate 2d class, a member of his gun crew during the Sicily engagement.

Richardson, who comes from Vienna, Md., received his gunnery training at the naval armory in Chicago. He was on crutches as the result of a fall into an open hatch after the battle. "It's a good thing there were some railroad ties down there, or I'd been killed sure thing," he said.

NAZI SLACKERS BEHIND LINES SENT TO FRONT

WITH THE BRITISH 8TH ARMY IN CATANIA, Sicily, Aug. 6 [Delayed]—(AP).—Some German troops showed such a disinclination to participate in the recent fighting in Sicily that roundup parties combed the rear echelon of the Hermann Goering armored division for slacking soldiers who could be sent into the front lines.

The necessity for this drastic action was shown in the following order of the general commanding the Goering division, dated July 19, copies of which have been seized by the British 8th army:

"I have noticed that, as is often the case in such times, soldiers are hanging about B echelon lines in unusually large numbers who are required at the front. In order to support the commanders and strengthen the front, a rounding-up party of military police will comb out the division's rear areas as from July 21, with authority to round up all personnel not absolutely required by B echelon.

"The military police will organize a reception camp for all non-commissioned officers and other ranks collected. I forbid that any personnel rounded up shall be employed at headquarters. Their place is in the front line."

SICILIAN BABY BORN IN BATTLE IS NAMED 'SAM'

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. ARMY IN SICILY, Aug. 11 [Delayed].—There is a baby boy born in the Caltanissetta hills while we were shelling that city several weeks ago who bears the name, Sam, for Uncle Sam, even tho his father is still fascist minded.

Lt. Lawrence Taylor.

He has that name because he was delivered by a young American doctor, 1st Lt. Lawrence Taylor, who interned at Grant hospital, 551 West Grant place, Chicago. [Lt. Taylor of Boston, Ill., is the brother-in-law of George Tagge, Tribune reporter.]

"The shells were landing all about," Taylor recalled, "but we got thru the delivery okay. The mother, who once lived in New York, told us her husband was with an Italian combat unit near Rome and believed in fascism. But she didn't."

REPORT NAZIS BUILD DEFENSES IN JUGO-SLAVIA

ANKARA, Turkey, Aug. 11 [Delayed].—(AP).—Information from the Balkans today reported the Germans were throwing up defense fortifications on the north banks of the Sava river in Jugo-Slavia which joins the Danube north of Belgrade.

It was believed the Germans were preparing secondary defense lines thru the Balkans should they be forced to fall back due to Italy's capitulation or an allied invasion of the Balkans.

The Sava river, the Danube, and the Carpathian mountains form a natural defense line for the northern Balkans.

Italian Bid to Allies Seen.

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 13 (AP).—Signs multiplied today that Italy is stepping away from Germany in an effort to approach the allies and democracy—for the latter, said the newspaper La Stampa of Turin, is the country's urgent need today.

Dispatches indicated that the Italians looked toward Quebec and the forthcoming conferences between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt, hopeful that the conferences would supply the means to get them out of the war.

Wishfully, the Italian press expressed its expectations that the Quebec conference would modify the Casablanca unconditional surrender formula.

Keep Ears on Quebec.

La Stampa of Turin, in a dispatch from Lisbon, went so far as to assert that a revision of the Casablanca terms was the most important business to come before the Quebec conference.

The widening rift between the axis partners was becoming so apparent that the Milan correspondent of the Zurich Die Tat, in a dispatch passed by the Italian censor, said he could "no longer speak of good Italian-German relations."

Not a single word about Hitler, the Nazi regime, or Marshal Hermann Goering now appears in the Italian press. Even the tone toward the Russian war has altered.

Signs also were increasing that political parties were making their power felt despite Premier Badoglio's decree against political activity.

YANKS SET HUGE FIRES IN 2 ROME RAILWAY YARDS

Lose No Planes in 2d Raid on Capital.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 13 (AP).—Smoke and fire billowed over historic Rome today as American warplanes in their second raid of the war on the capital poured more than 500 tons of bombs on military objectives without losing a plane.

The raiders fought off 40 to 50 fighters which attempted to halt the all-American assault.

Crewmen reported seeing tremendous explosions and smoke surging upwards from the locomotive and repair shops at the San Lorenzo and Littorio railroad yards.

The Littorio yards were attacked by five waves of bombers. The biggest explosion was believed to have been an oil storage tank.

Hit Nothing But Targets.

The strong fighter opposition contrasted with the lack of enemy resistance in the first raid, but there were no losses this time, whereas, five out of 500 planes failed to return from the July 19 attack.

The crews were unanimous in asserting that no damage was done to Rome outside of the railroad yards and airdromes which had been set as objectives.

"I did not see one bomb outside the target area," said Flying Officer Robert Butler of Staples, Minn., a Marauder pilot. "Both the railroad yards were a mess of smoke and fire, but the rest of the city was completely peaceful."

Chicagoan on Raid.

A Chicago flyer, Lt. Col. George M. MacNicol of 5723 Dorchester avenue, piloted one of the Lightning fighter planes which accompanied the raiders. He said his squadron cruised over Rome for 30 minutes and saw only three enemy fighters.

Second Lt. John Payton of Rock Island, Ill., said that when his bomber left the Littorio yards the "place was in an awful mess and it seemed like hundreds of freight cars were burning, but everything was quiet over by Vatican City."

Another midwest airman, Sgt. Floyd Dunn of Martinsville, Ind., was credited with destroying a German fighter during the attack.

Altho the number of planes in the raid was not disclosed, obviously fewer were involved than in the July attack. Then approximately 500 American bombers dropped over 1,100 tons of bombs on the Italian capital, against the approximately 500 tons loosed today.

No Explanations Made.

The attack was made without the special statements which characterized the first raid. Nor were any messages planned to explain to the Italians why the allies found it necessary to attack Rome.

The raid was executed by the strategic air force commanded by Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle. The navigators again were given stringent instructions to avoid churches, shrines, and historic monuments. The bombardiers were forbidden to release their bombs unless they were absolutely certain they were over the targets.

Links in Rail System.

The San Lorenzo yards, in the east central district of Rome, connect rail traffic between Florence in the north and Naples to the south. The Littorio yards serve the Genoa traffic. Heavy German military traffic has been pouring thru both yards.

[A Swiss announcement said the crew of an American four engined plane was interned near St. Gallen after the craft landed and was set afire by its crew near St. Gallen.]

The Americans' morning attack on Rome followed a night raid by Britain-based bombers which smashed at industrial and communications targets at Milan and Turin in northern Italy. Other R. A. F. raiders, the swift, plywood Mosquito bombers, gave Berlin its 68th raid of the war during the night.

Planes Fly Over Hungary.

New York, Aug. 13 (AP).—The Budapest radio tonight reported "several waves" of British and American planes flew over Hungarian territory this afternoon but the broadcast made no mention of any bombing. The reported incursion followed a "final warning" broadcast by Britain on Wednesday that Hungarian workers should evacuate industrial centers to escape allied bombs.

REPORT MUCH OF NAZI REGIME IS NOW IN VIENNA

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 13 (AP).—Reports reaching here today said that a substantial part of the Nazi government machinery has been transferred from Berlin to Vienna for safety from allied air raids.

These reports also said Nazi authorities are considering proclaiming their capital an open city in an effort to save it from the same fate as struck Hamburg, Cologne, Duesseldorf, and other German cities.

Pending such a decision, many major offices of the reich chancellery, foreign office, high command, and ministries of marines, air and home affairs were said to have been already shifted to Vienna—as yet outside the range of allied bombers.

German reports indicated that more than 1,250,000 civilians of a total of 4,250,000 already have evacuated Berlin, chiefly to Pomerania, eastern Prussia, Brandenburg, and lower Silesia. Leipzig, Madgeburg, and Brunswick also are reported being evacuated.

RUSSIAN ROCKET DETAILS TOLD IN SWEDISH REPORT

May Change Concepts of Plane Firing.

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP).—A Russian rocket bomb projectile which may foreshadow a revolution in airplane fire power was described today in a Swedish technical report as capable of piercing seven inches of armor plate altho it weighs only about 50 pounds.

Details of the weapon, which was first heard of about a year ago, were given in a translation of a Swedish report on a soviet Lagg-3 fighter which was released here by the ministry of aircraft production. The data was believed obtained from a plane which the Finns captured and allowed Swedish technicians to examine.

The report said that the projectiles were launched from a three rail rack fitted under each wing of the Lagg monoplane. Drawings indicated that the missile is about two to three feet long and six or seven inches thick and looks like the conventional air bomb.

Ignited Electrically.

The tail is fitted with four stabilizer vanes and a discharge nozzle. Slow burning propellent charges are in the rear of the casing and are ignited electrically by a control in the cockpit.

The forward part of the casing is of high explosive fragmentation type, set off on contact with the target. The propellant is said to increase penetration up to seven inches of armor plate.

"A case is known where this weapon was used in aerial combat and it is stated that hits have been registered up to 600 meters range," the report added.

Solves Recoil Problem.

These details, the fullest yet to be released here, are of interest to those who see in rocket projectiles the answer to the search for a means to mount heavier guns on planes.

The big problem in this direction in the past has been the recoil and muzzle blast effect and so far the 40 millimeter cannon mounted on tank bursting Hurricanes are the largest known to be in use.

If rockets which start slowly with a minimum of recoil and then gain speed could be adapted to planes this problem might largely be overcome and enable planes to discharge missiles equal to the destruction power of heavy field guns.

FORESTS DELAY REDS IN DRIVE ON TO BRYANSK

Lanza Sees Deliberate Retreat by Nazis.

BY COL. CONRAD H. LANZA.

[Regular contributor to the Field Artillery Journal and recognized as an authority on military affairs.]

The Russians have made good in their capture of Orel. They have advanced far enough beyond it to obtain the advantages of the rail communications thru that city, as soon as these can be restored. They are now continuing on westward to Bryansk, and have covered more than five-eighths of the distance to that place.

This part of Russia is largely forest. This aids the Germans in their defense, as armored troops cannot operate well thru woods. There are numerous small villages, built of stone, each one of which may be strongly defended. The Germans are making extensive use of mines, which does not stop the Russians but does delay them.

May Be Planned Retreat.

There is some evidence that the Germans in this sector are deliberately retiring, without trying to fight it out. The rather steady daily advances of the Russians of from 6 to 12 kilometers, the small number of prisoners taken by them, and the large losses they seem to be having, point to a German plan to inflict losses rather than to hold territory.

The Russians are approaching an extensive area of swamps, some 25 miles deep, where progress can be expected to be slowed down. To correct this situation, a new Russian offensive has been launched to the north of Bryansk, starting from southwest of Vyazma. The country on this side is dry. Between the two attacks Bryansk may fall.

Farther south the Russian offensive around Kharkov is making very good progress. It appears to have been a surprise to the Germans, and at least a part of the Russian armored forces broke thru to ravage the German rear areas. This country is open steppe, and at this season of the year is almost ideal for operations of tanks. As the ground is dry with vast open spaces motor vehicles can dash and scuttle around in all directions.

Kharkov Hard to Hold.

There is nothing near Kharkov itself in the way of natural obstacles, such as rivers, swamps, or forests, to favor a defense. It is a hard place to hold if seriously attacked, and has already changed hands several times during this war. It was the third largest city in Russia, but is now a mass of ruins, almost depopulated.

The Russian advance in this vicinity is very much on the go. Its objective appears to be not so much the capture of Kharkov as to drive a deep wedge into the Ukraine. Russia needs the harvest being raised in that rich country. So does Germany. A hard fight seems to be in prospect.

Still further south, Russian attempts to attack the mineral section of the Ukraine, in the great lower bend of the Donets river, have been discontinued. The big attacks in Kuban and south of Leningrad have declined to occasional minor attacks.

Great Battle for Middle.

The great battle in Russia is now in the center sector, between Orel and Kharkov. Here both sides have a majority of their forces, and both sides hope for decisive results. For the Russians this would be the recovery of all, or at least a substantial part, of occupied Russia, the food producing country. To secure this result, the Russians must continue their offensive and the Germans know and expect this.

AIR RAIDS HURT REICH, BUT CAN'T WIN: GOEBBELS

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP).—German Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, writing in the Voelkischer Beobachter, acknowledged that the allied air offensive is causing the Germans "many difficulties and sorrows," but declared that it could not decide the war, the German radio said today.

"Nothing can wrench victory from our hands if we only manage to overcome the growing difficulties of the air war," the article said.

"If the Anglo-Americans think they can knock us out of the war by air terror they are mistaken."

DEMOCRAT CHARGES HUNDREDS OF REDS HOLD U. S. KEY JOBS

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 13 [Special].—Rep. Jennings Randolph, West Virginia Democrat, told the Commonwealth club today that he "could name at the moment not scores, but hundreds" of persons in key positions of the federal government who are identified with the Communist front.

These and labor leaders who espoused Communist doctrines he denounced as handicaps of the home front and as a threat of totalitarianism.

In the course of his speech he advocated deportation of persons who three months after coming to this country fail to signify their intention of becoming citizens.

"I admire Russia's fighting qualities," he said, "but I don't believe this should cause us to be enamored of the Russian social system. Let's remember the Russians are fighting to take back their own soil from an invading army."

'GRIM REAPER' IN CRIPPLED PLANE HAS RECORD BAG

Downs 7 Japs in Santa Cruz Battle.

(This is the seventh article in a series, telling the story of "The Grim Reapers"—the famous Fighting Squadron VF-10, United States navy air force. It has been told to Stanley Johnston, noted Tribune war correspondent, by one of the Reapers who prefers to be anonymous. It presents a vivid and personalized account of great sea and air actions in the Pacific.)

BY A "GRIM REAPER."

[Member of Fighting Squadron VF-10, United States Navy.]

As told to STANLEY JOHNSTON.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Oct. 26, 1942; 9:50 a. m. We'll never forget it. The Pacific was an oily gray as the great carrier U. S. S. Enterprise swung into the wind. The roar of Grumman Wildcat motors drowned all other sound as 11 Grim Reapers made ready to take off.

This was the battle of Santa Cruz. The staggering toll to the Japs was to be more than 100 aircraft destroyed; three aircraft carriers put out of action and one of them—a giant—probably sunk, and two battleships and two cruisers damaged severely.

Most important, it was to upset completely Tokio's timetable for reducing Guadalcanal and start the series of reverses that broke Japan's hold on the strategic island.

At this moment the Japs were on their way to strike with dive bombers and torpedo planes at the Enterprise and her sister carrier, the noble old Hornet. Even as the radio brought the warning from our scouts that the Japs were approaching, our own dive bombers and torpedo planes were speeding to blast the enemy task force a couple of hundred miles away.

Grim Reapers Take Off.

When the Enterprise had swung full into the wind, building up her speed, Lt. Stanley W. [Swede] Vejtasa, U. S. N. R., lifted his Wildcat from the flight deck.

A shaft of sunlight, breaking thru the overcast, flashed on the plane's fuselage insigne — a winged, begoggled skeleton, gripping a dripping scythe. "Swede" Vejtasa was off to a historic flight in which he was to make good that Grim Reaper insigne seven times over, shooting down more Jap planes than any pilot ever before had destroyed in a single battle.

Swede headed his Wildcat straight for the overcast, climbing at full throttle. The other Reapers followed him at intervals, galloping up toward a time saving, running rendezvous.

The Enterprise dropped away astern. She was screened fore and aft by destroyers, protected by a cruiser, and followed closely by a great battleship with terrific anti-aircraft fire power. At 12,000 feet, Swede led his flight toward the Hornet, 10 miles nearer the Japanese fleet. Cruisers and a fringe of destroyers, screening all, were her surface protection.

Ideal Attack Weather.

The weather was ideal for an attack upon our carriers by dive bombers. In the early morning it had been clear, but soon a cumulus cloud formation built up. The overcast thickened and dropped to 5,000 feet, but the ceiling was pierced by convenient holes thru which a Jap dive bomber could sight his target below.

Our ship gunners, on the other hand, would not be able to see the attacker until he had burst thru the cloud base, already in his bombing dive. The only encouraging certainty was that torpedo planes would have to make their low level, horizontal approach in clear weather.

Two other flights of Reapers already had tangled only 60 miles away with the oncoming Japs, who were due overhead any second. There were 24 Aichi dive bombers, which had come steadily on while our men battled their escort of Zeroes. At this instant, black puffs from anti-aircraft shells splotched the sky over the Hornet. She was under attack.

At the same instant, however, our radio ordered us to look for Japs above our own carrier. Then we saw them, high above us in the glaring sunlight. They were eight Aichis, already roaring down at full throttle toward their push over [diving] point. They were headed for the Enterprise. The leading Jap disappeared into a cloud that hung in his path.

Dive for Enterprise.

When he emerged from its base he was just above us and was in his bombing dive. In an instant he was at our level. We did a steep wing-over and rolled into position for a high side attack run. We riddled that Jap. He hurtled on, out of control. The plane gyrated wildly, then it was afire and gone.

The pack passed over, 2,000 feet above us, then peeled off into their dives, straight for the Enterprise. They were too far ahead to be caught in the dive, but we went for them.

They shot down thru the carrier's curtain of anti-aircraft fire, into the screen of machine gun fire, and we followed them. We figured that if the ship wasn't hitting them it wouldn't hit us either. But we still were out of range when they loosed their bombs.

It was when they flattened out to escape that we caught up. Swede and another Reaper each picked an Aichi. The Jap rear gunners opened fire, but their pilots did no maneuvering to help them. Swede and his pal riddled them and they splashed into the water at almost the same time. We were sure Swede had been hit. This was confirmed by the gasoline that now sprayed from his wing tanks. His motor began cutting out. Then he switched to his main tank, released the wing tank, dropping it into the sea, and climbed with us to 10,000 feet.

Japs Bursting Everywhere.

Another pack of Aichi dive bombers, meanwhile, had reached the scene and were swooping toward the carrier. Two Reapers followed them down, into the fiercest air barrage we had ever seen. Japs were bursting into flame everywhere within that curtain, victims both of the barrage and Reaper guns.

The umbrella of fire, ripping up from the clusters of 5 inch guns, grew so dense and effective that other Aichis still high enough to do so, pulled out of their dives at 7,000 feet and turned to run.

Our radio now ordered us to look for Mitsu-97s [torpedo planes] which always followed the dive bombers. Almost immediately we heard Lt. W. H. [Hank] Leder on the interphone shouting: "Enemy planes in sight. Look down!" And there they were off to the left at about 7,000 feet—6,000 below us.

There were 11 planes in step-up formation of three three-plane groups and one two-plane group. Their dark paint made them beautiful targets as we let down and started for them. Our dive built up our speed to 350 knots [about 400 m. p. h.] and their power glides were taking them away at only about 300 knots.

Fires Jap's Gas Tanks.

The Mitsus slipped under a cloud and began breaking formation to attack the Enterprise from several angles when Swede and Lt. L. E. Harris, U. S. N. R., of Brownwood, Tex., each chose one. Their first bursts set each of the Japs afire. The others scattered in consternation, abandoned the attack and started climbing into the clouds for protection.

Swede took after three that were running away together. As they were about to vanish into the white vapor, he passed the No. 3 plane and poured two bursts into No. 2, which exploded with a flash and a thunderclap. Swede's plane tossed wildly, but he had a clear shot now at the leader and he opened up.

The stream of .50 caliber bullets first chewed off the Mitsu's tail, then penetrated and fired his gasoline tanks. As the Jap dropped away in a blob of smoke and flame, Swede hauled his Wildcat around and went for No. 3. The panicky Jap executed a shallow turn, but he succeeded only in depriving his rear seat gunner of a shot at "Swede."

The Wildcat came around faster and Swede got the plane into his sights. The range was long, but Swede was rewarded by seeing his stream of bullets ignite the Mitsu which smoked for a few seconds, then bloomed from nose to tail in yellow flame.

It was a beautiful sight. And it was Swede's fifth plane of the day, his own ship with a peppered wing. But that first Jap gunner was the only one that troubled him.

After downing No. 5 he pulled up and in a few minutes encountered another Mitsu, streaking along above him at terrific speed. Swede came around and up, firing another extremely long range burst in a low side attack just as the enemy slid into a cloud. He appeared to have missed badly, and the Mitsu was too far away for another attack when it emerged from the mist.

Then suddenly, it wobbled and fell off into a dive. Unfortunately, the Jap crashed on the forecastle of a destroyer. There was a heavy explosion as his torpedo struck the deck. Swede's score now was six, but he had fired seven times, two of the bursts long ones. He was almost out of ammunition when he saw two torpedo planes that had dropped their loads.

Fires Last Rounds.

They were just over the water and making frenzied efforts to escape a Reaper who was gaining on them, firing as he came. Swede hauled around and gave one of the Japs his last rounds of ammunition. The Mitsu kept going, as tho unhit. Then the tell-tale smoke plume feathered out behind the plane, which zipped over and shot into the water.

Swede's guns were empty, but just then he was joined by Harris, Leder, and Lt. Stanley Ruehlow, U. S. N. R., of Broadhead, Wis., who had helped knock down a flight of Zeroes protecting the Mitsus. Swede was glad to see them. He didn't know then that they, too were out of ammunition. The day's bag for the four was 10 confirmed shootdowns and four probable.

There still was a blaze of activity around the carriers, so it was up to them to cruise out of range, conserving gasoline an hour and a half. They were taken aboard the Enterprise at 1:20 p. m., more than three hours after the takeoff.

Swede Vejtasa had become our most distinguished Reaper. But there were many other names that will be remembered long after this war is over. Tomorrow you will meet Joe Bauer, the legendary fighting marine of the battle of Guadalcanal.

Girl, 12, Married in Maryland

Ralph Bretzman and his wife, the former Gladys Mary Peterman.

O. K. with Mother

York Springs, Pa., Aug. 13 (AP).—A 12 year old girl and her parents confirmed today that she and her 19 year old sweetheart have been married, and the girl said she wanted to learn to be a good wife.

The bride is shy, brown eyed Mrs. Gladys Mary Peterman Bretzman, and her husband is Ralph W. Bretzman of Bendersville, Pa., who lost his job as a laborer at nearby Mechanicsburg naval depot a few days before their marriage at Frederick, Md., Monday.

"As long as they are in love it's all right with me," said the girl's mother, Mrs. Raymond Peterman, who with her husband filed a certificate of consent with the Frederick court clerk.

"I want to keep house and do everything a wife should," the child said.

Bretzman said he and his bride will live with his parents-in-law until he finds another job.

TERMS PURGED FRANCE KEY TO FUTURE EUROPE

The keystone of post-war Europe must be a strong republican France which has chosen its own leaders and purged itself of the entire collaborationist crew that steered the nation into Vichyism, said Harry D. Gideonse, president of Brooklyn college and formerly of the University of Chicago, at a meeting yesterday of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations in the Palmer House.

In his talk, titled "In Defense of the State Department," Gideonse, who returned recently from a visit to England as a guest of the British ministry of information, said the United States state department never has indicated a desire to dictate the form of French political institutions or impose any personalities on France. De Gaulle's significance, the speaker said, was political and his reputation fictitious. Inside occupied France, Gaullism is identified with complete coöperation with England and America, but outside it is quite apparent that De Gaulle is anti-English and anti-American, said Gideonse.

All who escape from France by the De Gaulle controlled "underground" must pledge loyalty to him in an oath resembling a fascist ritual, Gideonse said.

BOMBERS CATCH JAPS NAPPING AT NORTH BASES

'Took Own Sweet Time,' Pilots Report.

BY FOSTER HAILEY.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

ADAK, Alaska, Aug. 12 [Delayed].—Paramushiro and Shimushu bases at the top of Japan's Kuriles chain were the targets of yesterday's leisurely raids by bombers of the 11th air force. It was the second such raid in a month. Paramushiro was hit on July 19.

All nine of the American bombers dropped heavy loads squarely on the Jap positions after midday runs made in full visibility. Two of them failed to return to Attu, and may have made emergency landings in Kamchatka. One bomber came in with one of its four engines shot out. They were over the targets 19 minutes.

Weather Good All Way.

According to returned pilots the weather was good all the way. As they approached the targets the clouds opened up and there, 12,000 feet underneath, were the areas they had been assigned to bomb, covered only by scattered clouds.

Again the Japanese were caught with their kimonos down and there were no fighters in the air as the big Liberators roared in. Zeros were taking off, tho, and as the Liberators turned away with their bomb racks empty, the enemy fighters climbed up to intercept. In addition to the two bombers missing three others took battle damage, but lost none of their crews.

The earlier strike by six Liberators was made under good weather conditions, but its main value was photographic. The object of yesterday's raid was to do as much damage as possible.

Fight 45 Minutes.

Yesterday's battle against land based enemy planes lasted for 45 minutes with 40 enemy fighters taking part. Five of the Japanese were shot down for sure.

Pilots upon their return reported a sizable naval force and transport train in the straits separating the two islands. The major anti-aircraft fire came from these ships, they reported.

Main targets of the attack were the naval base at Kataoka bay on Shimushu and an army staging base in Kashiabara bay on Paramushiro. Twenty-seven 500 pounders and 10 fragmentation clusters were dropped on the naval base and 45 500 pounders and 15 fragmentation clusters on the army staging area. Pilots reported they laid their eggs right in the assigned baskets.

DENIES APPEAL BY PENDERGAST FOR PARDON AID

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 13 (AP).—Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis refused today to recommend a pardon or to change terms of probation for T. J. Pendergast, ex-Democratic boss of Kansas City.

"When I imposed the sentence," the judge wrote, "I took into consideration the two matters referred to in the petition, the age and physical infirmity of the defendant, and assessed what I believed was a just punishment. I still think it was just."

Pendergast was released from Leavenworth, Kas., federal prison May 30, 1940, after serving 18 months on income tax evasion charges. His probation is effective for 21 more months. Its terms specify that he must not participate in politics, gamble or leave the city except for urgent reasons.

We Make It, but Only Russians Can Spell, Pronounce or Get It

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.

You can't spell it. You can't even pronounce it. But once you get a whiff of it, man alive, you know what to do with it. Eat it. And shout for more. Except you won't be able to get any because the Russians are gobbling up millions of pounds of it a month.

It is a Russian meat dish supplied by lend-lease. The closest you can come to spelling it is CBNHAR TYEOHKA, except the N and the R are backwards and the E is lying flat on its back with its feet up in the air, just as many Russians might be today except for the dish. Packers say the first word means pork and the second means stew.

'Tushaanka' to Packers.

Scores of millions of pounds of it have been canned in American meat packing plants within recent months for the Russians. Lend-lease officials yesterday said their figures don't show the exact amount, but 484,422,603 pounds of canned pork were purchased by lend-lease in the first six months of this year and the Russian dish constitutes, lend-lease said, a big share of the total.

The packers don't try to pronounce the name. They just call the dish tushaanka, which is their version of how the second half of the name might sound. The first half resembles a sneeze.

But any one who has tasted tushaanka doesn't sneeze. It's made from choice, fresh, lean pork, cut into tidbits and packed tightly into one of four sizes of cans—11½, 15½, 28, or 36 ounces. Whole bay leaves, black pepper, onion bits, and salt are added exactly to fit a recipe supplied by Russia. Lard is jammed into what empty spaces remain.

The lid is then sealed and air pumped out. The can goes into a steam pot.

Tender Enough for Baby.

When you poke a can opener thru the lid—the Russian soldier would use his bayonet—a delicate aroma like that from a pan in which chicken is frying spurts out. The juice is tasty. The meat is so tender a baby could eat it.

"It can be eaten either hot or cold," one packer reported.

"What kind of pork is used?" the packer was asked.

The packer misunderstood. "Any old kind," he said, "but I suppose lots of Russians use their fingers."

ALD. WALLER'S FORMER WIFE WINS DIVORCE

Mrs. Sarah Given Waller Larson, 39 years old, 895 North Oakwood avenue, Lake Forest, who obtained the arrest of her husband, George, 43, on a charge of assault with intent to murder last month, yesterday obtained a divorce from him in Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan on the grounds of cruelty. She asked no alimony and obtained an order from Judge Ralph J. Dady giving her custody of their daughter, Wilda Irene, 3.

Mrs. Larson, who married Larson, former Lake Forest fire chief, in 1938, three years after she had divorced James B. Waller, 43d ward alderman in Chicago, charged that he beat and reviled her in May, 1942, and again last June 19, when he blackened her eye, cut her mouth, bit her finger, and choked her.

In the June incident Mrs. Waller's sons by her previous marriage, James B. Waller Jr., 16, and Robert, 15, came to her aid and James was accused of wounding Larson with a blast from a shotgun. An aftermath of the divorce was the dismissal in Waukegan Police court of the assault charge against Larson and of charges he had brought against James Waller Jr., after the shooting episode.

Gen. MacArthur's Bark Saves 2 from Biting Cold

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 13 (AP).—Two men, trapped inside a refrigerator after a night watchman locked the door, owe their lives to Gen. MacArthur. Unknown to the watchman, the men, a medical detachment member and a civilian, were checking serum stored in a brewery refrigerator—in freezing temperatures and with air sufficient only for two hours. The men pounded against the door and attracted the attention of the general, whose barking summoned help. Gen. MacArthur is the name given to the detachment's dog mascot.

CHINESE LOOK FOR NEW JAP DRIVE IN THREE AREAS SOON

CHUNGKING, Aug. 13 (AP).—A Chinese army spokesman declared today the Japanese are preparing for a new offensive in China and have been strengthening their air forces and storing up gasoline for the attack.

Preparations have been made in three theaters, he said, which indicate the Japanese may be aiming to destroy Chinese forces harassing their outposts in the regions bordering the provinces of Shantung, Honan, and Kiangsu and bordering the provinces of Chekiang, Kiangsi, and Anhwei.

The spokesman said the third theater of possible action appeared to be the Luichow peninsula, where the Japanese might be planning to enlarge their occupation area and strengthen the blockade of free China.

U-Boat Sinks U. S. Ship; Crew of 40 Is Rescued

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—The navy today reported that a medium size United States merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk last month by a submarine in the South Atlantic. Survivors have landed at Miami, Fla., and New York. The navy said none of the 40 man crew was killed.

WAR BABY HAILS CHURCHILL WITH 'DADDY! DADDY!'

Steals Spotlight on Trip to North America.

BY RALPH McGILL
[Editor of the Atlantic [Ga.] Constitution.]

EN ROUTE WITH CHURCHILL TO NORTH AMERICA [Delayed] (AP).—There was quite a guessing contest as to what person really was in that compartment.

The odds were two to one that it was a queen, head of a government in exile. You could get even money it was almost any well known name in international politics.

And, of course, there were others who said that since Winston Churchill certainly was on the go, even more than Mrs. Roosevelt, that it might be he.

There came a day when the word was that at about 1 o'clock a well known person would be seen.

There were a few wives of Canadian soldiers along, each an English girl and each with a baby.

A Mystery Solved.

There was one youngster, of 11 months, who had won the hearts of all on the party by never crying and by always smiling and by his willingness to be tossed and thrown around, the rougher the better.

On a sudden there was a tenseness in the air. Silence fell. A uniform appeared and beneath the cap of it was the famous Churchill face, smile and cigar. Behind him trailed the important persons who always follow him.

As he appeared, the very excellent George Blue, aged 11 months, leaped in his mother's arms and shouted, loudly for a child of that age, the silence being what it was. "Dad-dy! Dad-dy!"

Churchill smiled and went on his way. A frosty smile appeared here and there on the faces of the persons behind him.

He's Hero Now.

Mrs. George Blue, red as the lipstick she hoped to buy once she reached a land where it is for sale, clapped a hand over the mouth of George Blue Jr.

And then the laughter broke.

George Blue, at 11 months, thinks any man in uniform must be his daddy. He will not go to any man in a blue uniform, but give him one of army color and that man is a friend of George's. Churchill's uniform, that of an air commodore, had caught George's eye and he thought that surely this must be his daddy whom he hadn't seen in a day or so.

From then on George Blue Jr. was the hero of the group that had seen and heard the greeting to the prime minister of Great Britain. Churchill was in second place.

MARSHALL GETS EDGE AS ALLIED INVASION CHIEF

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Aug. 13.—British sources believe an American is likely to be the supreme commander of the allied continental invasion forces and that he may be named at the conference of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

The obvious choices include Gen. George C. Marshall, United States chief of staff, and Gen. Eisenhower. If the commander is not an American, he might be Gen. Harold Alexander, Eisenhower's deputy.

British sources believe Gen. Marshall is the most likely choice, because he has been chief of staff in the period of the greatest growth of the American army and had World War I. experience under Gen. Pershing, by whom he is highly regarded. He and the British high command have worked in closest harmony thus far in planning strategy.

BASIS OF AXIS PACT FIRM, SAYS JAP SPOKESMAN

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Japanese cabinet met yesterday to consider a report on the European situation by Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu, who outlined conversations he had Thursday with the German and Italian ambassadors, the Berlin radio reported.

Another German broadcast quoted a Japanese government spokesman as saying that "the foundations of the tripartite pact remain immutable." The spokesman added, according to the broadcast, that the allies would do well to recall the text and meaning of the pact in which the aims and purposes of the three partners were clearly set forth.

Another Berlin broadcast declared Dr. Ernst Woermann, German ambassador in Nanking, who is visiting Tokio, called on Shigemitsu to discuss development of greater East Asia and the political situation in Europe.

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 13 (AP).—American Mitchell bombers of the 10th air force concentrated on river transport and bridges in central Burma yesterday, sinking one river boat and damaging others, a United States army air force announcement said today. One bomber is missing.

JAPS TO BEG FOR MERCY, ASSERTS GEN. CHENNAULT

CHUNGKING, Aug. 14 [Saturday] —(AP).—No longer can "cowardly Japanese airmen" fly at will over China, and "soon Japanese everywhere will beg for mercy which they have never shown our airmen," declared Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault today in a message to the Chinese air force on the occasion of that group's anniversary. The commander of the 14th United States air force in China recalled that six years ago today the Chinese air force "severely defeated an attacking force of Jap raiders over Nanking and Hanchow," and said the force "has certainly inspired fear" in the Japanese pilots and people.

SWAP OF TAXES FOR JOBS URGED BY EAGLES HEAD

The federal government should allow every employer a tax reduction based on his pay roll, Lester H. Loble of Helena, Mont., grand worthy president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, told 1,500 delegates from 40 states yesterday at the 45th annual convention in the Morrison hotel.

"Government aid and work programs are important . . . but they are only substitutes for private employment," said Loble. Repetition of the soup lines and flop houses of the early '30s could be avoided in the post-war period, he said, if private employers had federal assurance that the more people they hired, the lower their taxes.

Loble, a former Montana state senator who introduced Montana's first old age benefits bill, reported he had submitted his plan to Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., but had received no reply.

SAY MUSSOLINI WAS DROWNED IN AIR BOMBED SUB

New York, Aug. 13 (AP).—The New York Post said today that, "according to reports in circles frequently very well informed, Benito Mussolini, Italy's ex-Duce, drowned like a trapped rat during a vain attempt to escape from Italy."

The Post, which declined to give any further information as to its source, said the reports indicated Mussolini had embarked in a submarine from an Italian port, "probably Leghorn," shortly after his fall from political power.

"The submarine reportedly was spotted by allied airmen, who bombed it repeatedly and sent it to the bottom," the Post story continued. It added that details of the reported incident were not made clear.

HENRI CHARPENTIER'S Column

I think my Cafe de Paris is just the right size, for if it were larger there would be many, many things I could not do. . . . Now it is intimate with the warmth and hospitality of a fine gentleman's home and I can supervise each dinner and talk to each diner. I can make all my special sauces myself, like the Crepes Suzettes sauce, and we can cook every dinner to order. The last is very important, for fresh cooking is the most important part of making a tasty dinner. . . . Did you ever think of the many things that make a good dinner? First the food, of course, carefully selected, carefully prepared, fresh cooked, and properly served. Think how an understanding waiter can improve your dinner. And think of the many other tremendous trifles that add up to satisfaction. My associates will tell you I am very exacting about these small details, but tell me, is it not all worth while?

LIFE RAFT HELPS DOWNED FLYERS WIN AGAINST SEA

Equipment Part of Army Air Power Show.

First Week: 153,707

Total attendance during the first week of the air power show at Tribune Square was 153,707 after a crowd of 14,504 had viewed the exhibits yesterday. The show is open daily from 10 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. and admission is free.

BY FRANK STURDY.

The harrowing experiences of air crews forced to bail out of disabled aircraft over water in the early stages of the war resulted in development of improved emergency equipment offering American airmen far greater chances for life now in like circumstances.

The army air forces air power show at Tribune Square has a complete display of emergency water life saving devices, from the rubber lifeboat that is the first essential to the accessories for living thru blazing sun and storms. The materiel command is sponsoring the exhibit in coöperation with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Lever Releases Rafts.

Heavy bombers carry two of the E-2 life rafts and their equipment, each designed to carry half the crew. The rafts are made of rubberized fabric. When a water crash is inevitable the pilot pulls a lever which releases spring launchers and the rafts shoot into the sea.

A cylinder of compressed carbon dioxide inflates the raft in 30 seconds. If the cylinder proves faulty, a hand pump is provided as a substitute. Once safely in the raft, the crew men have these items to use in their fight for life and rescue: Tarpaulins, for use as rain catchers, in camouflage, for signaling, or for sun protection; 40 feet of 75 pound test cord; whistles, for keeping contact between boats at night; a knife; sea anchor; bailing bucket; first aid kit; fishing kit and instructions; vulcanizing kit and bullet hole plugs to repair any damage to the raft; signaling mirror; sea marker; Very flare pistol to attract rescuers, and six parachute flares; floating flashlight; 9 packages of condensed K rations; 7 cans of drinking water.

Special S. O. S. Radio.

Each raft has three oars, which can be used as mast and rigging for a sail made from the tarpaulins. If the crew has sufficient time before the airplane sinks, a Gibson Girl radio can be removed and carried in the raft. The radio is a special emergency transmitter, waterproof, which automatically generates power and transmits the S. O. S. signal by the turning of a crank. It has an effective range of several hundred miles, using an aerial carried aloft by a kite or balloon.

The raft has a 2,500 pound capacity and is intended for from five to seven men. Its smaller companion, the one man raft, is used only in fighter type airplanes.

Orange Sea Marker.

Both rafts are painted yellow for easy recognition. The sea marker carried in each is a container of an orange chemical which when released covers the surface of the water in a circle about 50 feet in diameter. The marker survives about half an hour.

A group of Australian and New Zealand airmen visited the army air forces air power exhibit yesterday at Tribune Tower. They were met by Col. Alonzo M. Drake, supervisor of the mid-central district of the materiel command, sponsoring the show in coöperation with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. In the group were pilots, flight instructors, navigators, gunners, and one naval airman in training for duty with the British fleet.

The airmen were guests of E. H. Scott, Chicago radio manufacturer who was an Australian soldier in the last war and established the Anzac center at 737 North Michigan avenue six months ago. The center arranges recreation for Australian and New Zealand soldiers passing thru the city.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 13 (AP).—Mrs. Mildred Davidson, 37 years old, was in jail today on three charges of murder after Police Inspector M. A. Hinds said she confessed killing her three children with an ax.

She was arrested after her husband, Robert, found the bodies of the victims in their beds. The children were Jean, 15, daughter of Mrs. Davidson by a previous marriage; Robert, 7, and Peggy, 3 months.

Atty. Gen. Will Gerber said Mrs. Davidson had been taken to a psychiatric hospital for observation.

PARK POLICEMAN DISCHARGED FOR PRISONER SWAP

Park District Policeman William Katelhut, who has been sentenced to 60 days in the county jail for contempt of court in the substitution of a Negro youth for a white man as defendant in a Municipal court case, was ordered discharged from the force yesterday by the district civil service board on charges filed by George T. Donoghue, general superintendent. Katelhut, 44 years old, won six awards for heroic conduct in 19 years on the force.

Appeals by Katelhut and the policeman's wife failed to move Judge Leon Edelman yesterday. He also upheld the six month jail sen- Coleman, Negro professional bondstence imposed Thursday on James man.

Coleman's license as a bondsman has been suspended, pending final decision by Chief Justice Charles S. Dougherty on the recommendation of Judge Edelman that it be revoked.

Katelhut posted a $1,000 bond and Coleman a $1,500 bond, yesterday to carry their cases to the Appellate court.

FAME OF R. O. T. C. GOES UP AS JAP SHIPS GO DOWN

N. U. Naval Unit Grads Win Acclaim in Battle.

BY PAUL HEALY.

Nothing is more vividly conclusive of the value to the navy of the reserve officers' training corps than the daily combat stories from the war zones, Capt. S. A. D. Cobb, who is in charge of the naval R. O. T. C. program at Northwestern university's Evanston campus, said yesterday. The deeds performed by graduates of the Northwestern unit alone make Hollywood movie script heroes look sissified by comparison, according to Capt. Cobb.

"Beginning with the attack on Pearl Harbor, I don't believe there has been a major engagement in which some of our former R. O. T. C. boys haven't distinguished themselves," he said. "Since the Northwestern unit was organized in 1926 as one of the six original units in the United States, it has had 402 graduates and 87 per cent of them are in active service today. Unfortunately, Northwestern was the only school in the midwest which had a unit before the war."

Rick's Rescuer Among Them.

Capt. Cobb rattled off a long list of distinguished graduates of the unit. There is, for instance, Lt. William F. Eadie of Evanston, a navy pilot who received the air medal for rescuing Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker and his shipwrecked mates from life rafts in the Pacific. There also is Maj. Bernard Kelly, of Evanston and the marine corps, winner of a Tribune R. O. T. C. medal at Northwestern in 1940, who distinguished himself as a survivor of the cruiser Helena when it was sunk in Kula gulf July 7.

And there was Lt. Harald Christopher, of Dwight, Ill., who was awarded the navy cross posthumously for his bravery during the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Some of the other N. U. heroes are Lt. Donald Kirkpatrick of Evanston, who received the distinguished flying cross for his action as a navy pilot in the battle of Midway; Lt. Robert Newman of Evanston, cited for bravery in rescuing a seaman who had fallen overboard; and Lt. Charles Dillon, 7745 North Hermitage avenue, who received a citation after his patrol bomber sank a Jap submarine.

Eight Killed in Action.

In a basement clubroom of the naval unit on the Northwestern campus hangs a plaque bearing the names of Ensign Christopher and seven others who died in action. The others are Lt. E. L. Schrenk of Altoona, Pa.; Ensign Gus Bebas of Wilmette; Lt. D. R. Cockrill of Nashville, Tenn.; Ensign J. W. Finch of University City, Mo.; and Ensign R. W. Kittredge, Lt. J. S. Freeman, and Ensign Howard Cowap, all of Evanston. Each lost his life in a dramatic incident.

Two former Northwestern R. O. T. C. men are known to be prisoners of the Japanese. They are Lt. F. V. Berley, 4153 Congress street, who was captured on Bataan as a member of the medical corps; and Capt. Mortimer Marks, 7448 North Hoyne avenue, of the marine corps, captured on Guam.

"Thru the years the naval R. O. T. C. cadets have been taught by regular navy men and in general they get the best naval officer education outside of Annapolis," Capt. Cobb said. "Proof that they are highly regarded is the fact that after six months on active duty they can apply for entrance into the regular navy, provided they are recommended by their commanding officer."

Because of a lack of funds there were only 13 naval R. O. T. C. units in the nation when the national emergency began, Capt. Cobb asserted, but 14 additional units were quickly organized when naval R. O. T. C. men were needed to help expand the navy.

COURT ORDERS HALT OF GAMBLING; RAID ON BUILDING FOLLOWS

An alleged handbook in Room 604 of the 12 story building at 180 West Washington boulevard was raided yesterday by Capt. Thomas J. Duffy of the Central police, who arrested Charles Wood, 38 years old, 1263 Pratt boulevard, on a gambling charge, confiscated loud speakers, telephones, and other equipment, and routed 12 men and 8 women who allegedly were listening to race track returns.

The raid was made two hours after Judge Cornelius J. Harrington had issued an injunction in Circuit court enjoining operators of the building from permitting gambling on the premises.

The court order was obtained by David H. Caplow, an attorney, with offices on the 10th floor, who charged that the operators had curtailed elevator service and were otherwise harassing tenants in an effort to force them to move. The Prairie State bank of Oak Park is trustee of the property and the real estate firm of Hogan & Farwell, Inc., is the agent, Caplow said.

3 Captured Soon After Fleeing Training School

Three boys, who escaped early yesterday morning from the Illinois Training School for Boys near St. Charles, were captured a short time later by school guards and two deputy sheriffs who surrounded a field near the school. The boys are Bruce Rex Orton, 16 years old, 1847 North Whipple street; Donald Joseph Orr, 15, of 651 Blackhawk street, and Milton Lee Littleton, 16, of 38 West 59th street, a Negro.

"HYPNOTIZED" OUT OF $236.

Mrs. George Patterson, 35 years old, Negro, 1045 Washburne avenue, told Maxwell street police yesterday that a gypsy woman entered her home, hypnotized her and took $236 secreted in a pillow case while she looked on powerless to move.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Ben Markland

August 13, 1943.

ALL the symbols of "thrashin' time" were in evidence on the Yorkville farm early this week. A crew of 22 men was harvesting oats, and that means hauling bundles from the shocks, operating the steam engine which generates power for the giant separator, hauling grain to the bin, watching the clean yellow straw as it is blown into a crescent shaped stack and—most important—eating.

We enjoyed visiting the workers in the fields and seeing again the operation of the harvest machinery, but lunchtime for a threshing ring is a farm institution. For generations farm women have made a ritual of stuffing the greatest variety of nourishing foodstuffs into the neighborhood men who 'form the threshing crews. Food rationing and food shortages haven't altered this ritual, as we discovered by visiting one of the farm kitchens this week.

How They Stow It!

The Thurow ladies prepared a ham which weighed 20 pounds and cost 140 ration points as the main course of the dinner they served to the threshing crew the other day. Twelve of the men were served at the large dining room table and the other 10 ate from auxiliary tables in the living room. In addition to the ham, they ate a peck of boiled potatoes, almost a gallon of brown gravy, six pounds of baked beans, cucumber salad, three quarts of applesauce, and a large dish of pickled peaches. In addition, there was brown bread and white bread, milk, coffee, cookies, angel food cake, and chocolate cake. Some of the men showed their appreciation of the menu by taking second helpings, so the feast continued for more than an hour.

Oat Yield Better.

The oat yield from the Yorkville farm was higher than the men expected, altho it was considerably lower than the usual average of 70 bushels to the acre. The oat plantings this year totaled 189 acres. A total of 10,337 bushels was harvested, giving an average yield of 54.7 bushels to the acre. According to members of the threshing crew, this was one of the highest yields taken from any farm in the Yorkville area. Many farms in the county are getting as low as 30 bushels to the acre and the average is running from 35 to 40 bushels to the acre.

★ The GARDEN ★

IN MANY northern Illinois gardens the foliage of the first plantings of snap beans is starting to turn yellow. If several pickings have been taken from these plants the tendency is to pull them out of the ground.

Unless the gardener plans to replant these bean rows the plants should be left in the ground. Even tho they have started to turn color and appear dormant, it is probable that they will produce additional pickings during September. A series of late summer rains can reactivate the plants and cause them to produce new pods. If this occurs the pickings will be much smaller than during the early summer period.

Instead of pulling the plants, it is advisable to go over the bean rows carefully and harvest all of the pods which are present now, regardless of size. If the rows are picked clean now there is more likelihood that the plants will produce again during September.

TESTIFIES RADIO STATIONS FEAR POWERS OF FCC

Censorship Official Is on Stand at Inquiry.

New York, Aug. 13 (AP).—Robert K. Richards, executive assistant for broadcasting in the office of censorship, testified before a congressional subcommittee investigating the federal communications commission today that "a great many radio station owners live in fear of the FCC."

He told the subcommittee of the Cox investigating committee that many station owners "hesitate to challenge the FCC, even when they know the FCC is exceeding its authority."

Richards gave his testimony in response to questions by Eugene L. Garey, committee counsel.

Tells of Fears.

"Is it true that radio broadcasters live in fear and terror of the FCC?" Garey asked, and Richards answered: "Yes. Those licensees with whom I have come in contact do fear the FCC."

In response to another question by Garey, Richards said, "Broadcasters who have talked to me fear mainly one division of the FCC."

"The war problems division?" Garey asked. Richards replied in the affirmative.

Richards said he could not speak for the entire radio industry because he was "not acquainted with radio as a whole." He said he worked nine years in news departments of radio stations and newspapers before becoming associated with the censorship office.

Found Few Violators.

Counsel for the congressional committee has sought to prove that radio station personnel were forced from the air by FCC pressure on station owners and that replacement personnel were suggested by the FCC and office of war information.

Richards testified that censorship code violations by radio stations were "very few in number, and minor infractions."

Garey asked Richards if he "saw all the evidence that the FCC was trying to ride herd on the office of censorship."

"Yes. Specifically the war problems division," Richards answered.

Later James L. Fly, chairman of the FCC, accused the committee of using "strong arm methods" in its investigation.

"It has been perfectly apparent that the Cox committee intends to try these matters in the newspapers and not in the orderly procedure in which both sides can be heard," Fly told a press conference.

MAP DOWNTOWN ZONING SYSTEM FOR TAXI FARES

Aldermen James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the city council committee of local transportation, and Bryan Hartnett [12th], chairman of a subcommittee, announced late yesterday that they are considering the possibility of establishing a zone system for fares for taxicabs.

The zone, as set up for the new plan, would include Roosevelt road on the south to Chicago avenue on the north and extend from the lake on the east to either Clinton or Halsted street on the west. The proposed fare for the zone would be 30 cents for a single passenger anywhere in the zone or 20 cents a passenger if more than one passenger rides. The alderman pointed out that the proposed zone takes in all railroad depots, the central business district and the principal hotels.

The cab companies now are operating under a franchise ordinance which will expire Dec. 31, 1945, and allows them to use meters for any load in the city. The reason for the move, the aldermen said, was that they felt the cabs were not carrying sufficient passengers under war time conditions, and the plan would increase their use.

MARRIAGE OFFER FAILS TO FREE JAILED MOTHER

Mrs. Marie Woodruff, 24 years old, who on Thursday was placed under $10,000 bond by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Felony court on a charge of contributing to the dependency of a child, had an offer of marriage yesterday.

Nick Maggiore, 40, of 2038 Huron street, yesterday appeared before Judge Dougherty and said he was willing to marry Mrs. Woodruff because of his fondness for her son, Derek John, 1½ months old. Mrs. Woodruff said she was willing to marry him if it meant she would be released from jail.

She told the court that she had married Harold Woodruff in Valparaiso, Ind., when she was 15, and that she had borne him two children. She said that she had been informed Woodruff had been killed in an automobile accident in 1941. She had never divorced Woodruff. Investigation disclosed that no one of that name had died since 1938. Mrs. Woodruff went back to jail.

The Inquiring Camera Girl
BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[THE TRIBUNE will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by THE TRIBUNE. Today's question was submitted by Alma Freeman, 648 North Lake street, Aurora, Ill.]

THE QUESTION.

How do you scheme to get out of the jobs you don't like?

WHERE ASKED.

Jackson boulevard at Dearborn street.

THE ANSWERS.

Suzan Swanson, 12 years old, 156 East Superior street—I detest dishwiping. I don't get out of it very often, but this plan works sometimes. At dishwiping time I begin a more likable job my mother has asked me to do before. She's so glad to see me doing it she lets me go ahead.

Jack Connolly, 8 years old. Waterloo, Ia.—Ever since I was 5 years old I've had to make my own bed. It's pretty hard for me to get out of the job. The best excuse is to tell my mother the sheets have to be changed. Then she helps me. Or I delay the task by saying I plan a nap later.

Paul Zimmerman, 13 years old, Osborne, Kas.—Mowing the lawn once was fun, but not now. When I must get out of doing it I usually complain about the intense heat and say I fear a sun stroke. Sometimes I water it and then it's too wet to mow. Both methods have proved effective.

George Peter Bott, 8 years old, 5742 North Rockwell street—I don't like to put away my clothes after I take them off. It's work turning a shirt right side out, putting it on a hanger and hanging it in the closet. It's much easier to throw everything into the laundry bag, but I don't always get away with it.

Ronald J. Brunner, 7 years old, South Bend—Most of the time I like to take our dog for a walk, but there are times when I'd rather not. But I still want him to have a good time. So I tie him to a tree while I play or I tie him to my bicycle and make him walk while I ride slowly.

Patsy Ann Tidwell, 7 years old, Dallas, Tex.—It's my job to keep my closet clean. The last time I had to clean it I was in a hurry. I picked up everything; my shoes and dolls and toys and clothes and put them all in my doll trunk. My mother thought I was a good girl until she discovered what I had done.

INDIANAN URGES GEN. M'ARTHUR FOR PRESIDENCY

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 13 [Special].—Declaring that only a war hero can defeat President Roosevelt for a fourth term, Willard Bartlett, head of the Bartlett Mortgage & Bond Co., which lends money to churches and colleges, has begun the organization of a MacArthur-for-President club.

Bartlett hopes to extend his organization thruout Indiana and that other states will follow and cause the nomination of Gen. MacArthur by the Republican national convention next June. He said he expects to establish headquarters in Indianapolis.

Bartlett said he became convinced the Pacific war hero could be elected to the Presidency after he had talked with men and women in all walks of life whom he encountered on coast to coast business trips. Asked what he thought Gen. MacArthur would think of the movement, the organizer replied: "Did you ever hear of anybody refusing a nomination for the Presidency?"

FORMER CHICAGO POLICEMAN DIES IN GAS CHAMBER

San Quentin, Cal., Aug. 13 (AP).—John Lawrence Coleman, 51 years old, a former Chicago policeman, was put to death today in the San Quentin gas chamber for slaying his third wife, Myrtle, in 1941.

He was calm as he stepped into the death cell. He had slept well last night after writing several letters. Coleman was convicted of shooting and killing his wife in her beauty shop in Coronado.

He was discharged from the Chicago police force in 1924 after he had been acquitted of murder in the slaying of John S. Degnan, a teamster contractor, in a saloon brawl. Coleman asserted he killed Degnan in self-defense.

FESTIVAL 'AIDA' SCENE WOULD HAVE VERDI AGOG

Plan Triumphal March on Grandest Scale.

TICKET SALE.

Reserved seat tickets for the 14th Annual Chicago Music Festival, to be held in Soldiers' field one week from tonight, are on sale at 55 cents and $1.10 at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the lobby of Tribune Tower. Mail orders are accepted. Checks or money orders should be made payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

If Giuseppe Verdi should happen to drop in on the music festival at Soldiers' field next Saturday night he would be an astonished wraith. He would see the triumphal scene from his opera, "Aida," presented in a more novel fashion and on a grander scale than he ever imagined possible.

The 500 participants in the performance will have elbow room galore. No tiny stage will limit their numbers or the scale of their maneuvers. The whole vast field is to be their stage.

The dazzling triumphal procession will enter the arena thru the south gates and proceed up the field to the accompaniment of some of the most brilliant and grandiose music ever written. The marchers will include Ethiopian captives and Egyptian officers, soldiers, priests, and royalty.

Property Department Busy.

The costume and property departments of the Chicago Opera company, whose resources are among the largest in the world, all but scraped the bottom of the barrel in their attempt to make this scene the most amazing in the history of opera. The colorful tunics of the soldiers, the sumptuous kingly and priestly robes, and the hundreds of gleaming spears and gold and silver ornaments will make up a picture of opulence which defies the imagination. The dozen horses in the parade will be gaily caparisoned. And not one particle of all this brilliance will be lost, for bright spotlights will play on the procession as it goes its majestic way down the field.

The invitation extended to members of the public in these columns on Aug. 1 to take part n the scene as spear carriers is still open. If you want to wear a gorgeous costume and march to the tingling music of the triumphal march, drop a card to the festival director, Tribune Tower, to arrive not later than 6 p. m., Monday.

Symphony, Chorus to Help.

The music will be provided by the Festival Symphony orchestra, the augmented W-G-N chorus, and the following soloists: Naomi Cook [Aida], Attilio Baggiore [Rhadames], Bruce Foote [Amonasro], Ruth Slater [Amneris], and John MacDonald [the King of Egypt]. Henry Weber will conduct. Bernard Cantor is in charge of staging. Miss Cook and Baggiore have appeared in principal rôles with the Chicago Opera company in recent years, Miss Cook as Leonora in "Il Trovatore" and Baggiore as Alfredo in "La Traviata." Weber formerly was artistic director of the company.

3 SOLDIERS WHO FLED FORT GET TERMS IN PRISON

Three soldiers who escaped from Fort Sheridan June 25 while under guard for being absent without leave from their respective camps have been dishonorably discharged from the army and sent to the federal reformatory at Chillicothe, O., to serve long terms at hard labor, it was announced yesterday by the army.

Pvt. Henry G. Lovell, 25 years old, 748 West 43d place, Chicago, and Pvt. Spiro P. Karabelas, 18, of 830 Wisconsin avenue, Milwaukee, were sentenced to 10 years each. Pvt. Richard Luinstra, 19, Muskegon, Mich., was sentenced to nine years.

The men were tried before a court martial at Fort Sheridan in July and the sentences were approved by Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand, commanding general of the 6th service command, and the judge advocate general at Washington. The men were sent to prison this week.

Motorman Hurt When Car Crashes Load of Steel

When a trolley car crashed into a truck loaded with steel as it left the plant of the Wyckoff Drawn Steel company, 3200 South Kedzie avenue, yesterday evening 25 passengers were shaken up and the motorman, John Coleman, 50 years old, 358 South Kedzie avenue, suffered a possible fractured hip and a cut hand.

OFFER LIMITED TRANSFER PLAN FOR NEW SUBWAY

A program solving some problems involved in granting car riders transfers from the new State street subway to the street car and bus lines in and near the loop was outlined yesterday at a conference of engineers. The findings will be presented to the Illinois commerce commission, which has been asked to order the transfers into effect by Oct. 1 when the subway is scheduled to start operating.

Representatives of the L and the bus company agreed on issuing transfers good in the loop, the bus rides to be limited to 1500 north, 1500 south, and 1500 west. The surface lines offered transfers to be good on west side car lines, with territory limited to the river on the north, Canal street on the west, and Harrison street on the south.

Harry Roberts, representing the L company, said he believed the surface lines should expand their interchange transfer area to conform with that of the bus company. The city, which asked for the transfer system, indicated that neither tributary territory was satisfactory; that much longer rides should be granted by both L and surface companies.

ASK AFL RIGHTS FOR MACHINIST UNION'S RIVAL

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor, meeting in the Drake hotel, was asked yesterday to issue a charter to the Mechanics Educational Society of America, an independent labor organization formerly affiliated with the Confederated Union of America.

President William Green said the council would act later on the society's application, offered by Matthew Smith, its president, and supported by Frank Martel, president of the Detroit Federation of Lab

CORRIGAN OPENS FIREMEN'S JOBS TO 150 ROOKIES

Reveals 1,222 Qualified in May 3 Examination.

Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan yesterday issued a call for the 150 top men on a fire department civil service examination list posted yesterday by Walter L. Loses Coat—and Suit

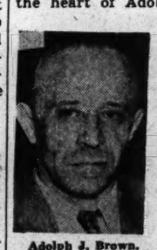
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

FRANCES BERNSTEIN.

The romance that beat high in the heart of Adolph J. Brown, 50 years old, a tailor at 143 North Kedzie avenue, last winter when he purchased a fine new coat for Frances Bernstein from B. Nathan, Inc., 3929 Roosevelt road, has cooled. Yesterday he had only regrets as he stood in Municipal court and refused to finish paying for the garment.



Adolph J. Brown.

Miss Bernstein, 27, 1550 North Kedzie avenue, looked on silently as Brown, Judge Joseph J. Drucker, and Harold S. Lansing, attorney for the company, discussed the case. Judge Drucker urged Brown to pay the $89.23 balance. Brown said he wouldn't pay it, even if he went to jail.

"But if I go, she goes, too," he insisted unromantically. So the judge told the sheriff to take them both to jail. They can be kept there until the bill is paid, so long as the company pays for their board. Lansing paid $8 for the first week and promised to pay $7 per week thereafter.

JUDGE REFUSES TO LET WIVES WAIVE ALIMONY

Judge Cornelius J. Harrington in Circuit court, reversing the stand that he and most Chicago divorce court judges have taken on the alimony question, said yesterday that because of the war and abnormal conditions, he will refuse to permit wives to waive alimony. He has taken such action in eight divorces in the last two days, telling the women that if they insisted on waiving alimony he would not grant them decrees.

Yesterday Mrs. Helen Aldrich, 25 years old, 1409 North Campbell avenue, sought to waive both alimony for herself and support for her son, Anthony, 17 months old, in getting a divorce from Robert, 25. She said both she and her husband were employed and that her parents would take care of the child.

She charged her husband with desertion and, after changing her mind about waiving her right to support, was granted a divorce.

"The care of your son is not the responsibility of your parents," Judge Harrington said. "Under no circumstances can a mother waive support by a father of a child, who by law is compelled to support his offspring."

Freed in Holdup When Accuser Changes Mind

Harry Klopatic, 22 years old, of 1214 North Damen avenue, was freed by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Felony court yesterday in the holdup of a tavern July 1 at 6973 North Ashland avenue. Mrs. Peggy Turner, owner of the tavern, identified him at a police showup as one of three robbers who took $117 and jewelry valued at $125. In court, however, she said Klopatic was not the robber.

BURLY BANDIT ROBS TAVERN.

Lawrence Adler, bartender in a tavern at 3011 East 91st street, told police that a burly man walked into the place yesterday, announced he was "taking over," took $65 from the register and walked out.

SEEK CLEW IN ROPE SLAYING OF SHEPHERD

Steamboat Springs, Colo., Aug. 13 (AP).—In a search for clews in the torture slaying of a shepherd, Undersheriff William MacFarlane said today one possibility was that the elderly victim was bound and left to die by sheep thieves.

The body of Bert Purdy, 65 years old, was found in his camp wagon yesterday in a remote gulley 18 miles south of Hayden, Colo. His arms and legs had been tied at the small of his back. He had died, authorities said, of exposure, or shock. He had been dead about two days.

Coroner A. H. Heyer said Purdy had not been injured, and the man who bound him probably was not there when he died. "But it is unquestionably murder," he said. "The ingenious knotting of the ropes was fiendishly contrived."

The shepherd had been robbed. His pockets were empty, and the wagon had been stripped of supplies brought to him last Sunday and of two high powered rifles. Authorities, however, discounted robbery as the slaying motive.

SEEK THREE FOR ASSAULT.

Pekin Inn police yesterday were seeking three youths who Thursday beat Marion Feddeler, 16 years old, 2358 Indiana avenue, and fractured his arm as he was lying on the beach at 23d street.

ICKES REQUESTS ARMY DISCHARGE OF COAL MINERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes disclosed today that he has asked the war man power commission to release anthracite miners from military service in order to step up production of the home heating fuel.

Because of a prospective shortage of anthracite, Ickes directed yesterday that deliveries to dealers be limited to 90 per cent of last year's requirements.

Ickes said he also had asked that other miners be released to ease a man power shortage which he said was impairing the coal supply in the Pacific northwest. He did not disclose the number of miners he hoped might be released.

STEAL JEWELRY FROM WINDOW.

Burglars smashed the window of a millinery shop at 20 South State street early yesterday and stole $300 worth of costume jewelry.

Soldier Enters Guilty Plea in Rape-Slaying of Girl

Clay Center, Neb., Aug. 13 (AP).—Pvt. Joseph Macavoy, 24 years old, of Brooklyn, N. Y., pleaded guilty today to charges of first degree murder in the rape slaying of Anna Milroy, 16. Macavoy was bound to District court for trial and County Atty. S. W. Moger said the state would ask the death penalty. Miss Milroy disappeared from her home in Sutton last Saturday.

NAVY I. B. M. OFFICERS.

The navy has reopened its requisitions for international business machine operators and supervisors. Candidates must have had at least three years' experience in a supervisory capacity of an I. B. M. installation. This experience must include familiarity with the operation of key punch machines, sorting machines, tabulating machines, and alphabetic equipment. Familiarity with multiplying machines and collators is desirable tho not essential.

Above average experience and business progress will be given consideration in lieu of college training but it is most desirable that candidates have at least two years of college. In addition to education and experience the candidate must, of course, meet the general qualifications outlined in the navy officer qualifications manual. The age limits are 24 to 50, but applicants at either age extreme must be exceptionally well qualified.

Accepted candidates will be given training by the school of business and administration of Babson Institute or with a supply corps officer and then assigned to supervise and control the operation and maintenance of I. B. Ms. for the navy. The commissions range from warrant officer upward, depending upon the candidate's education and professional qualifications. Apply, Office of Naval Officer Procurement, Board of Trade, Chicago.

G. D. R. writes: "It has been rumored around camp that because of changes in army regulations warrant officers are to be employed in types of work heretofore largely done by first and second lieutenants. I intend to apply for the warrant officer examination and would like to know."

ANSWER: There have been several changes in army regulations the general purpose of which is to permit broader use of warrant officers in work previously restricted to commissioned officers. Under new regulations, warrant officers may be given command of stations, units, or detachments when such commands do not include commissioned officers eligible to exercise command. Warrant officers may, for example, be given such duties as officer of the day, unit mess or supply officer, officer of the guard, assistant adjutant general or adjutant's assistant, personnel officer, or they may be charged with responsibility for property, administration, recording, and other routine administrative duties. When assigned to such duties, the warrant officer is vested with all the powers usually exercised by a commissioned officer.

M. A. L. asks: "Are WACs able now to get help from the army emergency relief or is it still restricted?"

ANSWER: The aid of the army emergency relief is available to WACs now that they are a part of the regular army.

YANKEE GAULEITERS.

The AMGOTS appear to be having a fine time in Sicily and no doubt expect to have an even finer one once the island has been cleared of the Nazis. Then there will be nothing to do but rule the natives. To men of a certain type, this prospect may be wholly enchanting.

What ought to happen in Sicily and in every other territory we may occupy is a speedy establishment of republican government. The people should be allowed to organize their own civilian regime, which will command their support because it is of their own choosing. We are supposed to be fighting the war to establish this principle; it is the only principle that Americans find at all tolerable for themselves, and the only one they understand well enough to assist in its organization.

Hitler rules his conquered peoples thru gauleiters or regional tyrants who have all the powers of government and all the authority of government concentrated in their hands. It is a brutal, degrading system that we appear to have copied, and given the fancy title of AMGOT.

A good deal has been published about the schools that have been established in this country for the training of AMGOTS, but the censorship prevents any really thorogoing inquiry into this queer business. Americans have a right to be disturbed over the systematic introduction of alien notions of ruling conquered peoples.

Without all this apparatus we got along very well in conquered Germany after the last war and it seems probable that our occupation was as successful as it was chiefly because none of the officers concerned with civilian affairs fancied himself as a gauleiter or had any ambition to become one. Our army had no more difficulty in its relations with civilian populations in Germany than it had had in France. There is no reason to suppose that common sense and common decency would not work to similarly good effect in conquered Sicily, particularly if it were made clear from the start that our goal is the establishment at the earliest moment of a republican regime.

We have no need for gauleiters abroad, but it is just possible that some people in Washington set up these schools with the thought that the graduates can be used in due time to rule Americans rather than enemy peoples. Stranger things have happened.

THE RIGHT TO A TRIAL.

An Italian-born Philadelphia physician, Dr. Zeffirino Avarse, has been ordered by a three-man military commission to move from the eastern seaboard area. The order was similar to that issued against Mrs. Olga Schueller, a German-born restaurant operator in Philadelphia who is a citizen by naturalization. Like the doctor, she has appealed to the federal court for protection.

In each case the defendant was summoned before the military board and asked to give information. They were not told the nature of the charges against them. They were not allowed to face the witnesses who may have testified against them or to cross-examine those witnesses. They were not given the right of counsel.

Martial law has not been proclaimed in Philadelphia, and in the present military circumstances there can be no such proclamation. Accordingly, the army has no right to try civilians and sentence them to expulsion. To do so is an outright violation of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

The army is properly anxious to protect this nation against enemies within and without, but the army and its commander in chief must obey the Constitution they are sworn to defend.

COMMITTEES CAN'T LEAD.

The Associated Press reports that three high ranking American officers were rescued from their sinking ship at the opening of the Munda operation. It identifies them as "Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commanding United States army forces in the South Pacific, and Rear Admirals R. K. Turner and T. S. Wilkinson, jointly commanding amphibious operations in the South Pacific."

If we read this aright, a situation exists that will bear further investigation. It is our understanding that Gen. MacArthur is in command in this area, and that Vice Adm. Halsey, in command of the navy, is subject to his orders and is cooperating with him fully. The three officers mentioned are apparently subordinate commanders in this particular area. However, joint command amounts to command by a committee, which is no way to win battles. If differences of any sort between army and navy have led to this dangerous dispersion of authority, it should be stopped at once.

PUT THEM TO WORK.

A total of 106,000 persons of Japanese ancestry were moved from the Pacific coast after war was declared. Elmer L. Shirrell, Chicago war relocation director, has announced that only 15,000 of them, or 14 per cent, have been released from relocation camps and given jobs.

A simultaneous announcement from Washington said that 95,539 prisoners of war, 87 of them Japanese and the rest Germans and Italians, are now being held in this country. Some of these prisoners have been employed on farms and on public construction, but the actual number at work has not been announced.

Here is a pool of more than 200,000 persons, most of them husky youths in the prime of life. Our most serious man power shortage is in farm labor. There should be a concentrated effort to employ as many of these men as possible on our farms right now. Numbers of them could also be put into the woods to cut timber. They will have little opportunity to commit subversive acts on farms or in the forests, and most of them are better fitted for agricultural work than for any other kind of employment.

The interned Japanese are being investigated thoroly before they are turned out of relocation camps. The 14 per cent who have been put to work so far is a very small slice of the total.

Some authorities maintain that prisoners of war cannot be compelled to take private employment against their will, but all are agreed that prisoners are free to do such work if they feel like it. It is natural that they should want to work, because of the extra pay they would receive and because any healthy man abhors idleness.

Of course every care must be used to guard civilians and the government against any harm from reëmployed Japanese or working German and Italian prisoners. But these safeguards should prove no insurmountable hurdle. Danger can be minimized by close supervision and by good treatment and friendly education. If the government will concentrate on getting these men to work on farms, instead of feeding them in idleness, all of us will have more food to eat.

MR. MEDILL ON THE MILLIONAIRES.

Joseph Medill, editor of THE TRIBUNE, was in Niagara Falls on Aug. 5, 1888, when he sat down to write a letter to his fellow Republican, Shelby M. Cullom, who was then campaigning in Illinois for the first of his four terms in the United States senate.

"About 2,000 millionaires run the policies of the Republican party and make its tariffs," said Mr. Medill in this letter. "What modifications will they permit the Republican senators to support? We other 30 millions of Republicans will have precious little voice in the matter. Turn this over in your mind, and you will see that I am right."

What Mr. Medill remarked as true 55 years ago has largely been true ever since. The voting strength of the party has for a generation been in the middle west, where the light of independence burns brightest. The greatest handicap that the party has had to carry has been the eastern millionaire-politicians who have unceasingly sought to direct its policies to serve their ends.

The Republican party has found its strength among the thrifty and ambitious. Its rank and file have never considered it shameful to earn a million dollars. What they have considered shameful and what they have on occasion been constrained to apologize for when present in their midst are men who, having accumulated wealth, or inherited it, have proved wanting in loyalty to the country that yielded it.

Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy is cut to measure for these half-Americans. He has captured them and thru his pro-consul, Mr. Willkie, he is attempting to annex the Republican party, in which they pretend to an influence far beyond what they possess.

Some of these emissaries of betrayal will be present when the party's post-war advisory council meets early next month at Mackinac Island. The other members of the council know them well, and know also that the tide of Americanism never ran stronger in the nation than it does today. Any one who attempts to betray the party in the Mackinac discussions can expect swift reprisals from the voters to whom he is responsible.

OPA—JUDGE, JURY, HANGMAN.

[Wellsboro (Pa.) Gazette.]

The close attention which Williamsport OPA inspectors have been giving Tioga county in the "pleasure driving" ban enforcement, despite the county's small population compared with the other counties of the district, is reported to be due to the fact that the Williamsport OPA office believes this county to be the "worst" in the district in violating the ban.

This week representatives of the OPA office held their own hearings here in the absence of the chairman of the rationing board's gasoline panel. If Tioga county is considered the "worst" in the eyes of the OPA, we believe Tioga Countians have a right to ask several questions.

Why, after OPA inspectors have been spending every week-end in the county, with hotel expense accounts of $8 a day each, at the taxpayers' expense, could they bring—even with the help of state and local police—only 13 cases to a hearing?

Why, with the OPA itself conducting the hearings, were they forced to exonerate six of those 13 cases?

Why, if Tioga county motorists are so "bad," did they have to impose penalties in the cases of trifling violations?

Why did they have to revoke a man's gasoline rations for more than four months when he had done nothing more, in the words of the official report, than this: "He drove about two blocks out of his way"?

Why was an almost identical case which came before the same hearing dismissed?

Why was a penalty imposed on a car owner who testified his car was taken without his knowledge or consent, when a case with almost identical circumstances was dismissed a short time ago? In the present case the owner was told he can have his rations back if he can find out who had the car and prove he had a right to have it out. In the name of common sense, if the driver had it out without its owner's consent, how can the latter prove he had a right to have it?

Why, after OPA inspectors drive hundreds of miles back and forth from Williamsport, did they penalize a woman who drove a fraction of a mile out of her way by entering the Mansfield fair grounds instead of parking outside and walking in?

As long as America remains a democracy the taxpayers, who support the OPA, have a right to ask these questions. And what's more, they have a right to have them answered.

MR. PEPYS ON LAUNDRIES.

14th Aug.—Had a shock the other day when my laundry man came to break the bad news that his establishment had collapsed and gone out of business. Began to feel the pinch of war time in my very soul, for I had heard that joining a new laundry these days was impossible. In a panic, made hasty plans to emigrate to Guadalcanal, our new possession in the South Seas, where the boys go without shirts all the time, according to the pictures in the papers.

So I went to a wailing wall and knocked my head against it and beat my breast, chanting the while, "This would happen to me of all men, who has been a faithful customer of that laundry for 34 years and never lost a shirt. A large part of my life has been spent in doing up bundles for it, and mailing checks to it, and preventing my dogs from biting its drivers, and now it has fallen and I know not where to turn."

My lamentations, more pitiful than Job's, were interrupted by a clattering of feet on the back stairs and savage roars from my dog, giving her "Down with all laundry men" battle cry. And lo, at the door, stood another laundry man, beaming and smiling.

"I have drawn your name in the new account sweepstakes," he said, "and will be glad to handle your business as usual, altho underwear and pajamas must go as wet wash and will not be ironed because of priorities, and shortages, and what not."

So I surrendered myself as a prisoner of war and lottery prize to him with rejoicings, full of hope for the next 34 years of clean linen.

Have been oppressed by the sultry weather and could find no merriment in life, and am envious of Mr. Churchill's vacation at Quebec, where the northern air is refreshing. Thought this was the dullest week of my life until a friend had the happy idea of giving a totem pole party in his back yard as a substitute for unnecessary travel to Alaska.

THE ORPHAN CUFF LINK.

She was wacky before she joined the WACs;
Phantasies parked in her dome.
When she gave me her cuff link to bring back
To its mate she kept at home,
I was certain she was wacky enough
To do folks no end of harm.
My mistake. That cuff link has done its stuff
And become my lucky charm.
Wherever I fly, over land or sea,
The gremlins never forget
That the WAC back home is counting on me
Not to spoil her cuff link set.
So when all goes well and my luck holds out,
And I manage to get back,
I'll gratefully say, with no trace of doubt:
"Thanks to you, wee wacky WAC!"

Legend of a Lottery Ticket.

A while ago our commercial club held a raffle to raise funds for charity. Poultry, preserves, bric-a-brac, antiques, and other items had been donated to serve as prizes. I was not present at the drawing, but learned that I had won a China pigeon. I thought it was some rare, imported breed.

I had always longed to possess a flock of pigeons, and as I knew that one of them draws others I set out to provide a suitable loft. I ordered lumber, drinking fountains, automatic feeders, and other appliances, and hired a carpenter to transform the attic of my garage into a first class dovecote.

After he had finished I presented my ticket to the committee. My mouth opened and my eyes popped out when they handed me a china pigeon like the one my grandmother had used as a butter dish.

NIGHT IN AUGUST.

The August heat is here once more.
No breeze at night thru window, door.
You twist, and turn, and wonder when
The clock will strike the hour again.
Each detail of the day's routine
Recurs to you. And mind so keen
Drags forth old memories you thought dead,
Of places, people, things once said,
Until at last you fall asleep,
And only dreams their vigils keep.

Be Thou beside him, Lord, in distant lands;
He is so young, and oceans are so wide:
His nights and days are safe within Thy hands
With Thee his certain and unfailing guide.
In the battle heat, or the lull that comes
In the lonely dawn, Lord, speak to him still;
Teach him the courage like conquering drums,
Grant him high vision and Thy steadfast will.
Mine were his childish years; give him to know
These go with him yet—the hopes of his youth,
The bright joys of home he learned long ago,
The old, simple ways of honor and truth.
And in the victory, Father, impart
The mercy whose love exalteth the heart.

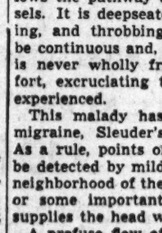
DISTRESSING PAIN FROM FACIAL NERVES.

PAIN about the head and face [neuralgia] has always been a puzzle. The nerve most commonly involved is the fifth, or trigeminal, which makes its exit from the skull in front of the ear and is distributed to the region about the eye and the upper and lower jaws.



The ailment—tic douloureux—is most distressing. When an attack comes it is incapacitating. All the superlatives in the English language are employed to describe the agony.

The onset is characterized by flashing, shooting, darting, stabbing manifestations. In the beginning, the seizure is not prolonged and, between paroxysms, the victim is well. Later, however, the bouts become not only more frequent but of longer duration. When severe, intervals of freedom may be short.

Most patients are able to designate the exact spot on the face which, when touched, will set off one of these episodes. The very act of taking a swallow of water, chewing, or talking, will pull the figurative trigger—with the ensuing explosion. Because of their fear of eating, many of these unfortunates become weak and undernourished.

Temporary comfort may be obtained by inhaling a few drops of trichlorethylene, sprinkled on a handkerchief or a bit of cotton. The injection of alcohol or cutting the affected branch has been utilized but, in a year or two, recurrence may be observed. Division of a portion of the nerve within the skull offers permanent relief.

There is another type of neuralgia which must be mentioned. It is associated with circulation and pain follows the pathway of the blood vessels. It is deepseated, burning, aching, and throbbing. Soreness may be continuous and, while the victim is never wholly free from discomfort, excruciating torture is rarely experienced.

This malady has many names—migraine, Sleuder's neuralgia, etc. As a rule, points of tenderness can be detected by mild pressure in the neighborhood of the temporal artery or some important channel which supplies the head with nutriment.

A profuse flow of tears, the dripping of water from the nostrils, or nausea and vomiting may accompany the acute stage. Many authorities look upon these signs as allergic in origin because neither operation nor anesthesia will be of value. The attempt to immunize against certain irritants has about as many advocates as any other therapeutic plan. In a few instances, however, large doses of vitamin B, plus nicotinic acid, have been beneficial. In extreme cases, tying off one of the main arteries to the face has been suggested.

We must not forget the relationship of pain to general health and it is important always to make sure that the diet is balanced and that nutrition is at a high level. Sometimes rest and a change of scene will bring improvement. In tic douloureux, we are dealing with a treacherous condition which seems to delight in striking those who are strong.

BABY'S MILK.

Mrs. V. S. writes: When can a baby start drinking raw milk? My youngster is 10 months old and I have been boiling it so far.

REPLY.

If the fluid is clean and has been pasteurized, boiling is no longer essential. Unless you are absolutely certain of the source, however, continue the heating process. At any rate, the mixture should be warmed before feeding.

ATHLETE'S FOOT.

J. M. writes: What are the symptoms of ringworm of the feet? Is there a cure?

REPLY.

Inflammation, resulting in itching, burning, and smarting. The skin between the toes softens and peels, exposing raw surfaces. Send stamped, addressed envelope for leaflet on treatment.

SHAKING HANDS.

G. E. F. writes: What would be the cause of hand tremors?

REPLY.

If trembling is pronounced, a careful investigation of the nervous system is in order. Certain glandular upsets likewise may require study. A toxic thyroid, for example, may be responsible. Minor symptoms may result from too much tea, coffee, or tobacco.

AN EQUABLE CLIMATE.

Mrs. K. R. writes: Would the climate of California be of benefit to one with a rheumatic heart?

REPLY.

The main objective is to avoid undue effort. A region devoid of sudden changes in temperature is advised.

GO TO IT.

M. J. R. writes: How soon after taking ether can I get a permanent wave?

REPLY.

As soon as fortitude permits—from a few days to a few weeks.

INDISPENSABLE?

Front Views & Profiles

By MARCIA WINN

Surprised Scholar.

The University of Chicago Press had a little tea the other afternoon for the man who knows half the Bible better than any one in the world. We refer to Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed, and our flat statement about him probably will be contradicted by many who are unaware that Dr. Goodspeed's translation of the New Testament in 1923 was the first translation in hundreds of years made from original Greek manuscripts. Many of these had not been discovered when the 47 men wrote the King James version in 1611, in itself the first English translation made completely from original sources since 1525. Most of the revised editions of the Bible have been revisions of revisions, but Dr. Goodspeed started from scratch, and with a much better knowledge of Greek than earlier translators. He even managed to fix up a good deal of the archaic English, and it turned out that many clerics had been talking for years about little matters of which they were totally in error. For example, the King James version mentions vinegar, and every one conceded vinegar was vinegar and a tart drink at best. Dr. Goodspeed established that this vinegar was wine. A few other changes: "The third hour" is 9 a. m.; "fifty thousand pieces of silver" is $10,000; and "sick of the palsy" is paralytic.

Years later Dr. Goodspeed was sitting in the Town House at Los Angeles reading, just for relaxation, the Apocrypha in the original Greek. He does things like that for fun. As he read, he found himself stuttering with amazement. He was reading something quite new. He hurried to get the 1894 revision of the Apocrypha, pored over it, over the original Greek, and said to himself: "Now, how did any one get this English out of that Greek?" Then dawned upon him what the whole scholarly world had forgotten. The Apocrypha had never been translated from the Greek, but from the German and Latin. This astounded every one, but astounded him more than any one else. One would have thought everything had been done about the Bible, at least 10 times, but never this. So he went ahead and did it.

All in all, Dr. Goodspeed is quite fond of the Bible. He knows it better than he knows his own mind, but sometimes he gets a little sour on his life's work, especially when critics speak disparagingly of his propensity for giving the American equivalent of a good old Elizabethan word like stave. To most people a stave is a stave. To Dr. Goodspeed a stave is a club. "The translation of any masterpiece is bound to be a failure," he says wearily. "People don't like change." Nevertheless, about 500,000 people went for his New Testament in the last 20 years, which is about 100 times as many as went for his one splurge into so-called popular writing, a mystery, "The Curse of the Colophon." The idea for it, by the way, came from the Bible.

Wardog Fashion Note.

From North Africa comes word that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's dog, Telik, has a collar with four stars on it, something like his master's . . . and that the Yanks in Sicily now are singing about the antics of "Filthy Annie from Trapani," forgetting their old inamorata, "Dirty Gertie from Bizerte."

This Changing World.

A notice from the east relates that Gertrude Lawrence's second annual gala evening to benefit the American Theater Wing will be held on Cape Cod on Aug. 27. Lucky ticket holders will win a bicycle, an electric toaster, a roast of beef, and, at a respectful distance, a portrait sketch.

AMERICA'S FIGHT.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 10.—Thank God you are not afraid to raise your voice in America's fight. Millions of true blooded Americans look to you to keep up the fight against our internal enemies. I don't mean alien political refugees who stepped off a boat six months ago and immediately cloaked themselves in constitutional immunity. Heaven help that Washington hive of accented alien theorists when the men get back.

I believe that the Republican party could strengthen its position by advancing under a name that would include "America." These are times of great national devotion. I also believe there is a lot of unhappy Democratic southern strength available thru the use of Mr. Farley and Mr. Garner. Let's have a party whose doors are open to all. These are grave days and only by united effort can we keep America for Americans. W. J.

POKER CHIPS.

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 10.—I note that the OPA is ready to scrap ration books for some sort of plastic tokens. I am sure that the women of the United States do not wish to go to market carrying a bag of poker chips and I am sure that the expense involved in the change and the cost of plastics will be tremendous. This latest waste of taxpayers' money is another step that can be prevented if enough complaint and pressure is applied.

SYNTHETIC PIN-UP GIRL.

Great Lakes, Ill., Aug. 10.—We of the Great Lakes service school viewed with horror your conception of our pin-up girl. The consensus as to the ideal girl among my associates is: Gams like Grable's; shape like Lamour; lips like Lamarr; eyes like Tierney; face like Veronica; hair like Hepburn, and a personality like Goddard.

This is our Diana. We haven't a picture of her but maybe you can oblige.

RETORT COURTEOUS.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—The correct retort courteous to H. Wallace's statement that "The devil and all his angels can't stop the social revolution" he sponsors, is this: The devil won't try to stop it. It was he who started it.

By the way the devil has no "angels"—only more devils. The angels are all voting the other way.

THEOLOGIAN.

"THE SNIPE HUNT."

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Congratulations to Mr. Parrish on his cartoon of Aug. 9, "The Snipe Hunt." Only men approaching 50 years or past can fully appreciate this cartoon. I consider this the greatest cartoon of the season. The moral [or should I say immoral?] of this cartoon will be discussed over many a bridge table. SEA BEE JAY.

FOURTH TERM SLOGAN.

Geneva, Ill., Aug. 7.—Allow me to make a suggestion for a slogan for the coming campaign: "Pigs, Potatoes, Promises." A. L. CARLISLE.

DRAFT DEFERMENTS.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Thousands of men with dependent wives and children, sisters and mothers have been enlisted and drafted into the army in the last year from essential jobs because their employers have been too conscientious to request deferments, and because the men themselves were too patriotic to request it.

This week I have witnessed the cases of three young married men, all with working wives and no children, who have been granted six month deferments from the draft simply because their employers have been reluctant to suffer the inconvenience of breaking in new time clerks and accountants. In one case it is the second deferment for the young man.

Are the draft boards really blind to the absurdity of classing these clerks as "indispensables"? If this is really a democracy, why are not all men being considered equally in the matter of deferments, or nondeferments? Why aren't these office clerks considered on a par with other men whose employers are struggling to carry on without them? A PUZZLED ARMY WIFE.

PURCHASE CONTRACT.

Chicago, Aug. 9 [Legal Friend of the People].—My son purchased a car which has a lien of $290 with a finance company. He paid to the owner $85 down and gave him $25 for the instalment due with the finance company.

1. We learn the contract cannot be transferred since my son is unmarried. He is 19 and I went with him to put my signature on the contract but they would not accept it.
2. Can there be unforeseen trouble securing title if my son sends the instalments as they fall due? He has a bill of sale and receipt for the money.
3. When he mails his next payment will it be all right to have his name on the money order inclosed with the slip from the finance company or must the money order bear the name of the original owner?
4. Will my son be able to get a license in his name if the loan is still in the other man's name? J. A.

1. We do not understand whether you mean a transfer to your son or from your son.
2. In general a minor is entitled to enforce his contract altho minority is a basis for the minor to repudiate the contract, if he so chooses.
3. If you wish to ascertain what would be satisfactory to the creditor, take the matter up with the creditor. It seems probable that the seller will be willing to transfer the title to your son when the payments are completed.
4. The question is whether your son has title to the car rather than in whose name the loan stands.

Boogie-Woogie Party Tonight to Benefit Poetry Magazine

BY JUDITH CASS.

IF THERE'S a pair of still feet tonight at the Saddle and Cycle club, it won't be the fault of the five boogie-woogie artists whom the committee to raise funds for Poetry magazine has engaged to provide a continuous program from 7:30 to 11:30 at its "Midsummer Night's Jam." Forrest Sykes, Meade Lux Lewis, whose "Honky-Tonk Train" is prized by collectors of early boogie-woogie records; Roosevelt Sykes, Robert Crum, and Dorothy Donegan will be there to pound out the sort of music guaranteed to go to one's toes. During the intermission Rudolph Ganz will comment on the art of boogie-woogie.

Reservations for supper, for which the club can accommodate only 325, have been sold out for days, but a much larger crowd is expected for the floor show, outdoor dancing, and swimming. Many supporters of Poetry magazine, including Mrs. Adlai Stevenson, who is here from Washington, D. C., have provided tickets for service men. The August issue of the magazine, devoted exclusively to poets in the army and navy, will be offered for sale by Miss Sally Mitchell, whose mother, Mrs. James H. Mitchell, is one of Poetry's co-editors, and by Miss Ginger Elwood.

Promptly at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow tennis balls will start flying over the courts at the Saddle and Cycle in an invitational mixed doubles tournament which will be the first of its kind sponsored by the club. Teams from the Saddle, the Onwentsia, the Exmoor, the Indian Hill, the Skokie, and the Evanston Tennis club will compete. A buffet supper will be served at the close of the tournament, replacing the club's usual Sunday luncheon.

Here and There.

Miss Sally Raymond's friends are looking forward to meeting her fiance, Ensign N. Peter Rathvon Jr., when he arrives today for a week's visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anan Raymond of Kenilworth, on his way west. The Raymonds will entertain at cocktails this afternoon for their guest, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rathvon of Edgewater Point, Mamaroneck, N. Y. Miss Raymond will be going back to Vassar on Sept. 1 for her junior year.

Sgt. Robert A. Granstrom has arrived from an army air base in Florida to celebrate his first wedding anniversary today with his wife, the former Venita Mangel. Also arriving unexpectedly is Lt. [j. g.] Donald M. Granstrom, who just has returned from Algiers.

Lt. and Mrs. Julian C. Smith Jr. of Evanston are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter on Aug. 3 in Passavant hospital. The baby has been named for her mother, the former Jean Elizabeth McLean of Holland, Mich. Lt. Smith is stationed in Chicago with the naval adviser's office.

Mrs. Hunter Nicol, the former Barbara Baker, and her little daughter, Nancy, have arrived from New Haven, Conn., to be with Mrs. Nicol's mother, Mrs. Ethel K. Baker, in Evanston, for the duration. Mr. Nicol has entered the army and is stationed at Camp Wheeler, Ga. Mrs. Nicol's brother, Lt. Gordon Baker of the army air forces, is in North Africa. Making the trip overseas with him by transport was the widely known French author, André Maurois, with whom Lt. Baker became friends. Lt. and Mrs. Baker recently purchased a house in Phoenix, Ariz., where Mrs. Nicol will go to visit in October. She has not yet met her new sister-in-law.

Week-End Calendar.

On the calendar for this weekend:

Produce from war gardens in Chicago and on the north shore will be shown around a simulated small farm complete with live chickens and picket fence. Music, square dancing and refreshments are on the program.

"A day in the Country" tomorrow, sponsored by the Peacock Camp for Crippled Children to show members of the camp board, associate members, and other friends of the camp the daily camp program in its new home, formerly the estate of the late Augusta W. Lehmann. Guests will bring their own box luncheons.

The annual acquaintanceship tea which the board of the Chicago Wellesley club is giving tomorrow in the Wilmette home of Mrs. Leland V. Pierson for undergraduates and freshmen who will enter Wellesley this fall.

A dance for midshipmen from the naval training school at Northwestern university and junior officers from Great Lakes, Navy pier, Glenview, and other navy offices, tonight at the Belden Stratford hotel, sponsored by the Illinois Club for Catholic Women. Miss Dorothy Fagan, head of the club's U. S. O. committee, is chairman, with 150 young women from Chicago colleges acting as hostesses.

The South Shore Country club's annual fiesta tonight, which will be a Mexican fiesta called Vista La Luna. It will be the largest party of the season.

Miss Mehlig attended the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts and the University of Wisconsin. Her fiancé attended Wenatchee Junior college and the University of Washington. Before returning to Chicago Mrs. Mehlig and her son will spend the remainder of the month at a ranch.

12 Choral Groups Will Join in Music Festival Activities

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Five hundred and twenty-nine men and women are enrolled in 12 choral groups which will first compete next Saturday afternoon and in the evening sing at the 14th annual Chicago Music Festival to be held in Soldiers' field. There are six women's choral organizations and they are scheduled for their competition at noon in the Grand ballroom of the Drake hotel. The six mixed groups will compete at 2 p. m. in the same auditorium. Dr. Edgar Nelson, general choral director of the festival, will be in charge of the competitions.

At the night show the massed mixed choruses will sing "March On, America," composed by Marjorie Elliott, who is coming to Chicago from her home in Oneida, N. Y., for the occasion, and the massed women's choruses will sing "Hymn of Dedication," written by Dr. Edgar Stillman Kelley, who, with his equally famous wife, will be the guests of honor at the festival luncheon to be held Friday noon in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House. Dr. Kelley, dean of American composers, and Mrs. Kelley, former president of the National Federation of Music Clubs, will come to Chicago from Oxford, O., for the festival week-end. Mrs. Elliott formerly lived in Glencoe.

The leaders of the choruses at the festival concert will be the directors of the winning groups at the afternoon competition.

The names of the choruses and their directors are as follows:

MIXED CHORUSES—The Balladiers, William Albach; Carnegie - Illinois, Gary, Harry S. Walsh; Michigan City Y. M. C. A., Walter W. Johnson; Moline, Ill., Youth, Frederick Swanson; Motet Singers, Goshen, Ind., B. F. Hartzler, and the Pullman Choral Society, William F. Bergman.

WOMEN'S CHORUSES—Alice Stephens Singers, Alice Stephens; the Balladiers Ladies, Mr. Albach; Michigan City Y. M. C. A. Girls' Glee club, Mr. Johnson; Parker Women's, Mrs. Grace Humphrey; St. Cecilia Choir of Our Lady of Sorrows church, Miss Bessie Ryan, and the South Works Girls' Glee club, Mr. Walsh.

The public is admitted to the contests at the Drake hotel. Admission is 30 cents, including tax. All the competing choruses will join the festival chorus, directed by Dr. Nelson, in singing Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah, near the close of the three hour entertainment.

Recruiting Drive Emphasizes WAC's Educational Values

BY GLADYS PRIDDY.

Recruiters in the national drive to interest eligible women in joining the women's army corps emphasize the educational opportunities offered by the organization.

The educational opportunities are twofold—travel and training. Capt. Margaret Stewart, head of recruiting in the Illinois district, with offices in room A913 at 175 West Jackson boulevard, summarized this aspect of the WAC yesterday when she said:

"Enrollment is primarily war service. But, at the same time, the individual receives experience and instruction in full value for what she gives. She gets acquainted with America and Americans and perhaps with other countries and their people. She may be sent to army schools to learn skills and practices women never dreamed of knowing before."

An example is the field of radio. Women enrolled in schools in Kansas City, Mo., Newark, N. J., and Hollidaysburg, Pa., are displaying skills which are making them superior to men as radio technicians. Their ability has led one signal corps officer to prophesy that after the war many radio repair shops will be operated by women. Radio trainees, who must pass tone and finger facility tests, go to school for 20 weeks and then do radio repair and installation at air fields, teach radio code, and fill similar assignments.

At Lowry field in Colorado, WACs are receiving expert photography instruction. In a 12 weeks' course they learn every phase of every kind of camera, the chemistry of photography, and the loading of aerial cameras. Afterward they work with mapping groups in the army air forces. A prerequisite for this training is a year in commercial photography or X-ray laboratory or two years as an amateur doing one's own developing and printing.

In army post hospitals, WACs learn at first hand how to be X-ray technicians and surgical and dental assistants. At Camp Holabird, Md., and at WAC training centers, they learn to drive all kinds of army vehicles and to dismantle and reassemble them. In administrative schools they learn how to keep army records, a detailed system that fascinates many former business women.

WACs are taught to do 155 essential army jobs. Much of the specialized training is given at army posts after the WACs have completed their basic training at one of the three centers—Fort Des Moines, Ia., Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., or Daytona Beach, Fla.

Many of the specialist schools require a high school education or its equivalent, but previous experience often makes up for educational deficiencies. However, even the WAC without any particular specialist training still receives an educational experience in her basic training and subsequent service.

The age limits for enrollment in the WAC are 20 to 49, inclusive. Candidates must be American citizens, without children under 14 or other dependents. They also must be able to pass physical and mental alertness tests.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

Plant Apothecary.

Behind a counter in a loop store is a woman with a nice, level gaze; her voice is reassuring, as into her sympathetic ears are poured the joys and sorrows of war time gardening. While she listens she reaches expertly toward the shelf which looks like that of an apothecary and offers a remedy with verbal instructions on how to give vitamin B to a plant . . . how to spray for insects . . . how to use aluminum sulfate to keep Peter Rabbit out of the war garden.

Horticulturist.

She speaks of plants as tho they were persons. "A fern likes to keep its foot in water," I overheard her remark in advising a customer to put a potted fern into a bath tub once a week. She has a feeling for growing things and their struggles as well as a feeling for the grower and his struggles. And she understands the elation of the grower when buds begin to appear. "He feels like a creator," she said, "he never gives the seed credit. . . . He did it!"

Her experience in horticulture covers a lot of ground: California and its roses, Texas and its rice fields, the Dakotas and their wheat fields, and our Illinois corn fields.

Amateur Gardener.

Her work now is engrossing, concerned as it is primarily with the amateur war gardener. On the whole, gardeners can be divided into three classes, she believes; the experienced farmer, who finds no particular glamor in his job, but takes it all as sunup to sundown routine; the plant fancier, who had time—and money—to raise things long before the war time garden boom set neighbors to digging of a Sunday morning, and last, the amateur, the raw recruit to the great army of war gardeners, "eager to learn, wanting to know about everything and learning a good deal about neighborliness," she admitted.

We Need Our Gardens.

"After all," she said, "men are only doing what they have wanted to do since they were little boys digging in the back yard. Now they have the chance. Dignified citizens walk into the store any day with a package of dirt to be analyzed; an immaculately groomed woman carries a carton of bugs to be identified; a city-bred young woman asks for 'a hoe . . . or a moe' . . . and is not sure which!

"This awakening to gardening—it's like the renewal of life that comes to a stodgy household thru the arrival of a grandchild. We need our gardens now when there is no peace of mind for us."

Truly she knows there is no peace. She has a son in the South seas who sailed on the first transport.

New Covering Will Give You New Umbrella

BY REA SEEGER.

Most of us are saving tin and other metals these days, in coöperation with the continuous campaign to salvage scrap for war materials. Among the items we can very well save—each for his own benefit—are the ribs and metal skeletons of umbrellas, inasmuch as the umbrella makers have developed some new ideas in coverings for them.

So, hang on to your old umbrellas, and strip them clean of the old tattered covers. The ribs will survive at least a couple or even a half dozen recovering jobs and these new covers are now available. Vivid plaids, checks, stripes, solid colors combined with band patterns in contrast designs and colors, big and tiny floral designs, dots of all sizes and every known color shade or tint are featured in these extra cover showings. You pick out the color you need for contrast or harmony, pay your money and, presto . . . a new umbrella! Prices are modest and there are some covers costing more that are well worth the extra money. The covers will fit only a 16 rib metal skeleton. They come with instructions on how to put them in place.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

New ranking SPARS officer in the Chicago district is Lt. [j. g.] Frances H. Dillon, in charge of personnel at headquarters, room 324, 610 South Canal street. "It is a great challenge," she said of her new post, "and I am looking forward to discharging the responsibilities of the job assigned to me." Lt. Dillon joined the SPARS because she wanted her family to be represented in the fighting services, and no male member is able to enlist.

Lt. Frances H. Dillon

A graduate of the SPARS officer training program at the Coast Guard academy, New London, Conn., Lt. Dillon held two posts before assuming her new one here. She was senior officer at the United States Naval Training school for storekeepers at Bloomington, Ind., after temporary duty at Hunter college, New York City, which at that time was an indoctrination center for SPARS.

Lt. Dillon is replacing Lt. [j. g.] Maritta Palmer, who has been assigned to a new post at Boston, Mass. As assistant personnel officer for SPARS in the Chicago district, which embraces parts of Michigan, Wisconsin, and Illinois, Lt. Dillon will have charge of the welfare and recreation of enlisted SPARS under her jurisdiction.

Her home town is Peoria, Ill. She was educated at the College of Wooster, Wooster, O.; took graduate work in physical education at Wellesley college, Wellesley, Mass., for two years, and received her master's degree in physical education at the University of Wisconsin.

Before enlisting in the SPARS, Lt. Dillon was director of physical education for women at Bradley Polytechnic institute in Peoria for 12 years, and also had taught at Pomona college, Clarement, Cal.

Mrs. Arthur H. Spiegel, chairman of the Red Cross nurses' aid corps, has announced that the first three day a week training course for volunteers to be held on the north shore will begin on Monday and last thru Sept. 29. Designed primarily for housewives, the course will consist of 85 hours of classroom and practical training.

Special hospitality has been planned for women in uniform tomorrow at the service men's center in Lincoln Park, Fullerton avenue at the lake front. Service women always are welcome at all the Chicago centers, but this is to be an event to which WACs, WAVES, SPARS, and women marines have been especially invited.

The program will begin at 9 a. m. and end at midnight. Tournaments in miniature golf, ping pong, croquet, and "pepper the axis" will be held thruout the day, with prizes being awarded. There will be a "splash" party on the beach, with suits, towels, and checking facilities free. A stage show and tea dancing are other features of the program.

International House Fete.

International house at the University of Chicago will hold a soirée at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow in its home room. Members of the alumni association will assume the host and hostess rôle.

A Robin Helps Out Symphony on Sultry Night

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

An inquisitive robin attended the Chicago Symphony orchestra's second Grant park concert under the direction of Hans Lange, pecking at imaginary worms in the pavement before the band shell and hopping under human feet as blithely as if they had been so many rose bushes. This unexpected evidence of trust in mankind cheered up everybody, including the players, who looked more wilted than they permitted their music to sound.

Considering the weather and the temperamental quirks of Grant park acoustics, last night's was an attractive concert. Mr. Lange chose Beethoven's Second Symphony as his major work, giving it a firm and yet resilient performance that reached its peak of tonal blandishment in the lovely larghetto. The horns had some bad moments, but it must have been unbearably warm at the rear of the shell, and it was difficult to stir up anything but admiration for a musician who could play at all.

The concert opened in typical style with Wagner's Overture to "The Flying Dutchman," but after intermission it veered to the "Pop" repertory, with Herbert's "Irish Rhapsody," Massenet's ballet music from "Le Cid," and Rossini's Overture to "William Tell," not played by the orchestra at a subscription concert in more than half a century. At least the middle section of the "Irish Rhapsody" was persuasive enough to land on any program. The dark love song, all curves and murmurous languor, was bewitchingly played by Mr. Vito's harp and Mr. Kurtz's cello, swung troubadour fashion over the rocking cradle of the lower strings.

Movie for Children.

"Bring 'Em Back Alive," movie by the animal collector, Frank Buck, will be presented in two free performances for children at 10 a. m. and 11 a. m. next Thursday at the Field museum.

Thru the Looking Glass

Any co-ed counselor will tell the girl going to college that excessive or exotic makeup on the campus is considered too, too naive. The smoothies limit theirs, by day at least, to a dusting of powder and bright coating of lipstick.

But the lipstick shade is important. You don't wear the same shade with every blessed thing you pull out of your clothes closet; you choose each day the shade that harmonizes with or dramatizes the color you're wearing.

To help the youngsters, one of the great beauty specialists has listed four tones that give a glamorous accent with a wide range of costume shades. These four will constitute a lipstick wardrobe that might profitably be tucked into every school girl's beauty case.

One is a pure red with a slight, almost imperceptible undertone of yellow. It's the snap color for browns and greens, two popular costume colors that can be dreary or dramtic, depending on makeup.

The second is a completely different red, a glowing, vibrant tone that is a softly vivid accent with blues, grays, black, white, and red.

The third is a natural shade of rose, soft and universally becoming. It's a shade for wear with your "pretty" colors, like the pastels and muted tones.

The fourth is a bright shade with a high pinkish note that does the right things for your face under night lights.

It seems to us that with these four your lipstick shade problem is just about solved.

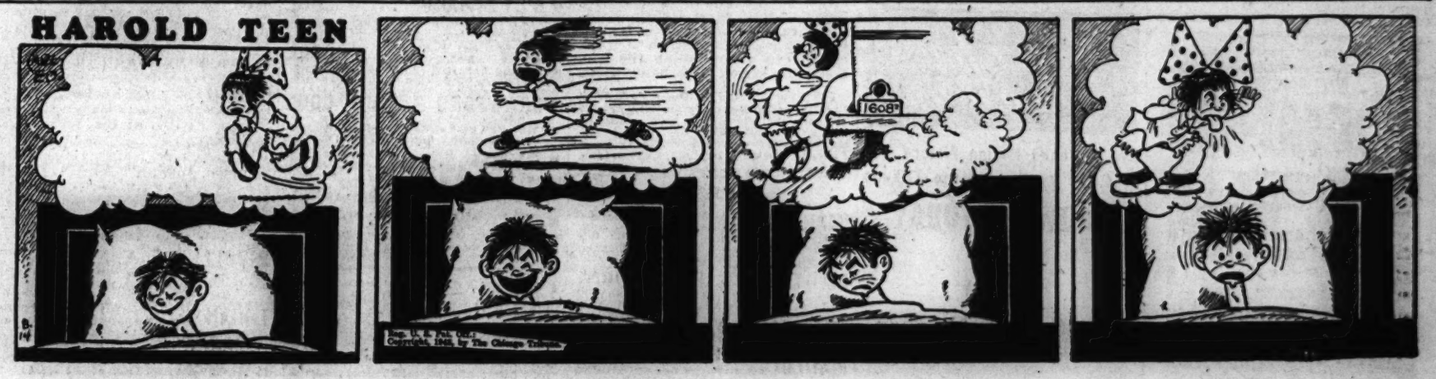
HAROLD TEEN



Looking at Hollywood . . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 13.—In spite of the fact that Ida Lupino doesn't want to play any more cockneys, Hal Wallis hopes she'll change her mind and do the cockney part with Bette Davis in "The Corn Is Green." . . . Dudley Nichols and Jean Renoir were about to buy the script of "The Life of Napoleon" from Charlie Chaplin for Charles Laughton, but gave up the idea when they couldn't get Laughton. . . . The day Capt. John Huston left for overseas, Olivia de Havilland couldn't come to work. Too heartbroken. . . . That canny lassy, Sonja Henie, bought the Norman Taurog home, which cost him $200,000, for $90,000. . . . Paulette Goddard took Rita Hayworth's place in Orson Welles' wonder show last night, and what a cheer, she got. She, too, is making a picture, but she's working for Paramount—not Harry Cohn. . . . Tommy Dorsey and band signed for "Command Performance," which was written as "Four Jills and a Jeep."

Facts.

The rumor that Pvt. Jack Briggs used pull to be stationed here so as to be near Ginger Rogers is a lot of bilge. Comdr. Jack Bolton gave me the real lowdown. Comdr. Bolton requested that the marines let him have Briggs to help arrange camp entertainments, also act as technical adviser on "Marine Raiders." Bolton also told me about Virginia de Borg, who joined the navy as a WAVE—to see the world. Her first assignment was an interview with Mark Sandrich, who wanted some navy data—which couldn't be funnier, because for the last seven years Virginia has been Sandrich's secretary. . . . I've waited in vain for some group here to arrange memorial services for the late Leslie Howard, Nothing's happened. So how about reissuing some of his pictures? There was a fine man—also actor.

Mother Knows Best.

Dixie Crosby was asked to launch Liberty ship S. S. Nathaniel Crosby, named for Bing's great-grandfather. Dixie wouldn't go without Bing, who's working. So Mother Crosby will do the honors in Oregon, Aug. 31. . . . Since Dorothy Gish is playing Mrs. Otis Skinner in "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," she wrote Cornelia: "From now on, I expect you to call me 'mamma'." . . . A friend of mine, passing the station in Pasadena and seeing the crowds, said, "O, who's coming—Churchill?" "Naw—Sinatra!" She, being an old fashioned lady, asked, "Who's he?" . . . Veronica Lake's put on 15 pounds since the birth of her baby, is rarin' to go, but hasn't yet made up her mind in which direction.

Dorothy Gish.

Marines Landed.

A couple of marines watched scads of women trying to crowd into a parade of hats show. I talked to them later and one asked, "Do women actually fight to wear things like that?" "Sure. Isn't this a beauty I've got on my head?" The marine muttered, "Looks like a bunch of spaghetti wired for sound." . . . The boys [not marines] have gone into fantasy this year. I warn you now, girls, you can't do over your last year's lid. Loretta Young was there buying like mad. Mrs. Jimmy Pendleton fell in love with a scarf. Didn't even wait to have it wrapped. . . . Adrian, en route to New York with Jack Wilson, stopped off and spent the week-end with the Alfred Lunts on their farm in Wisconsin. Adrian tells me Alfred is a real farmer. Gets up at 6 a. m. He actually saw him churn [by hand] 16 pounds of butter.

Hearts Were Young and Gay.

Trust a couple of men to bring out the gang. Fred Sammis and Paul Hesse did, for cocktails at Paul's spacious studio. Sammis admired Cary Grant's shirt and tie, and I thought Cary was going to take it off and give it to him. Janet Blair with her mother. We three old Altoona girls got together. Introduced Lon McAllister to Diana Lynn. Gosh! I wish some one would co-star those two. They're just about the sweetest young couple I've ever met. Helmut Dantine told me he had a great visit with his wife, Gwen Anderson, in Reno. Said real trouble is not only their long separation, but fact that she has a family to take care of, and he's trying desperately to bring his folks over from Europe.

"Luck of the Devil"

By Elizabeth York Miller

Copyright: 1943: by Elizabeth York Miller

SYNOPSIS: Before escaping into a craft, after the siege of Dunkirk, from which he comes thru without a scratch, Ronnie Banks rifles the person of a lifeless figure. On his arrival in London he evades his comrades, visits a tea shop, and goes thru the note cases taken from the unknown man left on the beach. He finds money, a card with an intriguing address and letters, and immediately takes possession of Alan Conyer's flat and identity. He engages in a romance with a wealthy Argentine widow, Maria de Santos, who lives next door. He pays a visit to his mother, who adores him, and learns of the death of his son. Maria suggests an early marriage and that they live in Argentina.

INSTALMENT VI.

DESERTER SOUGHT.

Ronnie suggested to Maria that they should wait to be married until they reached her country. But this she would not hear. Outwardly—while freely proclaiming that she was affianced to "Mr. Alan Conyers"—Maria de Santos observed a strict etiquette.

As "only a bird in a gilded cage" may irk at its luxurious restrictions, Ronnie Banks the lucky, the hitherto free-as-air, was beginning to feel cramped and stifled.

One afternoon, when his fledgling mustache was about 10 days old, he had the unexpected chance of a few hours' freedom. Maria had ordered a vast number of new dresses, and such, for her trousseau, and these garments were now due for a fitting. Ronnie flatly refused to accompany her to the house of fashion, and went to Leytonstone to see his mother.

Mum, of course, wouldn't know that it was a really farewell visit, and that she would not see him again until or if he could contrive to arrange for her to come out to the Argentine, so he had to be careful not to make the gifts he brought her too lavish, or appear too concerned, himself, when the moment came for their final parting.

He tapped his familiar tattoo on the door.

When she opened the door, he knew at once that something unpleasant had happened.

Poor Mum had seemed to shrink to half her former size—small and wizened and terrified she looked—as she seized him by the arm, hastily drawing him inside.

Already sharply aware of his danger, the young adventurer felt his bones turn to water as he bade her tell him quickly what was afoot.

No, it was not Goldie—she hadn't been here again; if anything, it was considerably worse than Goldie, the military police, in fact.

"They came twice, my boy," quavered Mum, "and asked all sorts of nasty questions. They said you was a deserter, and they looked all over the house, surmising I might've hid you away somewhere."

"And what did you tell them?" demanded Ronnie, prepared to be ruthless with her.

"I swore as I'd never set eyes on you," his faithful Mum replied. "I said I didn't even know as you was in the army, that all I knew was you'd gone away somewhere to look for work. And I said I was as worried as to what had become of you as what they were. I said I was sure you was dead, or I would've heard something from you."

Dead; that was an idea; if only he could furnish some proof of his death, which the authorities would find acceptable. He'd need to think that over.

No, they hadn't found those postcards he had sent her from France, she said. After their first visit she destroyed them. Nor had they even looked into the suitcase of clothes he had left with her. It was only yesterday they had paid their second visit, and it was Goldie's address they wanted. She confessed that she was obliged to give it to them.

"I'd just got out the card you gave me with your new name and where to find you on it, and was thinking I'd best go along to the postoffice and telephone you, when you came, son," Mum said. "I'm glad you came when you did, for my heart's been hurting me something shocking, and I mistrust if I could have managed to get there. Anyway, I'm bad on the telephone, as you know, and likely to get into a muddle."

Ronnie was beginning to recover his nerve. He put his arms around his mother, gave her a good hug and made her sit down while he went to fetch the brandy she kept for her bad heart attacks.

He had his story all ready. It was, briefly, to the effect that even the army authorities had been kept in the dark as to the great importance of the secret service work with which his country had seen fit to entrust him. Of course those mugs thought he was a deserter. Mum had given them exactly the right answers.

Mum—who would have given those same answers in any case—swallowed his flimsy explanation whole, as was usual. Between the brandy and the gifts he had brought her, and her reinforced pride in him, she flushed happily and mopped away her tears.

"And look here, Mum," he said earnestly, drawing up his chair and taking her hands in his, "it's on the cards I'll have to go abroad again. That's why I took a chance on coming down here today. Maybe you won't hear from me for a matter of months—but you're not to worry on that account. Promise me you won't worry, Mum." He really meant that.

"No, I won't worry, son. I pray for you every night, and I know you're safe in God's care."

"That's the ticket, Mum. Now as I was just telling you—Strewth, who's that!"

He jumped to his feet, knocking the chair over backward, as a vigorous rat-tat sounded on the front door.

"I don't know," she quavered.

"Well, I'm off! Take your time in answering it. Or better still, don't answer it at all."

He knew his way out, over the wall of the little back garden and into the alleyway behind. Years before he had knocked iron footholds into the masonry, hidden conveniently by a mantle of woodbine and ivy, for his secret comings and goings while his parents slept. In less than two minutes he was off and well away.

For a moment or so poor Mum sat half dazed where Ronnie had left her, but the knocking still continued and finally she got up, righted the chair he had overthrown, and forced herself to go to the door.

On the neatly whitened step stood a resolute looking young woman in a checked jacket and skimpy skirt, with a rather rakish tam crowning her turbulent yellow curls, and high heeled pumps on her well formed feet.

"O—it's only you, Goldie!" exclaimed the old woman, with a gasp of relief.

"Who did you think it was?" demanded Goldie.

"Come in," said Mum.

"Where's Ronnie?" said her daughter-in-law, after she had closed the door.

Mum gave another gasp, but not of relief this time. "Why—why, how should I know?" she countered feebly.

"I thought you might," said Goldie, following her into the sitting room, where the scent of Ronnie's cigaret still burdened the air. "The military cops called on me yesterday, but I told 'em that the last place they'd find him was with me. They said they'd been here already. Maybe they didn't come the right day."

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

"I never fully appreciated the meaning of the phrase 'between the devil and the sea' until I played with Blank," said a prominent expert, very mournfully. "If I leave him alone in the contract that he jumps to like a rabbit, down he goes; if I take him out to a contract he can make, he bids a slam and down he goes again."

All of us, to our distress, know just what the expert meant. Here is a sample of the "jack rabbit's" work.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	NORTH ♠ None ♥ 964 ♦ A J 9 6 2 ♣ 8 7 4 3 2
WEST ♠ A 10 8 5 3 2 ♥ 7 5 3 2 ♦ 5 4 ♣ 9		EAST ♠ J 9 7 6 ♥ A 10 8 ♦ Q 10 7 3 ♣ K Q
	SOUTH ♠ K Q 4 ♥ K Q J ♦ K 8 ♣ A J 10 6 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
4 no trump	Pass	5 clubs	Pass
6 clubs[!]	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass

North and South were not using any 4 no trump convention, hence North's response to South's actual 4 no trump bid was not ace-showing or ace-denying; it was merely the cheapest bid available. North "knew his partner" as a highly ebullient bidder and was not disposed to give him any encouragement. At the same time, however, North, with 5-5-3 distribution, was understandably reluctant to accept a no trump contract.

South, giving the fullest rein to his wishful thinking, took North's repeated club raising to indicate far greater strength than North's bidding had implied. As South later explained, he had felt that North's action in going past the 3 no trump level was a tacit announcement that North could well afford to play for 11 tricks in a minor suit, and to South this meant that North "must have a couple of aces." Obviously the thought that North might simply have an overwhelming dislike of no trump and a desire to play at only 11 tricks, never even occurred to South.

The six club contract never had a chance. West opened the spade ace, and the dummy ruffed, declarer later could not avoid the loss of a heart and a trump.

The pertinence of North's observation that he had been caught between the devil and the sea is manifest in the fact that 3 no trump would have been severely trounced on the lead of a low spade by West.

Summer Gives Child Time for Hobbies

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

For most children and teen-age boys and girls this is a busy summer. Farm work, attending summer school to catch up on a "condition," part time jobs and participation in some kind of war activity have meant more occupations than usual.

But all children are not always busy. At about this time in the vacation stretch, idleness overtakes many of them; and with it, boredom. Children, in either city or country, do not necessarily find activities that keep them happily occupied. Also some time should be spent quietly in very hot weather.

In addition, the leisure that comes to older children during vacation gives them time to find new interests, to follow hobbies, and to develop latent talents. It is with all this in mind, especially now as vacation gets well along, that I am going to list some enjoyable ways in which young people can spend their leisure hours.

First, last, and always there are books.

In the arts there are drawing and painting with charcoals, pastels, pencil oils, water colors, tempera, dry point etching, linoleum cuts, wood cuts.

Here are further suggestions:

Carpentry and cabinet making.

The making of models—airplane and ship models.

Making collections of various sort, such as stamps and coins.

Special knowledge of birds, reptilians or other animals,

Various kinds of handcraft, such as weaving, sewing and so forth.

Walking trips to discover one's own city.

Knitting and crocheting.

Making a scrapbook of the fine war maps some papers and magazines issue.

Dancing.

Photography.

Having and caring for pets.

A hobby may have a great bearing on your child's future. Aid him in finding one.

Good Morning!

This war picture dramatizes again the adventures and achievements of the gallant men of the United States merchant marine as they convoy cargoes to the fighting fronts.

It is of familiar pattern and full of action that would be more potent had there not been so much repetition. The film is more than two hours and drags wearisomely in spots.

Outstanding situations are a Nazi wolk pack's attack on the convoy and the ruse employed by Humphrey Bogart in luring a pursuing U-boat to the surface and destroying it. Mr. Bogart's portrayal of quiet, casual, kindly, tremendously efficient First Mate Rossi is the best characterization — tho Alan Hale, Ruth Gordon, Sam Levene, and Dick Hogan play up well in minor roles. . . . Raymond Massey, I thought, rather Abraham Lincolnized his role of Capt. Jarvis.

The film has some laughs. A sailor announces: "I have faith in God, President Roosevelt, and the Brooklyn Dodgers"—which didn't get much response—and the President's voice is accompaniment for the finale.

See you tomorrow.

Club Women Prepare War Service Plans

An ambitious program for the forthcoming year was presented at the season's opening meeting of the war service committee of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, held yesterday at federation headquarters. Mrs. Charles Stigman, chairman, prefaced the reports of her other subchairman with a brief outline of the committee goal.

Thru its various departments, the committee expects to assist in providing recreational and housing facilities for young women who are strangers in the city; to aid in solving the juvenile delinquency problem, and to help build morale and health in the community.

A bomber campaign is to be adopted as a national federation project, with an expected purchase by each state organization, between Oct. 1 and Nov. 15, of $300,000 in war bonds for the purchase of a bomber.

Mrs. H. W. Hartough, who heads the friendly aid and recreation department, announced that, with a view to helping combat the housing problem, a registry is to be set up at federation headquarters thru which women government employes may exchange references with landlords. Dr. Adelaide Doolittle Hoefel, of public welfare and nurse recruiting, presented a plan of awarding scholarships to aid high school graduates who want to take up nursing.

With an increase expected in blindness as a result of the war, Mrs. O. O. Olson's department plans to conduct classes each Friday in Braille transcription. Mrs. Harry Daughtrey will be instructor.

On Sunday, Sept. 26, the committee will give its first party of the season for service men. A buffet supper is being sponsored at the USO center at 131 South Wabash under the chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur Bergbom, and Mrs. Harry Raymond.

Mrs. Ines T., Chicago—I've found it is hard on nice dishes to plunge them from hot to cold water—they don't stand up under too sudden temperature changes. And since my cupboard shelves are next an outside wall, I never, in winter time, take plates from them and place them in the oven to warm.

Marjorie T., Des Moines, Ia.—Here's an every day mixture I've found a big help in removing mildew from colored garments. I mix powdered starch, soft soap, salt, and the juice of a lemon. The material should be rubbed on both sides with this mixture and put out in the sunlight.

Anna M., Peoria, Ill.—I like my teapot to be hot before I make tea, so to save time and trouble I just put it atop my uncovered tea kettle, where it can rest while the water for tea is coming to a boil.

ADMITS SLAYING TWIN BOYS, 13, FOR 'HECK OF IT'

Ex-Mental Patient, 17, Tells Attack on 3d Child.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 13 [Special].—The slaying of two young twin brothers was disclosed today when a 17 year old former patient of a psychopathic ward took police to the scene and confessed he shot the two "just for the heck of it."

The prisoner, Henry Hagert, also confessed a sex attack Wednesday on Jack Buchanan, 9 year old son of E. B. Buchanan, city food inspector. The Buchanan boy yesterday had been found dazed and bleeding in a field near Westlake village.

The twins were James and Charles Collins, 13, sons of G. C. Collins, a construction company employe. They had left home yesterday morning to go to the Lakewood Country club in Westlake Village, where they were caddies.

Bodies Found in Field.

Their bodies, each shot once in the head, were found 300 yards apart in a field in suburban Bay Village.

The attacks gave impetus to demands recently raised over the large number of mental defectives being released here from overcrowded institutions. Mayor Frank J. Lausche appointed a committee which will meet tomorrow to study the situation.

The confessed slayer was arrested this morning in the street near his home in suburban Lakewood by detectives who were investigating released patients of the psychopathic ward in a search for the attacker of the Buchanan boy. At that time they knew only that the Collins twins were missing.

Leads Police to Bodies.

Hagert admitted the assault on the Buchanan boy, detectives said, but denied, thru hours of questioning, any connection with the disappearance of the Collins brothers. He finally admitted the shootings, they said, after he was given a lie detector test. Then he took police to the bodies.

Hagert, son of a shipyard carpenter, has a police record for stealing cars and served a term last spring in the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster on a charge of car theft. His mother said Hagert entered Cleveland City hospital four weeks ago when he became nervous after an appendicitis operation.

FIND RICH HOARD CACHED IN HOME OF RIDE VICTIM

Stocks, Bonds and Small Coins Total $13,000.

Stocks and bonds and cash totaling more than $13,000, concealed in the home of Emil Bernard Geiger, slain war plant worker, were found yesterday by police. The searchers reported, however, that they had found no trace in his home at 4312 West 21st place of $10,400 he withdrew from two loop banks seven days before his battered body was found in a Worth township ditch.

The wealth of the $50 a week inspector at the Hawthorne plant of the Western Electric company, where he had worked for 23 years, was found scattered thruout his bed chamber and other rooms of the house, where he lived with his aged and mentally infirm mother, Mary. Stock certificates were found stuffed in the pockets of eight fairly good quality suits; war bonds and other securities were under carpets or stuffed behind radiators, and in a glass jar was $600 in silver, copper, and $1 bills.

The securities and cash were taken to the coroner's office for safe keeping.

Find Deposit Vault Record.

The police said they found a record in his effects that showed he had rented a safe deposit vault in the Cicero State bank. They said they would try to obtain authority to open this box and any others he might have rented to determine whether he cached the missing money withdrawn from the loop banks.

Investigators said they believed that some of the securities may have been purchased with money he received from his father, the late Jacob Geiger, who died July 6 and with whom he held a joint checking account. The father, a retired carpenter, willed about $14,000 worth of real estate to Emil, but his testament proved useless under the law when it was shown he had held the property in joint tenancy with his wife.

Find 15 Skull Fractures.

A report from a coroner's physician, who performed an autopsy, disclosed that Geiger was killed by perhaps 20 heavy blows inflicted on his head and body. There were large holes in his forehead and in the back of his head and 13 other fractures of the skull, any of which was sufficient to cause death.

Deputy Coroner Sylvester Vyzral yesterday continued the inquest into Geiger's death until Sept. 8 at the request of police.

Vyzral deferred the inquiry after perfunctory testimony was taken from Geiger's sister, Mrs. Katherine Pechota, 1918 Home avenue, Berwyn, and a policeman, Frank Pawolski, who reviewed details of the fruitless police investigation.

Says Habits Changed.

Mrs. Pechota and her brother, William, 50, were questioned concerning a dispute over disposition of the estate of their late father, Jacob, but they apparently satisfied investigators this had nothing to do with the slaying.

Mrs. Pechota commented that Emil had been acting "peculiarly" in the last several weeks. She explained that Geiger had not always come home directly after he quit work in the Hawthorne plant of the Western Electric company, but she did not know where he had been spending his time while away from home.

Known as Eccentric.

Employment records showed, too, that Geiger, a veteran of 23 years in the plant, may suddenly have lost interest in working and saving, which appeared to have been his only interests in life. N. T. Fairchild, Western Electric plant supervisor, said Geiger took a week's vacation early in July and was absent on five other days before the end of the month. He took half the day off on Aug. 4 when he withdrew the money from two banks.

Inventory Reveals Theft of 15 Mattress Machines

Junk Dealer Fined $25 on Tire Buying Charge

Hymen Bushnick, 51 years old, 6615 North Greenwood avenue, a junk dealer, was fined $25 and costs yesterday in Auto court by Judge Joseph B. Hermes on a charge of buying from a minor. Judge Hermes continued a motion to vacate the fine until Feb. 1, 1944. Two charges of receiving stolen goods were dropped when the owner of four tires which Bushnick purchased from Jimmy Durkee, 9, of 923 Noble street, told the court that the tires were worthless. Jimmy had taken six tires from a garage at 934 Milwaukee avenue last Aug. 5.

GEN. PICARD DIES.

LONDON, Aug. 13 [AP].—A Berlin broadcast heard today by the Associated Press said Gen. Louis-Alphonse Picard, 63 years old, former chief of the French air force general staff, is dead. Gen. Picard, who headed the French air force during the days before France's fall, was replaced late in 1940 by Gen. Robert Odic.

FBI FAILS TO ASK STATE FOR AID IN BABY KIDNAPING

Despite reports that FBI agents in the Springfield area are following the trail of Mrs. Pat Novak, believed to be the kidnaper of Howard Freeman, 2 years old, state police have not received any request to watch for the fugitive, Harry Yde, chief of the state police, said last night. Neither have the state police been asked to broadcast a description of Mrs. Novak or the youngster, whom she is suspected of using as a shield against reprisals from a vice ring in La Salle county.

The FBI has sought Mrs. Novak as a material witness in the investigation of the vice ring following her recent testimony against 31 members of the ring. Under the Lindbergh act, the FBI Thursday entered the search for the kidnaper of the Freeman baby, assuming that after seven days the child has been transported over a state line.

OFFICERS TELL OF GUARD AFTER OAKES' SLAYING

NASSAU, Bahamas, Aug. 13 (AP).—Three officers were called to the witness stand today as the prosecution stressed again its finger print evidence against Alfred De Marigny, charged with the murder of Harry Oakes.

Constables Bernard Nottage and Eric Tynes and Corp. Clophas Knowles testified that De Marigny was not allowed to enter the death room after the body of his multimillionaire father-in-law was found July 8. Previous witnesses testified that the impression of De Marigny's right finger was found on a screen which stood near Oakes' bed.

TWO POLICEMEN ON DUTY AFTER SHOOTING TRIAL

Policemen Patrick J. Rynne and Charles Schwertfeger of the Morgan Park police station were restored to duty yesterday by Police Commissioner James P. Allman after their trial before the city civil service commission on charges growing out of the fatal shooting of Elmo Vassar, 16 years old, a Negro, on May 13. They had been under suspension since May 15.

Rynne was reprimanded by Allman on the recommendation of the commission which found him guilty of conduct unbecoming a police officer. Schwertfeger was cleared of all charges.

Vassar was shot when he threw stones at the policemen who had answered a call that a man had been hit by a train at 113th and Morgan street. According to the testimony before the trial board, several stone struck Rynne who then fired the fatal shot.

HARDER SCORES TWO ALL-STAR TOUCHDOWNS

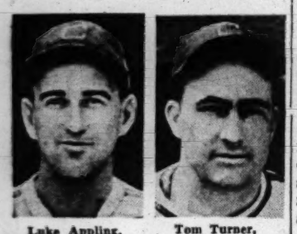
TURNER GETS A HOMER AND SOX TOP BOSTON, 3-2

Appling Raps Out His 2,000th Hit.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

(Box score on next page.)

Tom Turner, an infrequent headline hunter, set himself up yesterday as the man who chased Boston's Red Sox to cover and saved his White Sox pals. Portly Tom, promoted from the bull pen for the occasion, peeled off a two run second inning homer, and that contribution enabled the James Dykes boys to carry off the fifth of the series by 3 to 2. And by way of making himself noticeable to the ladies' day gathering of 5,424, Luke



Luke Appling. Tom Turner.

Appling, the league's batting pace maker, fashioned his 2,000th big time hit.

The slim edge provided by Turner's feat might not have been adequate if Gordon Maltzberger hadn't stepped in with one of his neat rescue jobs after Johnny Humphries had experienced six more or less hilarious innings. Between the weather man's heat and the heat created by the Boston bats, Humphries swooned after going that far so was hustled to the cooler by his boss. In two different innings he was saved by spectacular fielding. As for Maltzberger, he was perfect except for a trouble laden ninth.

Cronin Comes Thru Again.

The main cause of the disturbance in the ninth was, as usual, the pinch hitting skill of Manager Joe Cronin. With one out and Lee Culberson on base as the result of a pass, Cronin decided to bat for Bill Conroy. The boss singled and, happily for the Sox, Culberson tried to reach third. Guy Curtright's throw nailed him. Roy Partee batted for Tex Hughson who, despite two weeks of idleness due to a bruised thumb, held the Sox to six hits. Partee also singled and to add to the distress Mike Tresh, who had supplanted Turner, committed a passed ball. But Thurman Tucker, whose diving catch stopped a Boston splurge for Humphries, smothered Skeeter Newsome's liner to break up the party.

Humphries' opening inning was such a rough affair that four of the first five to face him escaped by various means. Lamar Newsome got away by singling and in another moment Tony Lupien sent his season's fourth homer into the right field seats. The blasting continued with a single by George Metkovich and after Tabor had popped out trying to sacrifice, Bobby Doerr was plunked by a stray pitch. Then Humphries settled down.

Appling Gets 2,000th Hit.

Newsome let loose a wild throw of Wally Moses' grounder in the Sox first half and there were two on base with none out when Hughson, after grabbing Tucker's tap threw to second too late to force Moses. Curtright's bunt and Appling's 2,000th hit scored Moses. Then Joe Kuhel blew open the second with a two bagger to right, continued to third on Metkovich's badly aimed throw-in. Pretty quick the Sox were ahead, 3 to 2, the alteration in the score being due to Turner's homer into the left field stands.

WRIGHT'S PLANS ARE REVISED BY DRAFT BOARD

New York, Aug. 13 (AP). — Boxer Chalky Wright's draft board refused to permit him to report to the United State maritime service today and ordered him to show up for induction in the army Aug. 28.

Chalky was sworn into the maritime service a month ago and directed to check in today. He apparently overlooked notifying his draft board, however, and early this week he received his induction notice.

CUBS COLLAPSE AGAIN; BRAVES WIN IN 10TH, 5-4

Nieman Hits Homer to End Game.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 13.—The Cubs, who have been budding into a resumption of their May-June cellar splendor the first 13 days of August, today burst forth in full dogday bloom as they lost to the Braves again after leading 3 to 1 in the first of the eighth and 4 to 3 in the first of the 10th inning. In the home 10th, Charley Workman led off against Claude Passeau with a double and Butch Nieman, who beat the Cubs yesterday in the 12th inning by driving Workman home with a triple, socked a 420 foot homer for the two runs essential to a 5 to 4 Boston decision.

The collapse, the Cubs' third straight in their series here and their ninth in 11 played in 13 days of August dumped the Chicagoans into seventh place. Tho they have lost all semblance of major league class, there are few who believe the Cubs can resume last place on the present six city trip. Tomorrow, however, Eddie Hanyzewski is going to start against Manuel Salvo. The Braves have won seven of their last eight games.

A Swell Start Anyway.

The Cubs started out well enough by accomplishing two runs in the first inning, the hitting off Nate Andrews in the session consisting of a safe bunt by Stu Martin and a fly which Harry Lowrey dunked just back of second base.

Singles by Nieman and Phil Masi and two infield outs halved the Chicago lead in the second inning, but the Cubs made it 3 to 1 with two out in the fifth. Phil Cavarretta singled and got home as a result of Bill Nicholson's double off the left field wall. Nieman was given an error on the hit by the Boston scorer on the theory he could have thrown Cavarretta out at home if he hadn't juggled the ball an instant after taking it off the fence.

Cavarretta, trying hard to give Nick his 82d run batted in, did not hesitate rounding third and the scoring thus deprived Nick of a run batted in, an essential department in which he is leading the National league. Nieman had no chance to throw out Cavarretta from the left field fence after he had rounded third, but he did juggle the ball a split second.

Merullo Blows Up.

The 3 to 1 Chicago lead stood up until the eighth, when Lennie Merullo blew up with a bang to give the Braves a tie on two errors. Tommy Holmes opened the eighth with a line single to left. Workman then grounded to Martin who tossed to Merullo in an effort to

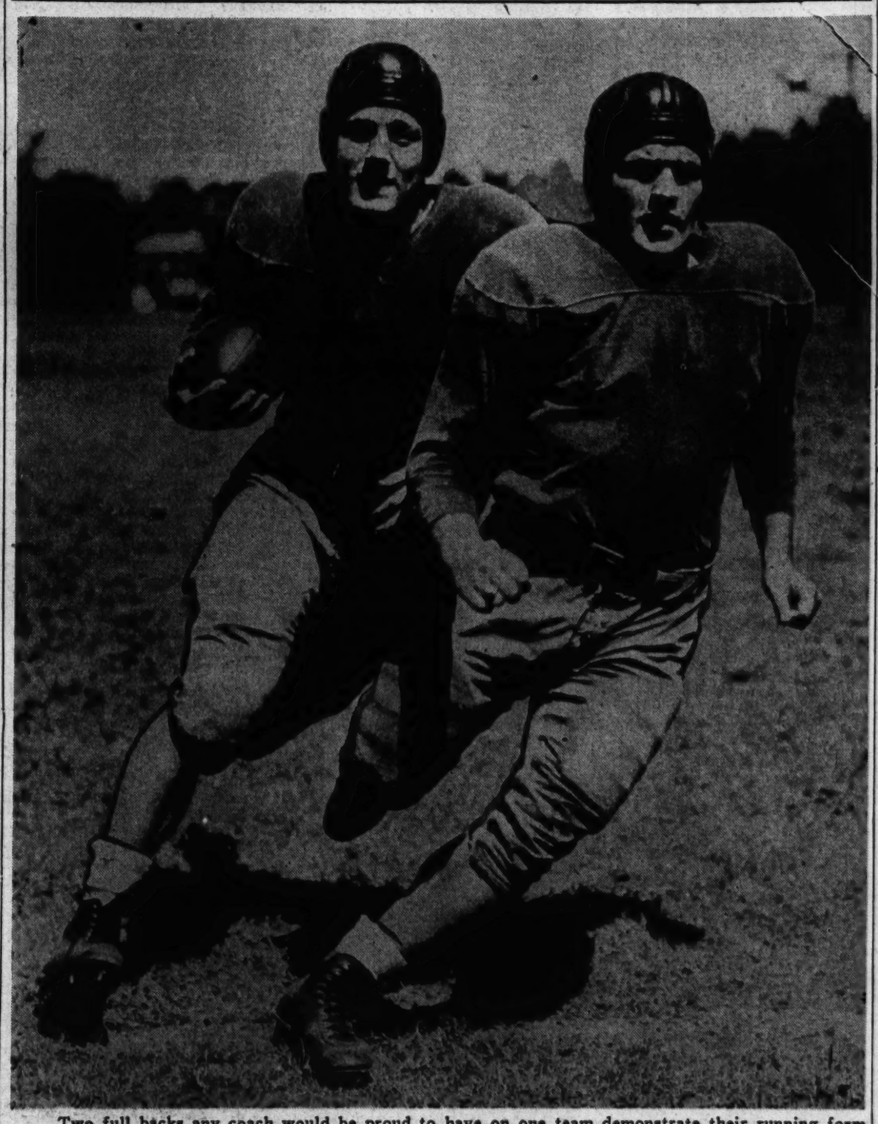
A PAIR WHO'LL WORRY REDSKINS!



Two full backs any coach would be proud to have on one team demonstrate their running form in workout with the College All-Stars for game with the Washington Redskins, pro champions, in Dyche stadium Aug. 25. Steve Filipowicz of Fordham leads the way for Wisconsin's Pat Harder (with ball). In a scrimmage game yesterday Harder scored two touchdowns to lead a Blue team to an 18 to 0 victory over its Red opponents. [Associated Press Photo.]

BADGER GOES 35 YARDS WITH GRAHAM'S PASS

Rips Foe's Line in Offensive Display.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Pat Harder, Wisconsin's great full back, took command of the All-Stars' attack yesterday afternoon as his team of Blue clad players whipped the Reds, 18 to 0, in preparation for the battle with the Washington Redskins in Nortnwestern's Dyche stadium on Aug. 25. Harder scored two of the Blues' touchdowns and repeatedly broke loose for gains after slashing thru the enemy line.

The Blues, with Center Vic Lindskog of Stanford as captain, played the first of a double header scrimmage in which all except five of the All-Stars participated. These scrimmages were not conducted under game conditions, in that punts and kickoffs were eliminated, but for the first time Coach Harry Stuhldreher and his assistants could judge the progress of their men in learning the offense to be used against the professional champions.

Remington's Blue Wins, 6-0.

The second Blue team, led by Center Bill Remington of Washington State college, won its 45 minute game, 6 to 0. At the conclusion of both games the coaches realigned the Blues. This evaluation will stand until the next scrimmage.

The first team back field of Harder, Otto Graham of Northwestern, Bob Steuber, Missouri, and Dick Renfro, Washington State, moved with precision behind a huge line anchored at the tackles by Al Wistert of Michigan and Dick Wildung of Minnesota. Dick Barwegen of Purdue and Garrard Ramsey of William and Mary were the guards, Pete Pihos of Indiana, possibly the outstanding offensive end on the squad, and Michigan's Jack Karwales were the ends.

Graham's Passes Hit Mark.

Graham's accurate passes were the foundation on which the Blues built a running game. Otto spread out the Reds' defenses with a series of passes and Harder got his first score when he took one on the Reds' 35 yard line and ran down center to score. Soon afterward, with Harder hammering the line and Steuber slanting off tackle, the Blues again advanced into Red territory. Then Harder got loose after a quick smash inside tackle, reversed to his left and went all the way.

The Blues' final touchdown was made by Steuber who took a 20 yard pass from Graham and cut diagonally across the field to score from the 10 yard line.

Dewar Takes Scoring Pass.

The second game was evenly fought until the last three minutes when the Blues, led by Paul Governali of Columbia and Steve Filipowicz of Fordham moved to the Reds' 8 yard line. After three failures on the ground, Governali passed to Jimmy Dewar of Indiana, his right half back, and Dewar caught the ball in the end zone.

GERMAIN, WALL GOLF FINALISTS

Meet at 36 Holes Today in Women's Western.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., making her seventh successive try for the title, and Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, essaying her first, will play 36 holes today for the 43d amateur championship of the Women's Western Golf association at the Evanston Golf club. While the long hitting Miss Germain, who is registering from the St. Charles Country club for this event, was winning a 4 and 3 battle from Catherine Fox of Glen Ridge, N. J., one of the tournament co-medalists, Miss Wall was being forced to the 17th green to take a 2 and 1 fight from tousle haired Peggy Kirk of Findlay, O., in yesyesterday afternoon's 18 hole semi-finals.

Thru the first seven holes of the semi-final debate, it appeared to be a question of how quickly the Misses Wall and Germain would close out their matches, each being five up thru that stretch. Then their opponents began respective rallies which reduced the Philadelphian's margin to three holes at the turn and Miss Wall's to two up. Miss Kirk, Rollins college graduate who was playing in her second Western Amateur, went even further and won the 10th, to be only one down. She lost the 13th, but took the 16th, and it called for a tidy chip shot by Miss Wall on the 17th to end the day.

Third Semi-Final Appearance.

The 24 year old Miss Wall was making her third consecutive appearance in the semi-finals, having gone to the 1941 championship match at Exmoor and reached the final foursome at Sunset Ridge last summer. Miss Germain, a pupil of Harold [Jug] McSpaden, whose tee shots have occasioned considerable

Redskins Pick Up New Threat, a Mr. Bagarus of Notre Dame

BY EDWARD PRELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 13.—Steve Bagarus, the lanky, loose-limbed half back from Notre Dame, today became an added starter for the Washington Redskins in their battle with the College All-Stars, Aug. 25, in Northwestern's Dyche stadium. The professional champions promise to come up with another surprise addition before game time, and hope this will disconcert the bulging All-Star squad at least a little.

Bagarus entered the army more than two years ago before rounding out his football career with the Irish. After his class had been graduated, he was signed to a contract by the Redskins, but neither he nor his employers figured Steve would put on a Washington uniform until the war was over. Furlough time came for Bagarus at a time which would fit into the All-Star date. Steve has gone thru with the formality of signing a 1943 Redskin contract and will be "released" after the Evanston contest.

Sam Baugh Limps About.

It was hinted the additional added starter also is a former Notre Dame star. For years, the Redskins showed a preference for Pacific coast collegians, but of late have become Notre Dame minded. Their new coach, Dutch Bergman, is an old Notre Dame athlete—and a native Hoosier.

Sam Baugh limped thru his own special workout this afternoon, while a slightly troubled Coach Bergman took note of his actions. Because of the lingering effects of his sprained back, Sam was unable to plant himself firmly and he made no attempt to whip the ball with his customary fervor.

The Redskins still insisted that Sam would play perhaps a full quarter in Sunday's Pro East-West game, the Redskins' farewell to their adopted Southern California home.

Champions Work on Kickoffs.

There have been an annoying number of injuries and ailments in the Redskin family, headed, of course, by Baugh's affliction. Joe Pasqua, the gigantic tackle from the Cleveland Rams, has been battling influenza. Steve Slivinski has a slightly sprained ankle. Wee Willie Wilkin is being treated for a facial rash. Assistant Coach Turk Edwards almost has lost his voice, and Bergman's feet are sore from the prodding of new cleats.

The champions worked on kickoff formations today, acquainting themselves with the college rule which will be in effect in the Dyche stadium game. Five of the defensive men must stay within 15 yards of the ball until it is kicked, according to the college code. Under pro rules the players can line up as they desire.

Volunteers Wanted

COLLEGE and high school musicians who wish to participate in the All-Star band should make their availability known to Ray Dvorak, whose address is University of Wisconsin Bands, Madison, Wis. There is special need for musicians who play the clarinet, piccolo, and saxaphone.

HEADLEY, MAYER COLORS CLASH IN SHERIDAN STAKE

$10,000 Race Goes at Washington Today.

Sheridan Field

SEVEN horses were named in the overnight entries for today's $10,000 Sheridan handicap at Washington Park. The field for this mile and an eighth race in order of post position follows:

Horse.	Wgt. Jockey.	Prob. Odds.
Contradiction	112 N. Jemas	4-1
Anticlimax	120 No boy	2-1
Georgie Drum	106 F. A. Smith	15-1
Martian	96 No boy	10-1
*Blue Pennant	112 O. Grohs	3-1
*King's Abbey	115 O. Grohs	3-1
Shot Put	108 R. Fielding	4-1

*L. B. Mayer entry.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Hal Price Headley and Louis B. Mayer, a pair of owners whose horses have been particularly sharp in recent weeks, will make strong bids for another stake victory in today's $10,000 Sheridan handicap at Washington Park.

In this gallop of a mile and an eighth, Headley will be represented by Anticlimax, while Mayer's colors will be carried by Blue Pennant and possibly by King's Abbey, also.

Anticlimax has come up to his best form in two recent handicaps. He finished third, beaten a length and a nose by Marriage and Thumbs Up in the $50,000 Arlington handicap on July 31, and shortly before that he ran second by the margin of a head to Marriage in the $5,000 Des Plaines handicap. Previously he had won a $2,500 handicap.

To Give Away Weight.

With Marriage and Thumbs Up out of the way for the afternoon, Anticlimax will attempt to take command of things, but he will concede considerable weight to a number of dangerous rivals in the field of seven. Blue Pennant, winner of the Flossmoor handicap at a mile and a sixteenth on turf, will be getting in at 112 pounds to Anticlimax's 120. Blue Pennant's stablemate, King's Abbey, drew 115 pounds, but he has shown no liking for the track conditions which are expected to prevail today.

The others in the overnight field include Contradiction, Shot Put, Martian and Georgie Drum. Shot Put came to life recently to win a mile and an eighth allowance event after a long period of ineffectiveness. This victory was scored over Pirate and Parasang on a fast track. The muddy or heavy conditions which are expected to exist today will be even more to his liking.

Contradiction Comes Back.

Contradiction will be making the fourth start of his attempted comeback, following two seasons of almost complete inactivity because of foot trouble. After a good 1943 debut, in which he won a six furlong dash, Contradiction failed twice, running third to Daily Trouble and fourth to Signator.

Match Softball Team to Play Tonight, Tomorrow

The Match corporation softball team will play the Milwaukee Millers tonight in Parichy stadium, and the Harlem Hottentots in Rockola stadium tomorrow night.

ICKES ACCUSED OF FORCING OIL SCARCITY ON U.S.

Refiner Says Restrictions Keep Wells Idle.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 13.—Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes can end the crude oil shortage immediately and supply all the oil and gasoline the country needs for war and for civilian use if he will lift restrictions and let the industry take it out of the ground, C. Hayden Davis, independent producer and refiner, told the joint legislative commission today.

Davis appeared as a witness at the commission's hearing in the state senate executive committee room. He is the principal owner of the Abraham Lincoln hotel here and heads the Pana Refining company, a plant at Pana, Ill., with a capacity of about 4,500 barrels a day.

Quotas Called Too Low.

The producer-refiner explained to the commission members that Ickes, as petroleum administrator for war, each month fixes the "allowables," regulating the maximum amount of oil which may be produced in each state. These, he added, are much too low; if Ickes would raise them he could quickly put an end to any oil shortage that now exists. Gasoline rationing would soon be unnecessary, he added, and there would still be an abundant supply for the war at all times.

"Raising the price of crude oil would help immeasurably," Davis said, "but they can correct conditions even without that. Just let the oil men produce the oil and they'll supply it. Raise the 'allowables' and you'll have plenty more oil.

"If they bring up the old argument that you'll destroy the wells, ask them when this country will ever destroy them in a better cause. Ask them when we'll need the oil more. If they want the crude they can get it—and they won't need to destroy anything. That's a spurious argument; it won't hold water.

Cut to 21 Barrels a Day.

"Let them allow the hundreds of wells now producing 15 barrels a day to produce, say 100. I can take any member of this commission to a well capable of producing 7,500 to 10,000 barrels a day that is now restricted to—you won't believe it—21 barrels a day.

"I know it sounds fantastic, but I can prove every statement I make."

Davis, without rancor, said some of the major companies control the whole production of oil and that it is on the advice of their representatives that Ickes and other Washington burocrats are acting.

Then the hotel and oil man said what's true of oil is true of business in this country in general under present New Deal interference.

"If we had in this country an honest effort," he continued, "the wheels of business would go smoothly and on rubber tires. We'd have nothing like rationing. They ought to learn in Washington that you can't stop a tree from growing green and blooming and you can't stop the rain. Well, they've got just as much chance of stopping and regulating the age old law of supply and demand as they have of stopping the rain or regulating a tree. It's just as much nature."

State Can Produce More.

Dr. M. M. Leighton, chief of the state geological survey, told the commission earlier that Illinois alone could produce 75,000 to 100,000 barrels more of crude oil daily if government restrictions were removed and the price raised.

Illinois, under restrictions imposed by Ickes, now produces 217,000 barrels a day, the quota fixed for August, Dr. Leighton said. Instead, he added, the state should be shooting at a production of 300,000 to 325,000 barrels a day.

"I would be very much surprised if the same thing is not true of all the other dozen major petroleum producing states," the geologist said.

Dr. Leighton said that Illinois, at the peak of its production in 1940, brought 387,000 barrels daily out of the ground. He continued:

"That year the state produced 148 million barrels of crude oil. Since then there has been a steady decline—134 million for 1941, 107 million for 1942, and 42 million for the first half of this year."

Meantime State Sen. Earle Benjamin Searcy [R., Springfield], chairman, read to members of the commission a letter sent by Rep. Clarence J. Brown [R., O.] to several of the members of a congressional committee for states east of the Rockies, charging that the petroleum administration and the office of price administration are putting the 25 per cent slash in gasoline rations into effect in the middle west Sunday midnight in the face of his demands upon all the burocrats that they wait until congress has an opportunity to act upon it.

Seek to Rescind Order.

Searcy, at the opening of today's hearing, indicated his commission will continue battling to have the cut rescinded when and if it is put into effect. He indicated also that since the price of crude oil and the PAW regulations have destroyed crude oil production, creating a dangerous war shortage, the commission will continue efforts to get the freeze in price of crude lifted and restore production. Thus, he pointed out, gasoline restrictions may be lifted. He said:

"Our commission would be the last group on earth to throw the slightest impediment in the way of the war effort, but the solemn and repeated claims of responsible oil industry experts that a fair price adjustment will recover thousands of barrels of crude at a time when it is most needed cannot be passed over lightly."

TAXPAYERS WAIT AS BUROCRATS BREAKFAST AT 9

It's Habit of Chicago Office Staffs.

A dillar, a dollar, a 10 o'clock scholar,
What makes you come so soon?
You used to come at 9 o'clock
And now you come at noon.

This is a friendly tip to small business men and other citizens perplexed by government red tape who have been given a whirl on the "Little Washington" merry-go-round at 226 West Jackson boulevard.

Here at 226, the National War Agencies building, you will find the regional headquarters of the office of price administration; the office of central administrative services; the office for emergency management; the Chicago district and regional offices of the smaller war plants corporation; offices of the war production board and the war relocation authority, and tucked away amid this outlay, even the navy department's naval adviser's office.

If you arrive promptly at 9 a. m. and the principal analyst in charge of molybdenum priorities or the chief specialist on rhubarb price ceilings is not in, don't be discouraged if you have to wait a half hour or more. He'll be in eventually. He's just gone out for his second cup of coffee.

Then Secretary Is Out.

But don't let your hopes rise. You may have to wait a little longer even after he arrives. His secretary, who knows everything, may be out drinking a "coke" with her morning cigaret.

If you are really in a hurry to get official business done with dispatch and efficiency you might try the coffee shop across the street or the cafeteria three doors east?

Yesterday a Tribune photographer trailed the carefree government workers to their favorite "recess" haunts. He found a dozen or more sipping soft drinks or coffee in the canteen on the first floor of the building at 9:30 a. m.

Chattering lightly and blowing cigaret smoke, girl clerks dallied for 20 to 25 minutes away from their typewriters—forgetting that they are allowed only 10 minute recesses in the morning and afternoon.

Patient Public Waits.

Building attendants said it is not uncommon for two-thirds of the 1,200 employes in the building to gather in nearby restaurants from 9 to 11 a. m. while waiting rooms for the public are crowded with people trying to get some obscure government official to push a pen or punch a key.

Elevator operators reported that many government clerks in the building report to work at 8:30 a. m., hang up their hats and coats and promptly leave the building for a belated breakfast.

Government officials have at times attempted to discourage the carefree stretching of the recess periods. One stern OPA executive banished an automatic milk machine after a week's trial because the gathering of workers around the machine grew each day until the corridor began to look like a street corner meeting.

CHARGES ICKES 'BROKE FAITH' IN GAS RATION CUT

Pine Bluff, Ark., Aug. 13 (AP).—Rep. Oren Harris [D., Ark.], commenting on the gasoline ration cut in the middle and southwest, charged tonight that Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes "took advantage of the congressional recess in order to put into effect a program which has broken faith with congress and the people."

In an interview with the Arkansas Gazette, Harris added:

"In oil producing states it is ridiculous that this program be put into effect since it will not serve to alleviate the oil shortage in the east.

"I am definitely against the pressure group from New England that believes in the 'misery loves company' theme."

DEMAND STATE ACT TO OVERSEE HOMES FOR AGED

Legislators Condemn Profit by Misery.

Rep. Edward P. Saltiel [R.] of the 31st senatorial district, in which the Aristocrat Home for Aged Persons, 566 Stratford place, is located, demanded yesterday that some form of state supervision be worked out, and that periodic inspections of convalescent homes and homes for the aged be made.

"I am very much incensed over the treatment accorded elderly persons in homes for the aged," he said. "I know of a few such cases personally. There is no greater crime than making money out of human misery, and I cannot express my outrage too strongly."

Others Assail Operations.

Other legislators joined in the denunciation of unlicensed convalescent homes, which came to police attention after the arrest of Mrs. Agnes Peele, operator of the Aristocrat Home, on two charges of assault and battery and one of assault with a deadly weapon. She was also found guilty last week on five charges of operating a convalescent home without a license and refusing admission to license and health inspectors, and has posted $4,000 real estate bond while her attorney, Emmett Byrne, appeals.

Two former patients, removed from the Peele home in a wasted condition as a result of malnutrition, have died in hospitals.

Rep. David I. Swanson [R.] of the 11th senatorial district, who is chairman of the committee on judiciary, said that at the first propitious moment, the legislature, whether in regular or special session, should enact regulatory measures to curb the activities of convalescent homes.

City 'Neglected Duty.'

"It is unfortunate that calamities must occur before the public is aroused," Swanson remarked. "The city has neglected its duty and it looks like the problem is squarely up to the state."

Rep. Noble W. Lee [R.] emphasized that since the functions of convalescent homes are similar to those of hospitals, it is obvious that the same regulations should be enforced.

The Chicago crime commission has been following reports of the case with interest, Virgil W. Peterson, operating director, said as he assigned an investigator to attend Mrs. Peele's trial, which is scheduled for jury court next Tuesday.

Ordinance Held Adequate.

Herbert A. Ellis, assistant corporation counsel who is working with City Prosecutor Michael L. Rosinia on the Peele case, said that office is now starting a licensing drive.

"I feel that the present ordinance governing such homes is adequate and we must simply see that it is enforced," he said.

POLIO TAKES LIFE OF BERWYN BOY; LIST 108TH CASE

A death from infantile paralysis was reported yesterday in Berwyn in addition to three new cases of the disease in suburban Cook county and seven new cases within the city. Health authorities also disclosed 10 new suspected cases within the city.

The latest fatality was that of James Gadbois, 8 years old, 2828 South Ridgeland avenue, Berwyn. His death was the sixth from the disease in suburban Cook county this year. There have been eight deaths within the city.

The new cases bring the total within the city to 78, of which 45 have been within the area bounded by Kildare avenue, Harrison street, Cermak road and Washtenaw avenue. Two of the cases reported yesterday were within that area. There have been 30 cases reported in suburban Cook county. Two of the new cases were in Oak Park and one in Cicero.

MIDWEST TAKES NEWS OF SUNDAY GAS CUT CALMLY

Chicago area motorists yesterday responded calmly to the news that gasoline rations would be cut 25 per cent at midnight Sunday. They displayed none of the hysteria which last winter and spring sent eastern motorists in droves to gasoline stations to beat ration cuts.

Gasoline retailers reported sales were about normal and said relatively few motorists were filling their gasoline tanks in anticipation of the reduction in value of the A, B, and C gasoline coupons from 4 to 3 gallons each. Acceleration of sales is expected over the week-end when motoring usually is heavier and some motorists will attempt to take advantage of the present coupon value for planned trips, they said.

Alex Elson, OPA regional attorney, said he knew of no changes in the OPA's enforcement program to make gasoline rationing regulations effective after the cut in rations.

ILL. CENTRAL TO RETIRE LAST OF DEBT TO RFC

Equipment Trust Sale Planned.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The Illinois Central railroad yesterday prepared to pay off the remainder of its debt to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, thereby removing the last trace of governmental financial control. The board of directors authorized the creation of a 15 million dollar equipment trust to be secured by equipment owned by the railroad.

Cash to be obtained by the sale of equipment trust certificates in public bidding will be used to pay the RFC debt which originally totaled about 37 million dollars. The debt was contracted during the depression to meet security maturities and other obligations at a time when railroad revenues had decreased and railroad credit generally was low.

Procedure Is New.

Offering as security equipment already owned by a railroad is a new procedure, equipment trust certificates generally being issued in connection with the purchase of new equipment. The equipment to be used as security in the current transaction comprises 582 locomotives, 535 passenger cars [including all the equipment in the road's electrified suburban service], and 6,458 freight cars.

Liquidation of the debt will return to the road all collateral held by the RFC during the period of the loans—securities having a par value of more than 122 millions, tho their market value was less.

Repayment of the RFC loan will not alter the size of the railroad's debt, but will change creditors to the extent of 15 million dollars and provide for liquidation of that amount in an orderly manner over an eight year period.

Interest Charges Reduced.

It also will make possible a reduction in interest payments. The RFC debt was on a 4 per cent basis whereas comparable Illinois Central equipment trust certificates have been sold on a 2 to 2½ per cent basis.

The debt is to be liquidated by semi-annual payments over the eight years, with final maturity on Sept. 1, 1951. The first payment will be $945,000 and the others will be of $937,000 each. The road has paid off 22 millions in cash on the RFC debt since December.

Bids on the equipment trust certificates will be received on Aug. 30.

Rising war traffic has improved greatly the financial position of the road, which is one of the nation's most important connections between the north and south. It handles a large part of the traffic moving from northern war plants to the port or New Orleans. The road reported a 1943 profit of $24,914,090, equal to $17.52 per share on its common stock.

WAR COMPANIES SET ASIDE 70% AS TAX RESERVE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—The department of commerce reported today that corporations having war contracts were putting aside nearly 70 per cent of their gross profits for payment of taxes, compared with 20 per cent in 1939. However, their gain in profits after taxes from the first quarter of 1942 to the second quarter of this year was estimated at 20 per cent.

For non-war industries profits after taxes since the third quarter of 1941 have declined 10 per cent altho sales have increased one-third, the department said.

Asserting that the present trend for both groups was expected to continue, the department asserted that "the non-war industries will be fortunate to keep going at present rates."

ICC Limits Rail Car Icing to Move Fruit from West

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—The interstate commerce commission today said that an acute shortage of ice was retarding the movement of perishables from far western states and imposed restrictions limiting the icing or reicing of refrigerator cars loaded with fruits to three-fourths of a car's bunker capacity. It also prohibited icing until cars are loaded.

Women Hold One-Tenth of Steel Industry Jobs

New York, Aug. 13 [Special].—Almost 37,000 women are at work in steel plants in addition to the 27,000 employed in the offices of steel companies, the American Iron and Steel institute reported today. Women compromise one-tenth of the industry's employes and handle a wide variety of jobs. In peacetime women employes numbered 2,500.

Half Year Department Store Gains

Work Finally Is Started on Negro Homes

BY AL CHASE.

Work at last is under way on Chicago's first large scale privately sponsored war housing project for Negroes, known as Princeton Park, at Wentworth avenue and 95th street. The project had been tied up for several months by federal red tape in the office of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Concrete has been poured for the foundations of six row house units and three steam shovels are excavating for more foundations.

RFC Reverses Itself.

Construction began when the RFC reversed its stand on loan making and negotiated a 29 year, 4 per cent loan of $142,100 on the parcel of land on which the first 40 units will be built. Other loans will be made later, it was said.

Originally planned to house 900 families, with a total cost of 4½ million dollars, the first section of 250 units, for which priorities have been granted, will cost more than 1 million. It is expected that priorities will be granted for the remaining 650 units and the entire project eventually completed.

All Will Be Rented.

None of the homes will be sold. All will be rented at $47.50 per month, it was disclosed. The first half dozen are expected to be ready for occupancy in November with other completions following weekly.

Donald O'Toole, of Donald O'Toole & Co., real estate operator and community developer, heads the group of Chicagoans comprising the Princeton Park Trust, owner of the 80 acre site bought from the Pullman company. The land is bounded by 91st and 95th streets, and Wentworth avenue and the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad. Holsman and Holsman is the architect.

EARLY ADVANCE IN HOG MARKET TURNS INTO LOSS

Hog prices closed lower yesterday at the Chicago stock yards after an early rise. The market gained 10 cents at the start with a top of $15, the highest mark since April 26 and $1.25 above the June low. This rise was followed by a slump in all classes, with final prices 25 cents below Thursday's average Top grades closed at $14.65.

Lamb prices were 25 cents lower to 25 cents higher. Few changes occurred in cattle.

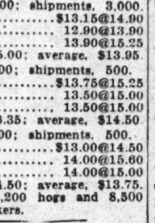
SLUMP IN BEET SUGAR LAID TO FEDERAL POLICY

Denver, Colo., Aug. 13 (AP).—The president of the National Beet Growers' association estimated today that the decrease in American beet sugar production this year equaled the current sugar ration of 25 million people, and that the resulting drop in by-products represented "the loss of millions of pounds of meat and milk."

W. J. Gorst, Worland, Wyo., asserted that the nation's sugar production was one-third less than 1942 because the government failed to maintain the competitive position of sugar beets.

People and Events

A. C. Darling, vice president and general manager of the Borg-Warner Service Parts company, has been elected president, it was announced yesterday. Mathew Keck, retiring president, will remain a director. R. W. Dosé has been elected vice president and P. R. Kendall secretary-treasurer.



A. C. Darling.

Carroll W. Johnson has resigned as director of marketing of the petroleum administration for war, district 2. Ernest L. Hughes, assistant director of marketing, will succeed him until a new director is named.

R. K. Moore, with the accounting department of United Air Lines for more than 15 years, has succeeded E. Van Vechten who resigned as general purchasing agent to become western representative of the Weatherhead company in Los Angeles.

HOUSEWIVES DUBIOUS, BUT U. S. INSISTS FOOD PRICES DID DECLINE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—The labor department, whose report of a decline in food prices was questioned by doubting housewives in many parts of the country, stood pat today on its findings that there was a 2 per cent average drop in cities from mid-June to mid-July.

"Our survey was based on actual first hand checks of 1,200 stores in 51 cities," said A. Ford Hinrichs, acting commissioner of labor statistics. Those who complained that food costs were going up instead of down may be living "in the wrong cities," he said.

The outpouring of such complaints came from points as widely scattered as Los Angeles, Cal., Atlanta, Ga., Portland, Ore., Columbus, O. and Memphis, Tenn.

Hinrichs attributed the decline his agents reported to the cutback of meat prices and low priced vegetables. Some cities in the south where vegetables mature earlier already have had their price drop, he said, and now are having an upward trend in prices.

PRODUCER SALES OF GOODS CLIMB 3½ PCT. IN JUNE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—Manufacturers' daily average sales during June increased 3½ per cent above May to equal the February peak, the department of commerce reported today. Inventories took their largest drop for any month since 1939.

Sales of durable goods were up less than 2 per cent, and nondurable goods gained 6 per cent.

The inventory decline amounted to more than 650 million dollars with the largest liquidation recorded in retailing. This reflected inability of retailers "to fully replace goods and the attempt to satisfy in part continued strong demands out of stock," the department said.

Manufacturers' inventories were down nearly 250 million dollars, extending the trend that began last November, and wholesale inventories, described as relatively stable since the first of the year, dropped more than 100 millions.

Michigan and 23d Corner Purchased for $105,000

The five story building at the southeast corner of Michigan avenue and 23d street, 75 by 160, was sold by the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee, to Joseph Levy, president of Walton Motors, used car dealer and agent for Chrysler. According to Sprague Moore, broker, the price was $105,000. The building, occupied by Cadillac Motor Car division of General Motors, will be used by Levy for Chrysler display in January, 1944. Levy also bought the three story building at 2241 South Wabash avenue, 60 by 200 feet, which he has been using under lease as a Chrysler service unit.

Bank Deposits of Businesses Make BigGain

Big shifts have occurred in the ownership of bank demand deposits, the federal reserve board reported yesterday in the monthly federal reserve bulletin. On the basis of a recent survey, the first of its kind, the board learned that most of the unprecedented increase in demand deposits in the 15 months ended March 31 was accounted for by rising business deposits. Less than a third of the gain was in personal accounts.

The board estimated, on the basis of sample reports from 689 banks, that in the 15 months the total increase in demand deposits in all banks was 15 billion dollars, of which between two-thirds and three-fourth or 10 to 11¼ billions, belonged to businesses. Business deposits were estimated to total more than 35 billions at the end of March.

Gains Heavy in Three Types.

Three types of business—manufacturing, mining, and construction—probably accounted for 5 or 6 billions of the 15 month gain, the board estimated. It said these businesses had built up deposits in connection with working capital needs arising from war production, inventory liquidation, and accumulation of reserves for various purposes, including taxes.

Personal deposits, including those of farmers, probably increased 3 or 4 billion dollars in the 15 month period to about 15 billion dollars, the board said. It observed, however, that individuals also held the major part of the 29 billion dollars of savings deposits and other time deposits and the bulk of the more than 15 billion dollars of currency in circulation outside the banks at the end of March.

Manufacturing Deposits Soar.

The sample study included data from 533 banks on the changes that had taken place in large demand deposit accounts between Dec. 31, 1941, and March 31, 1943. Some of the changes were: Manufacturing, mining, and construction businesses, deposits up 63.2 per cent; public utilities, up 19.1 per cent; trade, deposits up 56 per cent; insurance companies, up 54 per cent; investment trusts, down 2.2 per cent; security brokers and dealers, down 10.6 per cent, and trust funds of banks, up 5.6 per cent.

Bankers regard the ownership of deposits as a factor that will be of great significance in post-war readjustments. Deposit ownership not only has shifted with respect to type of owner, but also has changed geographically as a result of vast expenditures on war plants.

Another factor affecting the size of deposits has been the conversion of a large part of the nation's merchandise inventory into cash as retailers have disposed of stocks that cannot be replaced.

Expected to Have Strong Effect.

Ownership of deposits is expected to have an important bearing on the way in which business enterprises will be affected by post-war repercussions. Little has been known in the past about ownership of deposits, and the shiftings in such holdings. The significance of such changes was brought out in the reserve bulletin.

"Because of the importance of information about who owns the rapidly growing volume of bank deposits and what shifts have occurred in this ownership, the board and the reserve banks have decided to obtain regular semi-annual statistics of this nature," the bulletin said.

The reports will be on a voluntary basis, and will be on a larger scale than the initial survey.

SEARS TO RETAIN PRESENT ARMY DEPOT WORKERS

The approximately 2,300 civil service employes of the Lordstown ordnance depot and warehouse near Warren, O., will be retained when Sears, Roebuck & Co. takes over management, the company announced yesterday. Lordstown Depot Management, Inc., the company set up by Sears for running the 690 acre depot, will start operations Aug. 30.

EMPLOYMENT CLIMBS TO ALL-TIME PEAK IN JULY AT 54.3 MILLION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—Employment in the United States reached a record peak of 54,300,000 during July, the census bureau reported today. The net increase of 900,000 above June resulted primarily from the entrance of students into the labor force with the close of the school year, the bureau said.

The July total was 300,000 above the previous high recorded in July and August of last year. The number of men employed dropped 2,700,000 during the year, reflecting heavy military inductions and stood at 37,200,000 in July, whereas the number of women workers increased 3,000,000 to 17,100,000.

The bureau estimated there were 900,000 persons jobless in July.

STANDARD OIL (IND.) REPORTS RISE IN PROFITS

Earnings of Crane Also Advance.

Net earnings of the Standard Oil company of Indiana and its subsidiaries increased to $22,079,417 in the six months ended June 30 from $19,390,526 in the first half of 1942, President Edward G. Seubert reported yesterday. The earnings were equal to $1.44 and $1.27 a share, respectively. Charges against earnings this year included $15,084,761 for federal income and excess profits taxes.

Edward G. Seubert.

Crane company reported net profit for the 12 months ended June 30 was $4,403,747, equal to $1.46 a share, compared with $3,603,572, or $1.12 a share, in the preceding 12 months.

Reserves 6 Million for War Loss.

Results for the recent period included a post-war refund and debt retirement credit of $2,647,228, but were after a 6 million dollar reserve for war loss contingencies. The tax provision in the report issued a year ago was an estimated figure computed before enactment of the 1942 revenue law.

Chicago plants of the company are turning out large quantities of valves and fittings for naval ships and other war purposes.

National Dairy Products corporation and domestic subsidiaries reported profit for the six months to June 30 was $6,017,455, equal to 96 cents a common share, against $5,428,428 or 86 cents a share in the first half of 1942.

Postal Telegraph, Inc., operated at a $4,198,769 net loss in the six months ended June 30, against a loss of $2,244,758 in the first half of 1942. It reported the Reconstruction Finance corporation had loaned it $9,543,495 as of June 30. Postal and Western Union Telegraph company shareholders approved a consolidation a few days ago.

WESTERN UNION TO END OFFICE DUPLICATIONS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—Western Union Telegraph company told the federal communications commission today all "unnecessary duplicating branch offices and tributary offices" will be consolidated if the pending plan for merger with Postal Telegraph, Inc., is approved.

A statement filed with FCC said the properties of the companies will be regarded as one, and all offices, equipment, and plant will be treated without discrimination as to former ownership and "wholly on the basis of their value in the public service."

Operations in the larger cities will be consolidated in Western Union's main offices. During the integration period, however, the main offices and the two trunk networks of both companies will, in general, be maintained and operated.

Air Line Soon to Expand Central America Service

New Orleans, La., Aug. 13 (AP).—Pan American Airways announced today that its strato-clipper service from New Orleans to Central America would be increased from three to five round trips weekly about Sept. 1. The 2,000 mile route across the gulf extends thru Merida, Mexico, and Guatemala City to Panama.

Daily Average Gasoline Production Dips in June

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—Daily average production of natural gasoline and allied products in June dipped to 9,873,000 gallons from 9,877,000 in May, the bureau of mines reported today.

Stocks Climb Fractions to 2 Points, but Buying Is Small

New York, Aug. 13 (AP).—Buying was timid in the stock market today, but enough cropped up in the late trading to lift assorted industrials and rails fractions to about 2 points.

The ticker tape moped thruout, turnover amounting to only 435,080 shares, smallest for any full session since last Oct. 19. Irregularity ruled until after noon when prices stiffened generally. Gains were fairly well maintained at the close.

The better than usual war news again brought a number of peace-rated issues to the fore, but the armament group managed to hold its own.

Problems Cause Restraint.

Persistent speculative and investment conservatism was attributed mainly to concern over post-war problems, the question mark of Russia in the final settlement, the forthcoming tax program, and the assembling of financial forces for the big bond drive in September. Some purchasing was based partly on belief that the list may have been oversold on the recent decline.

The Associated Press 60 stock average closed up 0.2 at 49.9 where it was 3.4 points under the 1943 peak established in mid-July. Only 747 individual issues were traded.

Pepsi-Cola Advances 2¼.

Favorites on the rise included Pepsi-Cola, up 2¼, and Eastman Kodak, up 2. Ahead a point or so were Santa Fe, Standard Oil [N. J.], Texas company, Sears Roebuck, United States Rubber, Chrysler, and International Harvester.

Lesser improvement was recorded for United States Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Willys-Overland, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Anaconda, American Telephone, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse Electric, American Can, General Electric, Johns-Manville, International Telephone, and Consolidated Edison.

In the losing group were Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, North American, Baltimore & Ohio, Dow Chemical, Oliver Farm, and J. I. Case.

FIVE CHICAGO PEAKS SET.

Five new peaks were set on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday altho trading shrank to only 24,000 shares. Of 78 issues traded, 37 advanced, 27 declined, and 14 closed unchanged. Closing at new highs were Cudahy Packing preferred, up 2; Peter Fox Brewing, up ½; Midland Utilities 6 per cent prior lien, up 1, and 7 per cent prior lien, up 1¼, and Wieboldt Stores, up ¾. Volume leader was Chicago corporation common, which closed unchanged.

BONDS MOVE LITTLE.

New York, Aug. 13 (AP).—Bond market prices changed only slightly today with a few reorganization rails making the best showing. Sales were $5,587,100, the smallest for any full session in 1943.

Utilities, foreign loans, and low yields [high priced issues] in the Associated Press averages ended unchanged. Industrials were up 0.2, largely as a result of a 1 point gain in Libby, McNeill & Libby 4s. The 20 rails lost 0.1. United States government loans were quiet and steady.

Strike Closes Republic Steel Mill in Buffalo

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 13 (AP).—Production at the Buffalo plant of the Republic Steel corporation was halted completely tonight as approximately 2,000 employes were joined in the plant's second walkout this week, said Frank C. Farrell, district manager.

A strike in the steel conditioning department had spread thru the entire plant, shutting down nine open hearth and two blast furnaces, he said. Among other departments reported shutting down were the bar mill, dye roll department, which makes barrels for machine guns, and the billet yard.

Shutting down open hearth and blast furnaces means a daily loss of approximately 2,500 tons of steel ingots and 1,800 tons of pig iron, explained Farrell.

Federal Labor Conciliator Clarence M. Lamotte was called into the dispute late to keep the walkout from spreading. It started Wednesday night.

Farrell said, "There have been no grievances filed with the company."

Dispute Closes 3 Mines.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 13 (AP).—A work stoppage of about 1,000 mine workers—the second in the anthracite fields since the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill became law—closed three mines, a breaker, and a stripping operation of the Locust Coal company today in a dispute over the discharge of a miner.

The strike was voted yesterday by the West Mahanoy general mine board, which alleged "discrimination" in the dismissal. The company, with all its operations suspended, held that the miner carried cigarets into a mine in violation of the federal mining safety laws.

Strike Over Dismissal.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 13 (AP)—War production stopped at Penick & Ford, Ltd., today when some 600 members of the American Federation of Grain Processors' council [AFL] left their jobs in protest over the dismissal of Fred Fox, a plant guard.

Fox refused to attend a plant guards' school conducted by the army's military police and requested to be returned to his former job as a laborer.

R. E. Lacy, council president, said members would not return to work until Fox's request is granted with pay retroactive to the time of his dismissal at 3 p. m. Wednesday.

North Carolina Peach Crop Loss Is Severe

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—Largely because of April freezes, North Carolina had the most nearly complete peach crop failure on record, the department of agriculture reported today. Commercial shipments by rail totaled 35 carloads, compared with 1,279 in 1942.

BUYING ORDERS FOR CASH CORN FLOOD MARKET

Result from Ending of Restrictions.

Wheat Goal Raised

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—The war food administration announced today that state wheat planting goals under the 1944 farm program call for a national acreage of 68 million acres, against 54,149,000 acres this year. The largest acreage ever planted to wheat was 80,814,000 in 1937.

Removal of restrictions on sales of cash corn brought yesterday what brokers on the Chicago Board of Trade described as a deluge of buying orders. Altho some elevator interests said they were hampered in their operations by not knowing how much corn had been returned to them by the Commodity Credit corporation, shipping sales were placed at 2 million bushels or more, the largest volume in many months.

May Get Orders Filled.

The corn which is being returned is part of that requisitioned by the CCC in June.

Besides the reported shipping business many eastern feed manufacturers and other large users of corn are expected to receive grain which was purchased prior to June 25, the date of the requisitioning. The orders could not be filled before yesterday because of war food administration requirements that wet processors be permitted to have first call on the grain offered for deferred shipment from the country.

Some of the largest elevator interests reported they could have disposed of all the corn they had on hand, so keen was the eastern demand. Shippers in other terminal markets were understood also to have sold much grain.

Country Demand Active.

Country grain dealers who sold much corn earlier in the month were reported regretting their action, because the demand from feeders in their own areas was extremely active. New offerings of cash corn for deferred shipment from the country were light, only 12,000 bushels being confirmed as bought for shipment to Chicago.

Rye futures prices dipped fractionally early but rallied later on buying headed by professional traders to close ⅝ to 1 cent a bushel higher. Wheat gained ⅛ to ½ cent and oats finished ¼ to ½ cent higher.

Mill buying was a factor in strengthening wheat, but the amount of business was not disclosed. The CCC was estimated to have purchased 250,000 bushels of spring wheat in the northwestern market so far this week. Large quantities of Canadian cash wheat are scheduled to start to move thru Chicago shortly for feed in New England. This is grain bought recently by the CCC.

FLOW OF OIL REACHES EASTERN TERMINUS OF 'BIG INCH' ROUTE

Phoenixville, Pa., Aug. 13 (AP).—Oil traveling east thru "Big Inch," giant pipe line, reached the line's eastern junction here today.

The oil had been on its way from Illinois since July 19. Back of it was 4 million barrels, stretching to Longview, Tex. Ahead lay two smaller pipe lines, one extension to Chester and Marcus Hook, Pa., and the other to Bayonne, N. J.

From now on, 300,000 barrels a day will flow to eastern refineries.

PERMITS FIRMS TO ADJUST PIECE WORK PAY RATE

Adjustments in rates of pay for piece work may be made without approval of the war labor board, Robert K. Burns, regional WLB chairman, said yesterday. The changes may be made only to maintain regularly established or normal earnings, or those prior to Oct. 3, 1942, or adjusted by permission since then.

The new ruling is expected to cut down the "tremendous load of cases being filed," Burns said. It covers two kinds of employes, [1] those who have been unable to maintain normal earnings because of old machinery, inferior materials, changes in methods, and other causes, and [2] those who have attained "earnings far in excess of the normal amount" because of improved equipment, superior materials, or improved manufacturing methods.

HEAVY INROADS BY HOG CHOLERA ARE PREDICTED

Decrease in Lamb Crop This Year Forecast.

Quotas Unchanged

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—The war food administration today ordered present live stock slaughter quotas continued during the remainder of August. Quotas fix the amount of various classes of meats which slaughterers may sell for civilian consumption. The agency said some adjustments in quotas would be made on Sept. 1 and Oct. 1 because of reclassification of some slaughterers under the licensing system which goes into effect Aug. 15.

A warning yesterday that cholera would cut deeply into this year's production of hogs was coupled with official reports of a decrease in the 1943 lamb crop and a smaller number of cattle on feed in corn belt states.

Dr. Fred H. Leinbach, director of the national live stock conservation program which is an activity of the national committee on 4-H club work, urged live stock producers to use care in combating diseases in hogs.

Urges Pig Vaccination.

Pigs dying from hog cholera this year will number more than 2½ million head, he predicted. He estimated that the loss of meat as a result of hog mortality would exceed 200 million pounds, "even if the disease remains at the 1942 record-breaking low level." He said the larger of these losses were readily preventable and urged vaccination of pigs to prevent an outbreak of cholera, which he said is likely in the midwest.

The 1943 lamb crop was estimated by the department of agriculture at 31,101,000 head, about 1,500,000, or 5 per cent, smaller than the 1942 crop and the smallest since 1939. Compared with the 10 year average [1932-'41] the crop estimate was 3 per cent larger.

Native Lamb Crop Is Less.

The native lamb crop, estimated at 10,964,000 head, was about 600,000, or 5 per cent, smaller than the record crop of 1942 and the smallest in the last three years.

The Illinois lamb crop was estimated at 509,000 head, 8 per cent less than last year, but only slightly below the 10 year average of 514,000.

The number of cattle on feed in 11 corn belt states was 11 per cent smaller than a year ago, the department said.

Otherwise cotton textiles were quiet. Mills released additional woolen and worsted goods and sentiment in the trade was buoyed by announcement that procurement of blankets and other fabrics for the army would be substantially reduced next year. Rayon goods were quiet with attention focused on bids for nylon parachute cloth, which some quarters esti-

TRAVEL EXPENSES.

My wife has been in a mental institution for six months. The round trip fare on my frequent visits to see about her welfare is $2.09, and this has grown to quite a large expenditure. Can I deduct these expenses in figuring my income tax?

Answer: The fare is not deductible unless it can be shown that your visits are essential to your wife's health, in which case the transportation cost might be allowed as a medical expense item. Medical expenses are deductible to a limited extent. Since your separation from your wife is unavoidable and involuntary you are entitled to claim the full exemption of married persons living together.

NO EXEMPTION.

I am paying alimony to two former wives. Am I entitled to additional withholding exemption on this account?—P. B.

Answer: No. Your withholding exemption is based on your present marital status and dependents. You will, of course, be entitled to deduct alimony payments in determining your final income tax liability for 1943.

DECEDENT'S TAX RETURN.

When must an income tax return be filed for a person who dies?—D. Q.

Answer: The return must be filed by the 15th day of the third month after death. For example, if death occurred at any time in August, the return would be due by Nov. 15.

MOVES TO SEND IDLE SILVER TO WAR INDUSTRIES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13 (AP).—The WPB today moved to get idle stocks of silver into war industries by asking inventory reports from about 1,400 manufacturers whose stocks of "foreign silver" had been rendered idle by WPB restrictions.

Included as "foreign silver" was metal produced in United States mines prior to July 1, 1939, and scrap resulting from the processing of silver mined since that date.

Owners wil be asked to sell their idle inventories to authorized purchasers. Most critical uses of silver in war industries include aircraft engine bearings, photographic chemicals, solders, and electrical contacts.

RETAILER SALES 6 TO 9 PER CENT ABOVE YEAR AGO

New York, Aug. 13 (AP).—Retail activity was at a slightly slower pace this week but sales remained 6 to 9 per cent above a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

Summer closeout sales received good response. Apparel promotions were centered on college shops with blouses, skirts, and jumpers popular. Cloth and fur coats sold well. The between season lull affected volume in men's apparel.

August furniture promotions received small response because of limited assortments. Steady volume was reported by retail grocers.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

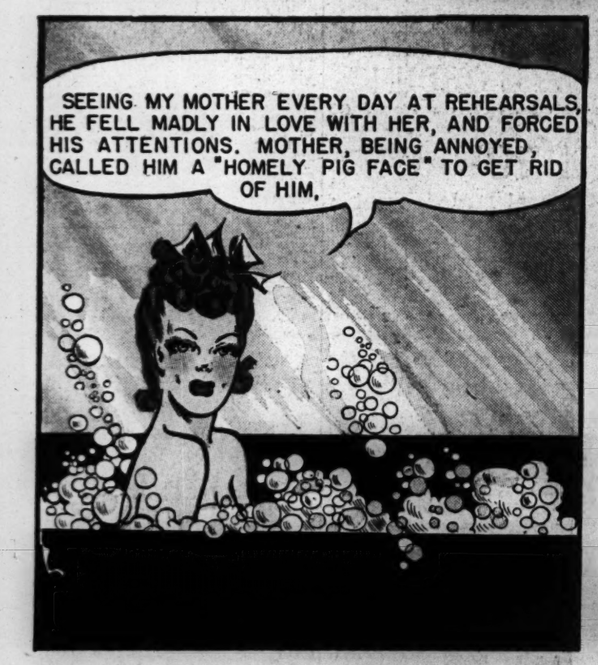
BRENDA STARR REPORTER

By Dale Messick

BRENDA, IS IT TRUE THAT TED JULIAN CONFESSED HE KILLED YOUR MOTHER?
YES, I JUST FINISHED THE STORY. IT WILL BE IN THE FLASH TO-MORROW.

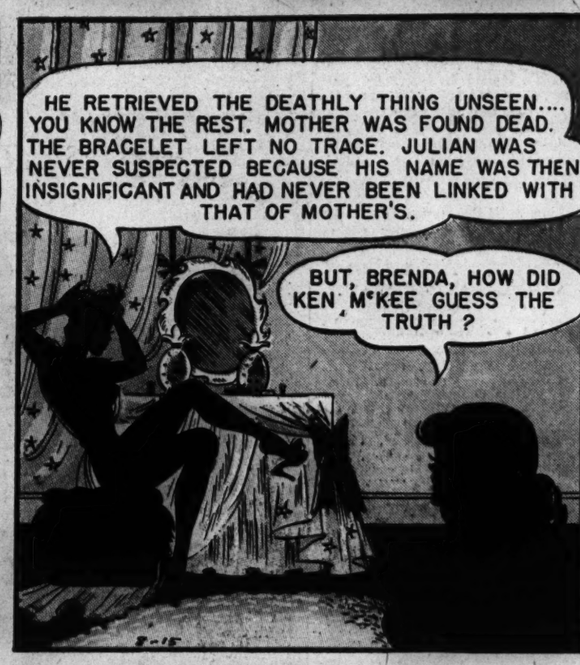
GEE, SOME SCOOP! TELL ME. WHERE DID JULIAN GET THAT BLAMED BRACELET?
TWENTY YEARS AGO, HE WAS AN UNKNOWN....JUST A STAGE-HAND AT THE THEATRE AND....

HE ALSO HAD A PART TIME JOB AT THE ONYX MUSEUM. JULIAN WAS CLEVER AND AMBITIOUS. HE FAKED A ROBBERY TO GET THE BRACELET AND OTHER VALUABLES.



SEEING MY MOTHER EVERY DAY AT REHEARSALS, HE FELL MADLY IN LOVE WITH HER, AND FORCED HIS ATTENTIONS. MOTHER, BEING ANNOYED, CALLED HIM A "HOMELY PIG FACE" TO GET RID OF HIM.

CRUSHED AND HUMILIATED, JULIAN DECIDED THAT, IF HE COULDN'T HAVE HER, NO ONE COULD. SO, OPENING NIGHT, SHE RECEIVED THE GREEN DEATH BRACELET WITH A NOTE THAT, IF SHE WORE IT ONE HOUR BEFORE THE FIRST CURTAIN CALL, THE PLAY WOULD BE A SMASH HIT.



HE RETRIEVED THE DEATHLY THING UNSEEN.... YOU KNOW THE REST. MOTHER WAS FOUND DEAD. THE BRACELET LEFT NO TRACE. JULIAN WAS NEVER SUSPECTED BECAUSE HIS NAME WAS THEN INSIGNIFICANT AND HAD NEVER BEEN LINKED WITH THAT OF MOTHER'S.
BUT, BRENDA, HOW DID KEN McKEE GUESS THE TRUTH?

KEN DIDN'T GUESS THE TRUTH...HE JUST HIT ON THE IDEA THAT HIS SISTER, FUDGE, HAUNT THE THEATRE AS MY MOTHER'S GHOST. THIS WAS TO FRIGHTEN THE CAST AWAY FROM THE PLAY JULIAN HAD STOLEN FROM KEN, AND THUS PREVENT THE SHOW FROM OPENING.

NATURALLY, JULIAN THOUGHT KEN KNEW HIS SECRET. SO, WITH HIS INFLUENCE, HE HAD KEN PUT BACK IN THE MAYFAIR SANITARIUM. KEN HAD BEEN THERE SEVERAL YEARS AGO, BUT ONLY FOR A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN....

MRS. PAULINE DILLON
6 EAST ELM STREET

Floral arrangement of Pinnochio roses by one of Chicago's leading florists, Fred S. Fredericks. Presented by Dean Milk Co. to Mrs. Pauline Dillon in acknowledgement of her voluntary testimony published in this advertisement.

"My Daughters say: Oh, Mother, Dean's is so Good!'"

That's what Mrs. Pauline Dillon told us in a recent interview. "We tried 5 or 6 other brands of milk," Mrs. Dillon continued, "but none compared with Dean's. The fresher flavor and creamier character of Dean's sum up to what you might call a greater milk satisfaction. The other milks to which we gave a trial do not match Dean's for complete enjoyment.

"As one of the pioneer users of Dean's Milk, I further wish to say that I have followed the courageous fight the Dean organization has made to make the paper bottle available to Chicago housewives. And I admire and appreciate the undaunted effort. The paper bottle is a true help for so many of us women. I like the idea of a bottle being used only once. It seems more personal. And, of course, it is easier to carry, takes less room in the refrigerator and does away with the bothersome bottle-washing task."

Try Dean's to-day and know the glorious goodness of milk bottled in the country with all the cream left in.
